like Andrew Solomon's Noonday Demon Sarah Hepola's Blackout and Daniel Smith's Monkey Mind comes a gorgeously immersive immediately relatable and brilliantly funny memoir about living life on the razor's edge of panic. The world never made any sense to Amanda Stern; how could she trust time to keep flowing, the sun to rise, gravity to hold her feet to the ground, or even her own body to work the way it was supposed to? Deep down, she knows that there's something horribly wrong with her, some defect that her siblings and friends don't have to cope with. Growing up in the 1970s and 80s in New York, Amanda experiences the magic and madness of life through the filter of unrelenting panic. Plagued with fear that her friends and family will be taken from her if she's not watching that her mother will die or forget she has children and just move away, Amanda treats every parting as her last. Shuttled between a barefoot bohemian life with her mother in Greenwich Village and a sanitized stricter world of affluence uptown with her father, Amanda has little she can depend on. And when Etan Patz disappears down the block from their MacDougal Street home, she can't help but believe that all her worst fears are about to come true. Tenderly delivered and expertly structured, Amanda Stern's memoir is a document of the transformation of New York City and a deep personal and comedic account of the trials and errors of seeing life through a very unusual lens. Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 1998

Faherty, 2020-10-15. The one thing for which this century will be remembered 500 years from now was this: the century when we began the exploration of space. Arthur M. Schlesinger, Tributes to Moonport: A History of Apollo Launch Facilities and Operations. A thorough account of the complex scientific, engineering, and managerial efforts that undergirded the astounding events that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration carried out. Journal of American History. Another simply superb NASA official history. Construction, administration, and technology are carefully interwoven in an unusually candid and frank treatment of the history of America's first lunar launching facility. Aerospace Historian Moon Launch re-creates the exciting story of the astronauts and engineers, scientists and technicians, politicians and public citizens who expanded the world's understanding of humanity's potential, the people responsible for the Project Apollo flights to the moon. Through their teamwork at the Kennedy Space Center, Cape Canaveral became the spaceport for the nation and in the mind of many, the gateway to the universe. A companion to Gateway to the Moon and also part of the 1978 NASA History Series Moonport volume, this illustrated book describes the seven missions to the moon launched between 1969 and 1972. With the exception of the abortive Apollo 13 flight all landed successfully As the story progresses astronauts explore the moon's surface in the lunar rover complete with bucket seats and power steering set up experiments and bring back hundreds of pounds of lunar geological samples The book concludes with a description of the last and most spectacular liftoff Apollo 17 launched on a dark December night before a crowd of nearly 500 000 visitors Charles D Benson a retired colonel of the U S Army is the coauthor of the official history of the Skylab orbital workshop William B Faherty director of the Museum of the Western Jesuit Missions in Hazelwood Missouri retired professor of history at St Louis University and archivist emeritus of the Midwest Jesuit Archives is the author of 25 books including the historical novel The Call of Pope Octavian SPIN

The Digital Age and Its Discontents Matteo Stocchetti, 2020-08-11 Three decades into the digital age the promises of emancipation of the digital revolution in education are still unfulfilled Furthermore digitalization seems to generate new and unexpected challenges for example the unwarranted influence of digital monopolies the radicalization of political communication and the facilitation of mass surveillance to name a few This volume is a study of the downsides of digitalization and the re organization of the social world that seems to be associated with it In a critical perspective technological development is not a natural but a social process not autonomous from but very much dependent upon the interplay of forces and institutions in society While influential forces seek to establish the idea that the practices of formal education should conform to technological change here we support the view that education can challenge the capitalist appropriation of digital technology and therefore the nature and direction of change associated with it This volume offers its readers intellectual prerequisites for critical engagement It addresses themes such as Facebook s response to its democratic discontents the pedagogical implications of algorithmic knowledge and quantified self as well as the impact of digitalization on academic profession Finally the book offers some elements to develop a vision of the role of education what should be done in education to address the concerns that new communication technologies seem to pose more risks than opportunities for freedom and democracy
