New European Automobile Industry:

The New European Automobile Industry Michael Rawlinson, Peter Wells, 2016-07-27 The New European Automobile Industry is about the struggle for survival going on among the assembler and components firms which constitute the European automobile industry It describes and explains the competitive structural organisational and technological changes currently sweeping the industry and outlines the spatial and economic effects of those changes The empirical core of the book is a study of a number of technology fields in automobile components These sections draw on the latest research carried out by the authors in Europe through which they evaluate the extent to which lean production techniques have permeated the vehicle assemblers and components industry

Towards a New Map of Automobile Manufacturing in Europe? Ray Hudson, Eike W. Schamp, 2012-12-06 This book is the product of four years of collaborative work within the framework of the European Science Foundation's Regional and Urban Restructuring in Europe RURE programme With one exception all of the chapters have been prepared by participants in RURE the exception being that commissioned from Conti and Enrietti on Fiat and Italy to provide a fuller coverage of changes in the main automobile producing companies and countries of Europe A perhaps the central theme around which the RURE programme was conceived is that the restructuring of the production system lies at the heart of the changing map of Europe Equally it continues to be the case that the automobile industry lies at the cutting edge of the search for viable new models of production Some eighty years ago the automobile industry occupied a pivotal position in the transition from craft to mass production indeed Fordism came to denote not just a particular micro economic model of production organisation in the factory but a macro scale model of economic development characterized by a particular pattern of relations between mass production mass consumption and national state regulation From the late 1960s however it became increasingly clear that Fordism as a macro scale model of advanced capitalist development was reaching its limits

The European Automobile Industry William A. Maloney, Andrew McLaughlin, 2005-07-08 This book presents an analysis of some of the changes that have transformed the automobile industry in the last thirty years illustrating some of the most significant consequences of globalization Focusing on the response of Europe's policy makers it analyzes government industry relations at both national and transnational levels demonstrating how national policy instruments have been eroded by regional political and economic integration There has been a significant and irreversible shift in the locus of decision making power from nation states to the regional level in the automobile sector

The New European Automobile Industry Dr. Peter Wells, Michael Rawlinson, 1994 This book is about the struggle for survival going on among the assembler and components firms which constitute the European automobile industry It describes and explains the competitive structural organisational and technological changes currently sweeping the industry and outlines the spatial and economic effects of those changes

Europe's Automotive Industry on the Move Oliver Heneric, Georg Licht, Wolfgang Sofka, 2006-03-30 The automotive industry is a major pillar of the modern global economy and one of Europe's key industries

There can hardly be any doubt about the important role of this sector as an engine for employment growth and innovation in Europe and there are crucial challenges and opportunities ahead. The authors shed light on a broad range of issues: globalisation and restructuring, trade and foreign direct investment, innovation, regulation and industry policy, and put a special focus on the new member states. While change may be inevitable, progress is not. This book shall serve as a map to all stakeholders: business executives and policy makers, investors and scholars.

The European Automobile Industry James Michael Laux, 1992. Laux carefully examines how European factory owners emulated American success in production and sales between the wars, how the postwar market boom chipped away at American dominance of the industry, and how Japanese models in turn began to cut into the world market in the competitive 1980s. In this incisive overview, Laux determines that Europe's most successful automaking firms were generally those which identified a market and offered this market a product at a reasonable price.

The Automotive Industry and European Integration A. J. Jacobs, 2019-08-07. This book chronicles the divergent growth trends in car production in Belgium and Spain. It delves into how European integration, high wages, and the demise of GM and Ford led to plant closings in Belgium. Next, it investigates how lower wages and the expansion strategies of Western European automakers stimulated expansion in the Spanish auto industry. Finally, it offers three alternate scenarios regarding how further EU expansion and Brexit may potentially reshape the geographic footprint of European car production over the next ten years. In sum, this book utilizes history to help expand the knowledge of scholars and policymakers regarding how European integration and Brexit may impact future auto industry investment for all EU nations.

EU Industrial Policy in the Multipolar Economy Defraigne, Jean-Christophe, Wouters, Jan, Traversa, Edoardo, Zurstrassen, Dimitri, 2022-10-14. This incisive book provides key interdisciplinary perspectives on the current challenges faced by EU policymakers in framing and implementing a coherent European industrial policy, employing specific case studies from the digital, automotive, steel, and defence industries, as well as concrete examples of EU policies.

Automobile Industry Leon R. Domansky, 2006. Like it or not, the automobile industry is now and will remain an overwhelming factor in the lives of most people: if not an owner and driver, then as a pedestrian or a breather of air which is being polluted by the gas-guzzling and vile air-belching monsters created for our individual hedonistic pleasure. This book presents issues of current interest to those who cannot ignore their presence.

The Impacts of Automotive Plant Closure Andrew Beer, Holli Evans, 2013-09-13. Economic restructuring has been a notable feature of so-called mature industrial economies such as the UK and Australia in the last two decades, with deregulation, privatisation, technological change, and globalisation combining to reshape such economies. Some industries have grown while others have declined. Moreover, while overall employment in the UK and Australia has grown, many newly created positions require skills not found in the industries shedding labour or are in casualised and low-paid occupations. Many lesser-skilled workers leaving declining industries are therefore at risk of long-term unemployment or leaving the workforce entirely. Both mental and physical health can be affected after redundancy It is therefore crucial that the measures put in place in many domains of social policy such as formal health policy employment assistance community development housing assistance and so on to adequately address the difficulties confronting this group This volume takes a closer look at the impact of manufacturing notably automotive plant closures in the UK Birmingham and Australia Adelaide in recent years and policy responses to those closures It attempts to tease out differences in policy response and effectiveness and attempts to identify areas where policy could be made to work better in terms of adjusting to large scale manufacturing change and resulting job losses In so doing it begins for the first time we believe to take a comparative approach to understanding the impact of plant closures and policy responses This book was published as a special issue of Policy Studies Handbook of Industry Studies and Economic Geography Frank Giarratani, Geoffrey J. D. Hewings, Philip McCann, 2013-12-27 This unique Handbook examines the impacts on and responses to economic geography explicitly from the perspective of the behaviour mechanics systems and experiences of different firms in various types of industries The industry studies approach all Political and Economic Change in the Automobile Industry Claudio Cosentino, 2009-10-20 Inhaltsangabe Definition of problem This paper deals with the future strategic orientation of manufacturers of luxury cars The sociological political ecological technological and economic environmental factors and their influence on corporate orientation will be highlighted and analysed This fundamental problem for car niche brands is investigated through the example of Maserati an upmarket brand which has become like no other both a trendsetter and a victim of the expectations of its patrons and customers and is now struggling for market shares together with its parent company This paper will initially highlight influencing factors and also the need for efficiency in manufacture and production as well as the new tasks and challenges arising from legislation Macroeconomic factors such as the shrinking purchasing power in developed countries like the U S due to inflation and stagflation worries which result from the daily rise in raw material prices exert just as great an influence on car sales figures as the growing number of super rich in Third World countries The question concerning the shift of target markets arises Do the raw materials inhibit sales for these products Or is the clientele immune What innovations are demanded and are they compatible with the attributes associated with super sports cars and luxury cars Ferrari Maserati Lamborghini and even Aston Martin are manufacturers who boast that they make cars with horrendous power ratings fuel consumption and emission levels Their customers love the sound of the engines comparable as they are with aircraft engines They produce engines with eight ten or even twelve cylinders epitomising power but at the same time are more suitable for the race track than for the road if one compares their figures with those of classic mass market cars The customers rate performance and sound higher than fuel consumption per litre and environmental awareness These are geared to basic male instincts Beauty of form brute force and eroticism are mostly described in terms of beautiful women or sins or mythological mental attributes The marketing is concerned with lifestyle passion and the child in people the Freudian id A man simply wants to own these mighty projectiles forget common sense The

Foreign Direct Investment and Regional Development in East Central Europe and the Former Soviet Union David Turnock, 2017-11-28 With the achievement of further EU and NATO enlargement, a critical political and economic lens is now focused on East Central Europe and to a lesser extent the other former communist states. Economic growth in each transition state and more broadly the region pivots around the prospects for foreign direct investment (FDI) with decisions on where foreign investors will locate their projects now vitally important. This book, the first one devoted to a geographical survey concentrating specifically on FDI in the region, brings together a wide range of prominent authors from the US and Europe including the late Frank Carter to provide a timely and critical examination of the importance of foreign investment. It presents a detailed analysis of location patterns and their significance for regional development with particular emphasis given to the important socioeconomic and political consequences of uneven distribution of FDI across the region and its constituent countries. Divided into two parts, the book first deals with general overarching themes and issues before applying these to more specific country case studies. The second part deals with regional studies focusing broadly on the Western Balkans and Bulgaria before looking at specific economic sectors in individual countries.

The History of the European Union Wolfram Kaiser, Brigitte Leucht, Morten Rasmussen, 2008-09-05 This book radically re-conceptualises the origins of the European Union as a trans- and supranational polity as it emerged between the Schuman Plan of May 1950 and the first enlargement of the European Communities at the start of 1973. Drawing upon social science theories and debates as well as recent historical research, Wolfram Kaiser and Morten Rasmussen in their introductory chapters discuss innovative ways of narrating the history of the EU as the emergence of a transnational political society and supranational political system. Building on these insights, eight chapters based on multilateral and multi-archival research follow, each with case studies of transnational networks, public sphere, and institutional cultures and policy making which illustrate systematically related aspects of the early history of the EU. In the concluding chapter, leading political scientist Alex Warleigh Lack demonstrates how greater interdisciplinary cooperation, especially between contemporary history and political studies, can significantly advance our knowledge of the EU as a complex polity. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Politics, European Studies, and History.
