The New Penguin World Atlas Oxford University Press, 1979 The Penguin Atlas of the World Penguin books, 1987-01-01 The Penguin World Atlas Oxford University Press, 1974 A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps Tim Bryars, Tom Harper, 2014-12-10 The twentieth century was a golden age of mapmaking an era of cartographic boom Maps proliferated and permeated almost every aspect of daily life not only chronicling geography and history but also charting and conveying myriad political and social agendas Here Tim Bryars and Tom Harper select one hundred maps from the millions printed drawn or otherwise constructed during the twentieth century and recount through them a narrative of the century s key events and developments As Bryars and Harper reveal maps make ideal narrators and the maps in this book tell the story of the 1900s which saw two world wars the Great Depression the Swinging Sixties the Cold War feminism leisure and the Internet Several of the maps have already gained recognition for their historical significance for example Harry Beck s iconic London Underground map but the majority of maps on these pages have rarely if ever been seen in print since they first appeared There are maps that were printed on handkerchiefs and on the endpapers of books maps that were used in advertising or propaganda maps that were strictly official and those that were entirely commercial maps that were printed by the thousand and highly specialist maps issued in editions of just a few dozen maps that were envisaged as permanent keepsakes of major events and maps that were relevant for a matter of hours or days As much a pleasure to view as it is to read A History of the Twentieth Century in 100 Maps celebrates the visual variety of twentieth century maps and the hilarious shocking or poignant narratives of the individuals and institutions caught up in their production and use The Golden Age of Data Visualization Kim Marriott, 2024-09-04 We are living in the Golden Age of Data Visualization The COVID 19 pandemic has demonstrated how we increasingly use data visualizations to make sense of the world Business analysts fill their presentations with charts journalists use infographics to engage their readers we rely on the dials and gauges on our household appliances and we use mapping apps on our smartphones to find our way This book explains how and why this has happened It details the evolution of information graphics the kinds of graphics at the core of data visualization maps diagrams charts scientific and medical images from prehistory to the present day It explains how the cultural context production and presentation technologies and data availability have shaped the history of data visualization It considers the perceptual and cognitive reasons why data visualization is so effective and explores the little known world of tactile graphics raised line drawings used by people who are blind The book also investigates the way visualization has shaped our modern world The European Renaissance and the Scientific Revolution relied on maps and technical and scientific drawings and graphics influence how we think about abstract concepts like time and social connection This book is written for data visualization researchers and professionals and anyone interested in data visualization and the way we use graphics to understand and think about the world

The West & the Map of the World Matthew Richardson, 2010 Inspired by antique maps and the mapmakers global vision this book presents the past as a single narrative in which European history is an offshoot of Asian history The author explains that the dominating ethos of the modern West owes more to hordes of Asian nomads who colonised Europe than to the classical civilisation of the Greeks and Romans

A History of the Railroad in 100 Maps Jeremy Black, 2024-11-25 The first international history of railroads and railroad infrastructure told through stunningly reproduced maps Since their origins in eighteenth century England railroads have spread across the globe changing everything in their path from where and how people grew and made things to where and how they lived and moved Railroads rewrote not only world geography but also the history of maps and mapping Today the needs of train companies and their users continue to shape the maps we consume and consult Featuring full color maps primarily from the British Library's distinguished collection many of them never before published A History of the Railroad in 100 Maps is the first international history of railroads and railroad infrastructure told through maps Jeremy Black includes examples from six continents spanning a variety of uses from railroad planning and operations to guides for passengers shippers and tourists Arranged chronologically the maps are accompanied by explanatory text that sheds light on the political military and urban development histories associated with the spread of railroads A final chapter considers railroad maps from games books and other cultural artifacts For anyone interested in the history of railroads or maps A History of the Railroad in 100 Maps will offer new and unexpected insights into their intertwined global history

Student Map: the World Struik Publishers, Designing Information Joel Katz, 2012-08-20 The book itself is a diagram of clarification containing hundreds of examples of work by those who favor the communication of information over style and academic postulation and those who don't Many blurbs such as this are written without a thorough reading of the book Not so in this case I read it and love it I suggest you do the same Richard Saul Wurman This handsome clearly organized book is itself a prime example of the effective presentation of complex visual information eg magazine It is a dream book we were waiting for on the field of information On top of the incredible amount of presented knowledge this is also a beautifully designed piece very easy to follow Krzysztof Lenk author of Mapping Websites Digital Media Design Making complicated information understandable is becoming the crucial task facing designers in the 21st century With Designing Information Joel Katz has created what will surely be an indispensable textbook on the subject Michael Bierut Having had the pleasure of a sneak preview I can only say that this is a magnificent achievement a combination of intelligent text fascinating insights and oh yes graphics

Readers will discover provocative conversations that redefine what it means to work in, at, for, and around Global Asia, not as a settled object of knowledge but as a dynamic praxis of engagement.

A Guide to Spatial History Konrad Lawson, Riccardo Bavaj, Bernhard Struck, 2022-01-07

This guide provides an overview of the thematic areas, analytical aspects, and avenues of research which together form a broader conversation around doing spatial history. Spatial history is not a field with clearly delineated boundaries. For the most part, it lacks a distinct, unambiguous scholarly identity. It can only be thought of in relation to other, typically more established fields. Indeed, one of the most valuable utilities of spatial history is its capacity to facilitate conversations across those fields. Consequently, it must be discussed in relation to a variety of historiographical contexts. Each of these has its own intellectual genealogies, institutional settings, and conceptual path dependencies. With this in mind, this guide surveys the following areas: territoriality, infrastructure, and borders; nature, environment, and landscape; city and home; social space and political protest spaces; knowledge; spatial imaginaries; cartographic representations; and historical GIS research.

Sustaining Seas Elspeth Probyn, Kate Johnston, Nancy Lee, 2020-02-06

Why read Sustaining Seas? It is as simple as this: the seas sustain all life. This edited book emerges from conversations across several disciplines and including practitioners of different specialities: artists, writers, planners, policy makers, about how to sustain the seas as they sustain us. Sustaining Seas Oceanic space and the politics of care aims to build a better understanding of what it means to care for aquatic places and their biocultural communities. The book is truly interdisciplinary and brings together a wide range of authors including academics from diverse fields: architecture, science, cultural studies, law, artists, fisheries managers, and Indigenous Traditional Owners. It provides readers with new theoretical framings as well as grounded case studies with a wide geographical and cultural breadth. This book assumes that understanding complexity, including social, cultural, ecological, and economic interconnections, is crucial to any solution. Sustaining the seas is one of the most pressing global challenges for the planet and all her inhabitants. How to do justice to this challenge is an exigency for all scholars, and how to represent the oceans is a guiding theme in the book that is addressed by scholars, artists, and practitioners.

Virtual Literacies Guy Merchant, 2013

The growth of interest in virtual worlds and other online spaces for children and young people raises important issues for literacy educators and researchers. This book is a timely and much needed collection of current research in the area. It provides a synthesis of knowledge and understanding and will be a key resource for scholars, students, and teachers, particularly those interested in digital literacies. The work presents a coherent vision of current knowledge and some of the most engaging empirical research being undertaken on virtual worlds and online spaces in and beyond educational institutions It contains international studies from the UK North America and Australasia This is an important time for those researching virtual worlds videogaming and Web 2 0 technologies since there is growing professional interest in their significance in the education and development of children and young people Whether these technologies are solely associated with informal learning or whether they should be incorporated into classroom contexts is hotly debated This book provides a principled evaluation and appreciation of the learning teaching and instruction that can occur in digital environments showing children young people and those who work with them as active agents with possibilities to navigate new paths
