Worlds Apart? Dunja M. Mohr, 2005-06-15 Literary critics and scholars have written extensively on the demise of the utopian spirit in the modern novel What has often been overlooked is the emergence of a new hybrid subgenre particularly in science fiction and fantasy which incorporates utopian strategies within the dystopian narrative particularly in the feminist dystopias of the 1980s and 1990s The author names this new subgenre transgressive utopian dystopias Suzette Haden Elgin's Native Tongue trilogy Suzy McKee Charnas's Holdfast series and Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale are thoroughly analyzed within the context of this this new subgenre of transgressive utopian dystopias Analysis focuses particularly on how these works cover the interrelated categories of gender race and class along with their relationship to classic literary dualism and the dystopian narrative Without completely dissolving the dualistic order the feminist dystopias studied here contest the notions of unambiguity and authenticity that are generally part of the canon

Literature, Ethics, and Decolonization in Postwar France Daniel Just, 2015-02-09 Against the background of intellectual and political debates in France during the 1950s and 1960s Daniel Just examines literary narratives and works of literary criticism arguing that these texts are more politically engaged than they may initially appear As writings by Roland Barthes Maurice Blanchot Albert Camus and Marguerite Duras show seemingly disengaged literary principles such as blankness minimalism silence and indeterminateness can be deployed to a number of potent political and ethical ends At the time the main focus of this activism was the escalation of violence in colonial Algeria The poetics formulated by these writers suggests that blankness weakness and withdrawal from action are not symptoms of impotence and political escapism in the face of historical events but deliberate literary strategies aimed to neutralize the drive to dominate others that characterized the colonial project

The Concept of Modernism Astradur Eysteinnsson, 2018-07-05 The term modernism is central to any discussion of twentieth century literature and critical theory Astradur Eysteinnsson here maintains that the concept of modernism does not emerge directly from the literature it subsumes but is in fact a product of critical practices relating to nontraditional literature Intervening in these practices and correlating them with modernist works and with modern literary theory Eysteinsson undertakes a comprehensive reexamination of the idea of modernism Eysteinsson critically explores various manifestations of modernism in a rich array of American British and European literature criticism and theory He first examines many modernist paradigms detecting in them a conflict between modernism's culturally subversive potential and its relatively conservative status as a formalist project He then considers these paradigms as interpretations and fabrications of literary history Seen in this light modernism both signals a historical change on the literary scene and implies the context of that change Laden with the implications of tradition and modernity modernism fills its major function that of highlighting and defining the complex relations between history and postrealist literature Eysteinsson focuses on the ways in which the concept of modernism directs our understanding of literature and literary history and influences our judgment of experimental and postrealist works in literature and art He discusses in detail the relation of modernism to the key concepts postmodernism the avant garde and realism Enacting a crisis of subject and reference modernism is not so much a form of discourse he asserts as its interruption a possible other modernity that reveals critical aspects of our social and linguistic experience in Western culture Comparatists literary theorists cultural historians and others interested in twentieth century literature and art will profit from this provocative book Encounters in the Dark under discussion in the cross cutting debates that define critical psychology today It also provides an accessible introduction to how psychoanalysis and social theory with a particular focus on the work of Jacques Lacan and Slavoj i ek bears upon work carried out by a new generation of researchers Ian Parker s book is written from the perspective of a critical insider to the discipline of psychology psychoanalysis and social theory and it will serve as a primer for those new to the ideas searching for compass points and radical arguments as well as examples of how to write and how not to write a book review

Futurescapes ,2009-01-01 This book testifies to the growing interest in the many spaces of utopia It intends to map out on utopian and science fiction discourses some of the new and revisionist models of spatial analysis applied in Literary and Cultural Studies in recent years The aim of the volume is to side step the established generic binary of utopia and dystopia or science fiction and thus to open the analysis of utopian literature to new lines of inquiry The essays collected here propose to think of utopias not so much as fictional texts about future change and transformation but as vital elements in a cultural process through which social spatial and subjective identities are formed Utopias can thus be read as textual systems implying a distinct spatial and temporal dimension as spatial practices that tend to naturalize a cultural and social construction that of the good life the radically improved welfare state the Christian paradise the counter society etc and make that representation operational by interpellating their readers in some determinate relation to their givenness as sites of political and individual improvement This volume is of interest for all scholars and students of literature who wish to explore the ways in which utopias of the past and recent present have circulated as media of cultural exchange and homogenization as sites of cultural and linguistic appropriation and as foci for the spatial formation of national and regional identities in the English speaking world Story Works David Booth,Bob Barton,2000 This comprehensive resource deals with all aspects of story including what kinds of stories to choose how to present them ways to integrate stories in the classroom evaluation and more Cf Our choice 2001 Cumulated Index to the Books ,1915 Sagetrieb ,2002
