Novum Testamentum Graece Tomus I:

VI-7 Ordinis Sexti Tomus Septimus P.F. Hovingh, 2011-12-09 ASD VI 7 comprises Erasmus's Annotations on Paul's Epistles to the Romans. Many subjects with respect to, for instance, justification by faith and the relation between Jews and Christians, are treated. Hovingh's comments on Erasmus's commentary identify his sources and his stylistic and grammatical peculiarities.

From Erasmus to Maius An-Ting Yi, 2024-07-22 2025 Manfred Lautenschlaeger Award for Theological Promise. The famous Codex Vaticanus is currently regarded as one of the most essential sources for reconstructing the Greek New Testament text. Although it had already been used by textual critics in the sixteenth century, the manuscript only rose to the prominent status it now holds during the nineteenth century. In this volume, Yi writes an extensive scholarly history of Codex Vaticanus and describes its changing perceptions among scholars beginning from Desiderius Erasmus until its edition prepared by Angelus Maius. By examining critical editions, analysing monographs and articles, considering book reviews and pamphlets, and delving into archive collections, Yi delineates the stages of the manuscript's progression from an ancient manuscript held at the Vatican Library to its designation as the Codex Vaticanus. It is a study of the many individuals and their stories surrounding this very manuscript: stories about accessibility and the dissemination of knowledge, authority, and head-on collisions between the most learned critics and of continuity and changing paradigms in scholarship. All in all, this book sets out how Codex Vaticanus became the manuscript par excellence in the history of New Testament textual scholarship.

Euthalian Traditions Vemund Blomkvist, 2012-10-30. The Euthalian apparatus is a corpus of auxiliary texts that summarize Acts and the New Testament Letters. The material is found in a great number of Greek biblical manuscripts. Some sources identify the author as Euthalius, bishop of Sulci, but almost nothing is known about this figure. Vemund Blomkvist's study is based on the idea that the biblical text and the apparatus form a system and that this system may be studied as a unity. The commentary shows that the different genres of the apparatus offer quite different paraphrases of the apostolic writings. The argumenta present a radicalized interpretation of Books for New Testament Study Clyde Weber Votaw,Charles Frederick Bradley,1900 Lady Eclecte Lincoln H. Blumell,2025-11-11 Second John occupies a rather peripheral place in the New Testament canon Consisting of a mere thirteen verses and often viewed as a kind of abstract of 1 John the letter has traditionally not garnered much individual attention While scholars have long noted that the opening address of the letter is ambiguous in some cases even problematic the received reading that is printed in all Greek editions of the New Testament for the last 150 years is and is typically translated as to an elect lady The nearly universal view in modern scholarship is to take elect lady as a metonym for a church that is metaphorically personified as a woman Drawing upon a wide range of evidence that includes Greek papyri New Testament manuscripts and a host of other sources this study shows that the received address printed in all editions of the Greek New Testament is not correct Rather the address should be rendered and translated to the lady Eclecte so that the principal recipient of the letter is a named woman This reading makes far more sense with the letter as a whole and makes it the only text in the entire New Testament canon addressed to a woman Chrysostom's Homilies on Romans and the

Textual History of the New Testament Peter Montoro,2025-10-20 This volume provides a new paradigm for the use of Chrysostom's exegetical homilies in New Testament textual criticism Grounded in a study of the manuscript tradition of the Homilies on Romans this work offers both a reconstruction of the Romans text as initially cited in the homilies and an analysis of the extensive revisions to these citations present in the subsequent manuscript tradition This study challenges current assumptions about the influence of the Byzantine text on patristic citations and demonstrates the use of the manuscripts of Chrysostom's homilies as a source of textual reference in the broader transmission history of Romans
