Deborah Ellis, 2009-02-01 Through her association with a community anti bullying campaign launched in Haldimand Norfolk and neighboring communities in Southern Ontario children's author Deborah Ellis asked students from the ages of nine to nineteen to talk about their experiences with bullying The results are thoughtful candid and often harrowing accounts of business as usual in and around today's schools The kids in this book raise questions about the way parents teachers and school administrators cope with bullies They talk about which methods have helped and which ones with the best of intentions have failed to protect them And some kids reveal how they have been able to overcome their fear and anger to become strong advocates for the rights of others This is a book for reading and sharing Each interview is followed by questions that will encourage open discussion about the nature of bullying and the ways in which individuals and schools could deal more effectively with bullies and their victims And additional comments from international students reveal how much kids the world over have in common in the way they experience and deal with bullies These kids have something to say It's time we listened When Will We Talk About Hitler? Alexandra Oeser, 2019-08-01 For more than half a century discourses on the Nazi past have powerfully shaped German social and cultural policy Specifically an institutional determination not to forget has expressed a duty of remembrance through commemorative activities and educational curricula But as the horrors of the Third Reich retreat ever further from living memory what do new generations of Germans actually think about this past Combining observation interviews and archival research this book provides a rich survey of the perspectives and experiences of German adolescents from diverse backgrounds revealing the extent to which social economic and cultural factors have conditioned how they view representations of Germany's complex history     How the Pops Stole Christmas Nancy Krulik, 2009 Includes an excerpt from I thought we were friends     TERMS OF INNOCENCE Gerald H Thornhill, 2014-11-11 It is the 1950s A small seaside town in Suffolk England Chris a young boy just entering manhood together with his friend witness a couple making love in a field A girl is later reported missing and the police attend the boys school appealing for help His friend persuades Chris they should not report what they had seen The disappearance develops into a murder investigation and to Chris's distress the police arrest the wrong man The impending break up of his parents marriage and his mother's mental breakdown are the background to Chris's awakening interest in the opposite sex His increasing guilt over the failure to report what he knows to be vital evidence in the murder investigation finally brings about a violent development     Pennsylvania School Journal ,1907     A Matter of Justice Robin A.
