Offspring

A pack of wolves does more than just hunt together. They are a family. The pack is led by a male and female. The rest of the pack helps the parents take care of the pups and sometimes even eat with them.

The female gray wolf gives birth to pups. They usually have 4 to 6 pups. The pups are born blind and helpless. The parents care for them until they are 16 months old. At that age, the pups will leave the pack and go on their own.

Threats and Predators

The biggest threat to the gray wolf is people. Gray wolves are found in many places, but they are often killed or trapped. Hunting and trapping have reduced their population in many areas. What is the best way to help the gray wolf? We can help by protecting their habitat and making sure they are not hunted or trapped.
