

People Who Help Us Activity Ideas

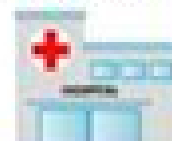

Personal, Social & Emotional Development

- Talk about people who help you in your day to day life. Think about family members, friends and neighbours, teachers, etc. Has there been a time when you or a family member has been ill or have you been involved in an emergency situation. Who helped them and how?
- Think about ways that you could be more helpful to others.
- Reward a person who you feel has been very helpful to you with a thank you card or homemade gift. Let them know how much you appreciate them.

Communication & Language

- Talk about the different emergency services and what their roles are. How do we get help in an emergency situation? Think of an emergency situation then use a toy phone to practice making a 999 call.
- Make a People Who Help Us display. Draw or search online for pictures of helpful people, emergency vehicles and equipment they might use. Put the images together to make an interesting display. Add text to your display to help explain what it means to others.

Expressive Arts and Design

- Using large cardboard boxes and other junk materials, assemble them together to make you very own emergency vehicle. Paint or decorate and add any gadgets you may need to tackle emergencies.
- The police use finger prints to help catch criminals. Make your own finger print picture.
- Use dolls or teddy bears to act out an emergency or other situation where a helpful person is needed.
- Dress up as a helpful person. Playdough, fire engine, police officers, teachers, etc.

PEOPLE WHO HELP US

Physical Development

Gross Motor Skills

- Emergency workers must train hard to keep fit and be able to respond to an emergency quickly. Set up your own training assault course to try with your friends. Who can complete it in the quickest time?

Fine Motor Skills

- Use playdough, pencils, chalks, sticks in the sand or anything else to draw someone who helps you.

Knowledge & Understanding Of The World

- Visit a fire station, or ask a fire officer to come and check your fire safety equipment. Look out for community open days, perhaps you will have the opportunity to sit in a fire engine, ambulance or police car.
- Find out about finger prints and other methods police and detectives use to collect evidence.
- Choose an occupation to learn more about. Find out how a person in this job helps other people.

Literacy

- Go to the library and look for some stories of people or characters who have helped others. Perhaps the librarian can help you find what you are looking for.
- Write a list of all the people you think are helpful and why.
- Clue Treasure hunt...set up some clues that your police detective friends have to follow to solve the crime!
- Write a thank you letter to someone who has helped you.

Maths

- Use an address book to help you write down the addresses of some nearby houses. Pretend you are a postman going out to deliver letters to these houses. Can you find the streets on a map? Go out on a walk to these streets. Can you spot the correct house numbers and tick them off your delivery list?
- Set up a play shop and pretend to be a helpful shop keeper. Can you add up the cost of your customers shopping and count out the correct money?
