Franklin, 1983 The New German Cinema John Sandford, 1982-08-21 Examining the New German Cinema as a whole Sandford provides a film by film study of seven directors locating their achievements within a frame of developments in television drama documentaries and the political history of contemporary Germany itself He also surveys the thematic concerns that dominate or are notably absent from these films From publisher description Women and the New German Cinema Julia Knight, 1992-06-17 There were virtually no women film directors in Germany until the 1970s today there are proportionally more than in any other film making country<sup>6</sup> and their work has been extremely influential Directors like Margarethe von Trotta Helma Sanders Brahm Ulrike Ottinger and Helke Sander have made a huge contribution to feminist film culture but until now critical consideration of New German Cinema in Britain and the United States has focused almost exclusively on male directors such as Rainer Werner Fassbinder and Wim Wenders In Women and the New German Cinema Julia Knight examines how restrictive social economic and institutional conditions have compounded the neglect of the new women directors Rejecting the traditional auteur approach she explores the principal characteristics of women's film making in the 1970s and 1980s in particular the role of the women's movement the concern with the notion of a feminine aesthetic women's entry into the mainstream and the emergence of a so called post feminist cinema This timely and comprehensive study will be essential reading for everyone concerned with contemporary cinema and feminism New German Film Timothy Corrigan, 1983 The New German Cinema Caryl Flinn, 2004-02-09 This study of New German cinema identifies different styles of historical remembrance in which music participates Deterritorializing the New German Cinema John E. Reimer, Carol J. Reimer, 2010-04-01 German film is diverse and multi faceted its history includes five distinct German governments Wilhelmine Germany the Weimar Republic the Third Reich the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic two national industries Germany and Austria and a myriad of styles and production methods Paradoxically the political disruptions that have produced these distinct film eras as well as the natural inclination of artists to rebel and create new styles allow for the construction of a narrative of German film. While the disjuncture generates distinct points of separation, it also highlights continuities between the ruptures. Outlining the richness of German film, The A to Z of German Cinema covers mainstream, alternative, and experimental film from 1895 to the present through a chronology, introductory essay, appendix of the 100 most significant German films, a bibliography, and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on directors, actors, films, cinematographers, composers, producers, and major historical events that greatly affected the direction and development of German cinema. The book's broad canvas will lead students and scholars of cinema to appreciate the complex nature of German film.

West German Filmmakers on Film Eric Rentschler, 1988

This collection by West German film directors provides a dramatic and comprehensive overview of the New German Cinema and its history, which since the 1960s has been marked by crisis and confrontation. Battling against political and aesthetic constraints, the filmmakers represented here demand that film not be a narrow-defined means of escape or distraction, nor a diminishing of historical events or memory, and not a reduction of human and artistic experience. No serious observer of new German film can ignore the obstinate, defiant, and utopian visions reflected in this unique collection, the first of its kind to appear in any language.

Filmmakers on Film, 2023-08-24

This book bridges the gap between film theory and filmmakers' thoughts and poetics and proposes a new way to address and elaborate film theory. It brings together primary sources by filmmakers themselves, drawing on their films, interviews, books, texts, and manifestos. Divided into three parts, the book covers the main aspects of this approach. Part one discusses the concepts of author and filmmaker. Part two evaluates the creative processes of a broad range of filmmakers, including Victor Gaviria (Colombia), Kleber Mendonça Filho (Brazil), Jean-Luc Godard (France), Agnès Varda (France), Abbas Kiarostami (Iran), Pa. Ranjith (India), Andy Warhol (USA), Maya Deren (Ukraine, USA), and Nuri Bilge Ceylan (Turkey). The final part examines filmmakers' various techniques, particularly the use of multi-images after dialectical images and the use of sound as a sensorial and narrative tool. This curated selection of writings, with contributors from a range of countries including the USA, UK, India, China, Portugal, Brazil, Belgium, and New Zealand, reflects the global perspective of this new approach. The volume also discusses the ways in which filmmakers influence each other, the spectator as seen by filmmakers, and ways to critically address a filmography that takes into account filmmakers other than the director.

Television, Tabloids, and Tears Jane Shattuc, 1995 I am Biberkopf Rainer Werner Fassbinder declared aligning himself with the protagonist of his widely seen television adaptation of Berlin Alexanderplatz The statement provoked an unprecedented national debate about what constituted an acceptable German artist and who has the power to determine art More than any recent German director Fassbinder embodied this debate and Jane Shattuc shows us how much this can tell us not just about the man and his work but also about the state of culture in Germany It is fascinating in itself that Fassbinder a highly controversial public figure
