Hodder, 2020-03-05 Over recent years a number of scholars have argued that the human mind underwent a cognitive revolution in the Neolithic This volume seeks to test these claims at the Neolithic site of atalh y k in Turkey and in other Neolithic contexts in the Middle East It brings together cognitive scientists who have developed theoretical frameworks for the study of cognitive change archaeologists who have conducted research into cognitive change in the Neolithic of the Middle East and the excavators of the Neolithic site of atalh y k who have over recent years been exploring changes in consciousness creativity and self in the context of the rich data from the site Collectively the authors argue that when detailed data are examined theoretical evolutionary expectations are not found for these three characteristics The Neolithic was a time of long slow and diverse change in which there is little evidence for an internal cognitive revolution

Politis, 2005-08-16 This pioneering and comprehensive survey is the first overview of current themes in Latin American archaeology written solely by academics native to the region and it makes their collected expertise available to an English speaking audience for the first time The contributors cover the most significant issues in the archaeology of Latin America such as the domestication of camelids the emergence of urban society in Mesoamerica the frontier of the Inca empire and the relatively little known archaeology of the Amazon basin This book draws together key areas of research in Latin American archaeological thought into a coherent whole no other volume on this area has ever dealt with such a diverse range of subjects and some of the countries examined have never before been the subject of a regional study Evolutionary and Interpretive Archaeologies Ethan Cochrane, Andrew Gardner, 2016-09-16

This collection of original articles compares various key archaeological topics agency violence social groups diffusion from evolutionary and interpretive perspectives These two strands represent the major current theoretical poles in the discipline

By comparing and contrasting the insights they provide into major archaeological themes this volume demonstrates the importance of theoretical frameworks in archaeological interpretations Chapter authors discuss relevant Darwinian or interpretive theory with short archaeological and anthropological case studies to illustrate the substantive conclusions produced The book will advance debate and contribute to a better understanding of the goals and research strategies that comprise these distinct research traditions
