The Future of Crime and Punishment William R. Kelly, 2019-05-20 Today we know that crime is often not just a matter of making bad decisions Rather there are a variety of factors that are implicated in much criminal offending some fairly obvious like poverty mental illness and drug abuse and others less so such as neurocognitive problems Today we have the tools for effective criminal behavioral change but this cannot be an excuse for criminal offending In The Future of Crime and Punishment William R Kelly identifies the need to educate the public on how these tools can be used to most effectively and cost efficiently reduce crime recidivism victimization and cost The justice system of the future needs to be much more collaborative utilizing the expertise of a variety of disciplines such as psychology psychiatry addiction and neuroscience Judges and prosecutors are lawyers not clinicians and as we transition the justice system to a focus on behavioral change the decision making will need to reflect the input of clinical experts The path forward is one characterized largely by change from traditional criminal prosecution and punishment to venues that balance accountability compliance and risk management with behavioral change interventions that address the primary underlying causes for recidivism There are many moving parts to this effort and it is a complex proposition It requires substantial changes to law procedure decision making roles and responsibilities expertise and funding Moreover it requires a radical shift in how we think about crime and punishment Our thinking needs to reflect a perspective that crime is harmful but that much criminal behavior is changeable

Retributivism Has a Past Michael Tonry, 2011-12-12 A collection of essays by major figures in punishment theory law and philosophy that reconsiders the popularity and prospects of retributivism the notion that punishment is morally justified because people have behaved wrongly Alternatives to Prison Anthony Bottoms, Sue Rex, Gwen Robinson, 2013-01-11 As the UK and many other western societies face up to the consequences of a rapidly increasing prison population so the search for alternative approaches to punishment and dealing with offenders has become an increasingly urgent priority for government policy and society as a whole This book reports the results of the research programme commissioned by the Coulsfield Inquiry into Alternatives to Prison which was funded by the Esme Fairbairn Rethinking Crime and Punishment initiative It is written by leading authorities in the field and provides a comprehensive authoritative and wide ranging review of the range of issues associated with the use of noncustodial sanctions examining experiences in Scotland and Northern Ireland as well as England and Wales Reforming Community Penalties Sue Rex, 2013-01-11 This book sets out to explore the role of community penalties in sentencing arguing that the absence of a strong intellectual framework or underpinning has hampered their development in policy and practice The research undertaken for this book involved asking people with a particular stake in criminal justice what the point of punishment was and what the courts were trying to achieve in sentencing offenders It identifies the role of communication as crucial and looks at ways in which communication can be used to make punishment more constructive exploring the role of restorative processes and considering the implications of the custody community provisions in the Criminal Justice Act 2003 Reforming Community Penalties is a major contribution to penological theory and thinking about sentencing and role in criminal justice and will be essential reading for all with a practitioner or academic interest in this subject Its findings are likely to play a key role in aiding the development and practice of community penalties and enabling them to command greater support and to become a genuine alternative to the increasing use of custody in sentencing and punishment Discretion, Discrimination and the Rule of Law Mrinal Satish, 2017 Aims to analyse whether unwarranted disparity existed in rape sentencing in India which anecdotal work of other scholars had pointed to Provided by publisher Confronting Crime Michael Tonry, 2013-10-11 From Labour s
