Reinventing Development Lord Mawuko-Yevugah, 2016-04-08

Global development actors such as the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund claim that the shift to the poverty reduction strategy framework and emphasis on local participation address the social cost of earlier adjustment programs and help put aid receiving countries back in control of their own development agenda Drawing on the case of Ghana Lord Mawuko Yevugah argues that this shift and the emphasis on partnerships between donors and poor countries local participation and country ownership simultaneously represents a substantive departure from earlier versions of neo liberalism and an attempt by global development actors and local governing and social elites to justify and legitimize the neo liberal policy paradigm This book shows how the new architecture of aid has important implications in three distinct but related ways the discursive construction and production of post colonial societies the changing focus of Western aid and development policy interventions and the reproduction of the politics of inclusive exclusion The author provides detailed and original research on the new development paradigm and develops a critical theoretical approach to re think conventional analyses of the new discourses on aid whilst offering a fresh alternative interpretation of changes in international aid relations Finance & Development, December 2000 International Monetary Fund. External Relations Dept., 2000-01-01

This paper describes the need to broaden the agenda for poverty reduction The broadening of the agenda follows from a growing understanding that poverty is more than low income a lack of education and poor health The poor are frequently powerless to influence the social and economic factors that determine their well being The paper highlights that a broader definition of poverty requires a broader set of actions to fight it and increases the challenge of measuring poverty and comparing achievement across countries and over time
