Goody, 2007-04-12 This book explores the theoretical concerns of recent literary and cultural studies through a reappraisal of three innovative women writers of the modernist period Djuna Barnes Mina Loy and Gertrude Stein In its provocative combination of cultural methodologies it significantly expands on existing aesthetic cartographies of modernism The Many Facades of Edith Sitwell Allan Pero, Gyllian Phillips, 2017-06-13 A fascinating book that takes us deep into Edith Sitwell's world of artifice, disguise, high camp and verbal ingenuity. In these essays Sitwell emerges as a central figure in an alternative avant garde in early twentieth century Britain. Faye Hammill, author of Sophistication: A Literary and Cultural History, establishing Edith Sitwell at the center of British modernism, this volume showcases her many achievements in poetry, autobiography, novel writing, criticism, art and performance. Forgoing the gossip about her eccentric appearance and self-fashioned persona that has too often overshadowed serious writing about her work, the contributors explore how Sitwell combined persona and poetry to foster an outpouring of iconoclastic creativity. The Many Facades of Edith Sitwell argues that Sitwell was crucial to the development of a British avant garde that operated alongside the conventionally accepted transatlantic modernism of Ezra Pound and T. S. Eliot. With Sitwell as an influential literary player and social architect, the British interwar arts scene was not an ascetic escape from personality as the modernism of Pound and Eliot has often been characterized, but an alternative space of flamboyant, extravagant and ornate performance. Allan Pero is associate professor of English at the University of Western Ontario. Gyllian Phillips is associate professor of English studies at Nipissing University. The Cambridge Companion to James Joyce Derek Attridge, 2004-06-17 This second edition of The Cambridge Companion to Joyce contains several revised essays reflecting increasing emphasis on Joyce's politics, a fresh sense of the importance of his engagement with Ireland and the changes wrought by gender studies on criticism of his work. This Companion gathers an international team of leading scholars who shed light on Joyce's work and life. The contributions are informative, stimulating and full of rich and accessible insights which will provoke thought and discussion in and out of the classroom. The Companion's reading lists and extended bibliography offer readers the necessary tools for further informed exploration of Joyce studies. This volume is designed primarily as a student's reference work, although it is organised so that it can also be read from cover to cover and will deepen and extend the enjoyment and understanding of Joyce for the new reader. The Routledge History of Literature in English Ronald Carter, John McRae, 2016-10-04 The Routledge History of Literature in English covers the main developments in the history of British and Irish literature from AD 600 to the present day. Accompanying language notes explore the interrelationships between language and literature, emphasising the growth of literary writing, its traditions, conventions and changing characteristics. Extensive quotations from poetry, prose and drama underpin the narrative. With a new chapter on novels, drama and poetry in the 21st century and an extensive companion website, The Routledge History of Literature in English will be an invaluable reference for any student of English literature and language. The War Complex Marianna Torgovnick, 2008-11-15 The recent dedication of the World War II memorial and the sixtieth anniversary commemoration of D Day remind us of the hold that World War II still has over America's sense of itself. But the selective process of memory has radically shaped our picture of the conflict. Why, else, for instance, was a 1995 Smithsonian exhibition on Hiroshima that was to include photographs of the first atomic bomb victims along with their testimonials considered so controversial And why do we so readily remember the civilian bombings of Britain but not those of Dresden Hamburg and Tokyo Marianna Torgovnick argues that we have lived since the end of World War II under the power of a war complex a set of repressed ideas and impulses that stems from our unresolved attitudes toward the technological acceleration of mass death This complex has led to gaps and hesitations in public discourse about atrocities committed during the war itself And it remains an enduring wartime consciousness one most recently animated on September 11 Showing how different events from World War II became prominent in American cultural memory while others went forgotten or remain hidden in plain sight The War Complex moves deftly from war films and historical works to television specials and popular magazines to define the image and influence of World War II in our time Torgovnick also explores the 1961 trial of Adolf Eichmann the emotional legacy of the Holocaust and the treatment of World War II's missing history by writers such as W G Sebald to reveal the unease we feel at our dependence on those who hold the power of total war Thinking anew then about how we account for war to each other and ourselves Torgovnick ultimately and movingly shows how these anxieties and fears have prepared us to think about September 11 and our current war in Iraq

Literature and Visual Technologies J. Murphet, L. Rainford, 2003-11-05 This is the first major collection of essays specifically to address the impact of visual technologies on the production of literature in the twentieth century Literature and Visual Technologies investigates the manifold effects which a visual century has wrought upon literary conventions From the influence of Mutoscope parlours on Joyce's fiction to the interrelation between Peter Greenaway's A TV Dante the collection consists of an integrated series of high level intellectual engagements with a hundred years of cultural revolution and covers the whole twentieth century from silent to digital film

Hieroglyphic Modernisms Jesse Schotter, 2017-11-22 Explores hieroglyphs as a metaphor for the relationship between new media and writing in British modernism In the British Museum one object attracts more tourists than any other the Rosetta Stone The decipherment of the Stone by Jean-François Champollion and the discovery of King Tutankhamun's tomb in 1922 contributed to creating a worldwide vogue for all things Egyptian This fascination was shared by early twentieth century authors who invoked Egyptian writing to paint a more complicated picture of European interest in non-Western languages Hieroglyphs can be found everywhere in modernist novels and in discussions of silent film appearing at moments when writers and theorists seek to understand the similarities or differences between writing and new recording technologies Hieroglyphic Modernisms explores this conjunction of hieroglyphs and modernist fiction and film revealing how the challenge of new media spurred a fertile interplay among practitioners of old and new media forms Showing how novelists and film theorists in the modernist period defined their respective media in relation to each other the book shifts the focus in modernism from China poetry and the avant-garde to Egypt narrative and film Key Features Argues for the connections among discourses about film phonography digital media and literature in the twentieth century through the recurrent invocations of hieroglyphs Shows how novelists and film theorists in the modernist period defined their respective media in relation to each other Shifts the focus in accounts of visual languages in modernism from China poetry and the avant garde to Egypt narrative and film Establishes a dialogue between Egyptian writers of the 1920s and 30s and canonical British modernists Reading Modern Drama Alan Ackerman, 2012-04-25 Exploring the relationship between dramatic language and its theatrical aspects Reading Modern Drama provides an accessible entry point for general readers and academics into the world of contemporary theatre scholarship This collection promotes the use of diverse perspectives and critical methods to explore the common theme of language as well as the continued relevance of modern drama in our lives Reading Modern Drama offers provocative close readings of both canonical and lesser known plays from Hedda Gabler to e e cummings Him Taken together these essays enter into an ongoing fruitful debate about the terms modern and drama and build a much needed bridge between literary studies and performance studies Virginia Woolf's Bloomsbury, Volume 1 G. Potts, L. Shahriari, 2015-10-14 This volume features new essays by eminent and emerging Woolf scholars focusing on the aesthetics and influences of Virginia Woolf's work Themes include eco criticism conceptions of intellectual women spaces and places and Woolf beyond Bloomsbury The volume opens with a personal reflection by Cecil Woolf nephew of Leonard and Virginia Woolf
