On Our Own A Declaration Of Independence For The Self Employed:

On Our Own Paul Dickson, 1985-01-01 Class and Its Others J. K. Gibson-Graham, Stephen A. Resnick, Richard D. Wolff, 2000 A surprising and innovative look at class that proposes new approaches to this important topic While references to gender race and class are everywhere in social theory class has not received the kind of theoretical and empirical attention accorded to gender and race A welcome and much needed corrective this book offers a novel theoretical approach to class and an active practice of class analysis The authors offer new and compelling ways to look at class through examinations of such topics as sex work the experiences of African American women as domestic laborers and blue and white collar workers Their work acknowledges that individuals may participate in various class relations at one moment or over time and that class identities are multiple and changing interacting with other aspects of identity in contingent and unpredictable ways The essays in the book focus on class difference class transformation and change and on the intersection of class race gender sexuality and other dimensions of identity They find class in seemingly unlikely places in households parent child relationships and self employment and locate class politics on the interpersonal level as well as at the level of enterprises communities and nations Taken together they will prompt a rethinking of class and class subjectivity that will expand social theory Contributors Enid Arvidson U of Texas Arlington Jenny Cameron Monash U Australia Harriet Fraad Janet Hotch Susan Jahoda U of Massachusetts Amherst Amitava Kumar U of Florida Cecilia Marie Rio Jacquelyn Southern Marjolein van der Veen Management World, 1986 Future Survey Annual 1986 Michael Marien, 1987-01-01 Race, Markets, and Social Outcomes Patrick L. Mason, Rhonda M. Williams, 2012-12-06 THE JANUS FACE OF RACE REFLECTIONS ON ECONOMIC THEORY Patrick L Mason and Rhonda Williams Many economists are willing to accept that race is a significant factor in US economic and social affairs Yet the professional literature displays a peculiar schizophrenia when faced with the task of actually formulating what race means and how race works in our political economy On the one hand race matters when the discussion is focused on anti social behavior social choices and undesired market outcomes Inexplicably African Americans are more likely to prefer welfare lower labor force participation and unemployment On the other hand race does not matter when the subject of discussion is economically productive or socially acceptable activities and legal market choices for example wages and employment This Janus faced construction of race is maintained by economists stubborn adherence to the market power hypothesis The market power hypothesis asserts that racial discrimination and market competition are inversely correlated Discriminatory behavior will persist only in those sectors of society where the competitive forces of the market are least operative When applied to the labor market the market power hypothesis suggests that pre and post labor market decisions represent disjoint sets On average members of a disadvantaged social group may accumulate a lower amount of or a lower quality of productive attributes because of discrimination in marital residential or school choice or because of substantial animosity in day to day interpersonal relations with members of a privileged group

Family Words Paul Dickson,1998-11 Remember the time when a relative coined a new word at a family occasion or under some unusual circumstance Such expressions are passed down across generations enriching the lore and joy of family life Paul Dickson has amassed 750 of these words from families all over the country to compile this delightful one of a kind dictionary
