Hilton, Benjamin M. Auerbach, Libby W. Cowgill, 2014-07-24 On the edge of the Arctic Ocean above the Arctic Circle the prehistoric settlements at Point Hope Alaska represent a truly remarkable accomplishment in human biological and cultural adaptations Presenting a set of anthropological analyses on the human skeletal remains and cultural material from the Ipiutak and Tigara archaeological sites The Foragers of Point Hope sheds new light on the excavations from 1939 41 which provided one of the largest sets of combined biological and cultural materials of northern latitude peoples in the world A range of material items indicated successful human foraging strategies in this harsh Arctic environment They also yielded enigmatic artifacts indicative of complex human cultural life filled with dense ritual and artistic expression These remnants of past human activity contribute to a crucial understanding of past foraging lifeways and offer important insights into the human condition at the extreme edges of the globe      Art and Eskimo Power Lael Morgan, 2007 At Howard Rock s birth a shaman predicted that he would become a great man Born in 1911 in a sod igloo in Point Hope an ancient Eskimo village Howard became an accomplished artist and crusading newspaper editor who helped to defend his people from a controversial Atomic Energy Commission proposal to excavate a harbor near his native village with an atomic blast Art and Eskimo Power chronicles the life of this influential and artist editor and founder of the Tundra Times under whose leadership the newspaper helped to organize Alaska s native people to press their aboriginal land claims before Congress which ultimately led to their being awarded over 1 billion and 40 million acres

Westermeyer, K.M. Shusterich, 2012-12-06 Elliot L Richardson The United States is finally awakening to the fact that it has a major stake in the future of the Arctic Recognition of the national importance of the Arctic has been slow in coming despite the resource wealth that Arctic Alaska has thus far yielded Although the United States has had strategic interests in the Arctic since World War II and active oil and gas interests there since the discovery of oil at Prudhoe Bay in 1968 its interest in the Arctic has been low in comparison with that of its Arctic neighbors Canada and the Soviet Union What has been described by some as an attitude of neglect toward the Arctic is now changing The notion of change has become central in most current discussions about the future of the Arctic It is apparent that the Arctic region is entering a period of greatly accelerated economic social strategic and is political change The driving force behind the changes taking place resource development activity and although the present scale of this activity is not inconsequential it is small in comparison to its projected growth in the next two decades In short the Arctic is about to come alive However knowledge of the Arctic and experience in the Arctic is comparatively limited Moreover competing interests and differing values exist among national groups and between countries in the Arctic just as they do in the lower latitudes Final environmental impact statement United States.
