Nowe Kościoły W Polsce:

Postmodern Architecture in Socialist Poland Florian Urban, 2020-12-13 Garish churches gabled panel blocks neo historical tenements this book is about these and other architectural oddities that emerged in Poland between 1975 and 1989 a period characterised by the decline of the authoritarian socialist regime and waves of political protest During that period committed architects defied repressive politics and persistent shortages and designed houses and churches which adapted eclectic historical forms and geometric volumes and were based on traditional typologies These buildings show a very different background of postmodernism far removed from the debates over Robert Venturi Philip Johnson or Prince Charles in Western Europe and North America a context in which postmodern architecture stood not for world weary irony in an economically saturated society but for individualised counter propositions to a collectivist ideology for a yearning for truth and spiritual values and for a discourse on distinctiveness and national identity Postmodern Architecture in Socialist Poland argues that this new architecture marked the beginning of socio political transformation and at the same time showed postmodernism's reconciliatory potential In light of massive historical ruptures and wartime destruction these buildings successfully responded to the contradictory desires for historical continuity and acknowledgment of rupture and loss Next to international ideas the architects took up domestic traditions such as the ideas of the Polish school of historic conservation and long standing national patriotic narratives They thus contributed to the creation of a built environment and intellectual climate that have been influential to date This book will be of great interest to students and scholars interested in postmodern architecture and urban design as well as in the socio cultural background and transformative potential of architecture under socialism Drewniane kościoły w Polsce 1918-1939 Grażyna Ruszczyk, 2001 Architecture and Architects in Socialist Poland Błażej Ciarkowski, 2025-09-30 The book presents the history of Polish architecture and architects in the years 1944-1989 focusing on selected issues including both the development of architecture itself and the conditions of practicing architecture in the socialist country The history of architecture and architects in socialist Poland is described not only from the perspective of an architectural historian and researcher but also from the perspective of active participants in the events described The text is based on historical sources and literature as well as on numerous interviews with architects and urban planners who played an important role in post war reconstruction implementation of the socialist realist doctrine creation of the most significant buildings and monuments and development of the local version of socialist modernism or post modernism It gives the floor back to those whose voice was hardly heard after the collapse of the socialist system in 1989 The book should become an interesting source of information for those interested in the material culture of former socialist countries Although it focuses on socialist Poland it can be used as material for comparative studies of mutual relations between East and West in post war Europe as well as for analysis of the situation of architecture and architects in socialist countries Powstanie i wzrost reformacji w Polsce, 1520-1572 Wincenty Zakrzewski, 1870 Zespoły

Religious Life in Poland Christopher Garbowski, 2014-01-23 This book provides a concise historical outline of religion in Poland up until its entry into the European Union in 2004 together with a longer presentation of contemporary religious issues. Albeit largely mono ethnic and overwhelmingly Catholic after the loss of its large Jewish population to the Holocaust and subsequent post World War II border shifts traces of an historic diversity remain in Poland to date playing a greater role than mere numbers would suggest. Poland's fairly robust religious life is affected by the country's continuing modernization and its various institutions and this is discussed within a broad context. One of the unfortunate legacies of decades of communism is a stunted civil society while at different levels there are conflicts involving religion at the grassroots it is one of the few forces building much needed trust in present day Polish society.
