New Life For The College Curriculum:

New Life for the College Curriculum Jerry G. Gaff, 1991-11-06 Gaff's central thesis that curricular change is a necessary but not sufficient condition for lasting general education reform should be tacked on the door of every faculty committee that ever set out to improve undergraduate education Russell Edgerton President American Association for Higher Education

New Life for Historically Black Colleges and Universities Vann R. Newkirk, 2014-01-10 In December 2008 Georgia state senator Seth Harp ignited controversy when he proposed merging two historically Black colleges with nearby predominantly white colleges to save money Less than a year later Mississippi governor Haley Barbour sought to unite Mississippi's three predominantly Black colleges These efforts kindled renewed interest in historically Black colleges and universities HBCUs across the nation and the globe In this study HBCU officials and faculty attempt to identify the challenges that HBCUs face explore the historic origin of HBCU management systems and identify models of success that will improve the long term viability of the HBCU By analyzing HBCUs within a larger framework of American higher education and the cultural context in which HBCUs operate these essays introduce a new paradigm in the quest to ensure that HBCUs continue to play an important role in the education of Americans of all races

From New Mills to New Life Joshua Spencer, 2009-10-28 In this scintillating heart wrenching and tear eliciting autobiography From New Mills to New Life Joshua Spencer shares his extraordinary experiences from birth to his fiftieth year It starts in Albion Montego Bay where the author was born but where he spent the least of his life of half of a century It then extends to several other areas of his native land but finds as its pivot a small impoverished district known as New Mills where he spent much time in a little shamble he called home with his grandmother A home that lacked the basic facilities and necessities such as electricity and water From New Mills to New Life radiates back and forth to its pivot but in an orderly sequential fashion until it culminates in Canada It exposes all the challenges and successes that the author experiences in both jurisdictions including family challenges being on the verge of bankruptcy and so on It describes quite liberally his weaknesses and his strengths those challenges he conquers and those he approaches optimistically in the future You will cry intermittently laugh regularly and even get deeply saddened sporadically as you share in this masterpiece From New Mills to New Life

The University in a Corporate Culture Eric Gould, 2003-01-01 Over the past century higher education in the United States has developed an increasingly powerful corporate ethos as institutions compete for students faculty and funding This book examines how the liberal democratic principles driving higher education often conflict with market pressures to credential students and offer knowledge that has a clear exchange value Eric Gould who has been both academician and college administrator argues that the failure to structure the curriculum so that it integrates responsible social idealism and humanism with economic and cultural needs constitutes the moral crisis of the university Gould analyzes the economics and politics of higher education showing how student consumerism culture wars faculty alienation trustee activism and a split between the concepts of culture and society have all resulted from the unholy alliance between pragmatism corporatism and liberalism in higher education He asserts that what is needed is a general education for undergraduates that promotes the ability to critique power relations including those within higher education so that students can understand how social forces and their embodiment of ideas ideologies and claims for truth shape contemporary public philosophy The New Life Jeremy Varon,2014-06-01 Jewish Displaced Persons DPs survived in concentration and death camps in hiding and as exiles in the Soviet interior After liberation in the land of their persecutors some also attended university to fulfill dreams of becoming doctors engineers and professionals In The New Life Jewish Students of Postwar Germany Jeremy Varon tells the improbable story of the nearly eight hundred young Jews mostly from Poland and orphaned by the Holocaust who studied in universities in the American Zone of Occupied Germany Drawing on interviews he conducted with the Jewish alumni in the United States and Israel and the records of their Student Union Varon reconstructs how the students built a sense of purpose and a positive vision of the future even as the wounds of the past persisted Varon explores the keys to students renewal including education itself the bond they enjoyed with one another as a substitute family and their efforts both to reconnect with old passions and to revive a near vanquished European Jewish intelligentsia The New Life also explores the relationship between Jews and Germans in occupied Germany Varon shows how mutual suspicion and resentment dominated interactions between the groups and explores the subtle ways anti-Semitism expressed itself just after the war Moments of empathy also emerge in which Germans began to reckon with the Nazi past Finally The New Life documents conflicts among Jews as they struggled to chart a collective future while nationalists both from Palestine and among DPs insisted that Zionism needed pioneers not scholars and tried to force the students to quit their studies Rigorously researched and passionately written The New Life speaks to scholars students and general readers with interest in the Holocaust Jewish and German history the study of trauma and the experiences of refugees displaced by war and genocide With liberation nearly seventy years in the past it is also among the very last studies based on living contact with Holocaust survivors Annual Report of the New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell University & the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station New York State College of Agriculture,1910 Higher Education in the United States James J. F. Forest,Kevin Kinser,2002-06-21 Surveys the changing landscape of American higher education from academic freedom to virtual universities from campus crime to Pell Grants from the Student Privacy Act to student diversity In the years following World War II college and university enrollment doubled students revolted faculty unionized and community colleges evolved Tuition and technology soared as did the number of first generation minority and women students These changes radically transformed the American system of postsecondary education Today that system is in trouble Its aging professoriate prepares for retirement but low academic salaries can no longer attract the best minds to replace them A flood of corporate dollars funds commercial research but money for basic research the seedbed of American scientific preeminence has dried up Colleges and universities also face heated competition with for profit education providers for students faculty and external financial support along with the costs of providing remedial education to growing numbers of students who are unprepared for postsecondary education Higher Education in the United States provides a comprehensive analysis of these issues and others that scholars and practitioners of higher education study discuss and grapple with on a daily basis Critical Teaching and Everyday Life Ira Shor, 1987-04-15 In this unique book on education Shor develops teaching theory side by side with a political analysis of schooling Drawing on the work of Paulo Freire he offers the first practical and theoretical guide to Freirean methods for American classrooms Central to his method is a commitment to learning through dialogue and to exploring themes from everyday life He poses alienation and mass culture as key obstacles to learning and establishes critical literacy as a foundation for studying any subject The Chautauquan , 1885 The Writing Program Administrator's Resource Stuart C. Brown, Theresa Jarnagi Enos, 2005-04-11 The role of the writing program administrator is one of diverse activities and challenges and preparation for the position has traditionally come through performing the job itself As a result uninitiated WPAs often find themselves struggling to manage the various requirements and demands of the position and even experienced WPAs often encounter situations on which they need advice The Writing Program Administrator's Resource has been developed to address the needs of all WPAs regardless of background or experience It provides practical applicable tools to effectively address the differing and sometimes competing roles in which WPAs find themselves Readers will find an invaluable collection of articles in this volume addressing fundamental practices and issues encountered by WPAs in their workplace settings and focusing on the hows and whys of writing program administration With formal preparation and training only now beginning to catch up to the very real needs of the WPA this volume offers guidance and support from authoritative and experienced sources educators who have established the definitions and standards of the position who have run into obstacles and surmounted them and who have not just survived but thrived in their roles as WPAs Editors Stuart C Brown and Theresa Enos contribute their own experience and bring together the voices of their colleagues to delineate the intellectual scope and practices of writing program administration as an emerging discipline Established and esteemed leaders in the field offer insights advice and plans of action for the myriad scenarios encountered in the position encouraging WPAs and helping them to realize that they often know more than they think they do This resource is required reading for the new WPA and an essential reference for all who serve in the WPA role As a guidebook for WPAs it is destined to become a fixture on the desk of every educator involved with or interested in administrating writing programs writing centers and writing across the curriculum efforts
