Creativity and the Arts with Young Children Rebecca T. Isbell, Shirley C. Raines, 2007 Creativity and the Arts with

Young Children 2e is written specifically for early childhood educators as well as professionals who work with children birth through age eight. The focus of this book now in its second edition is on making the vital connection to music, movement, drama, and the visual arts in all areas of the classroom as well as developing creative teachers and professionals who will be able to foster an artistic environment. The book includes observations and pictures of teachers and children that demonstrate practical ways the arts can be used to help children reach their potential. There are expanded sections on multi-intelligences, Reggio Emilia, divergent questioning, and art recipes, and the book also includes literacy connections and activities for adults at the end of each chapter. There are many ideas in the book for open-ended activities that are important for the development of young children and will encourage them to think in new ways. The standards and recommendations from professional organizations are addressed so that the reader can recognize what goals these organizations believe are important in the early years. Thorough in its coverage, the text speaks to children with special needs and cultural diversity, leaving the reader with the most complete information regarding arts in the young child's learning environment. YC Young Children, 2004

Deep Journeys Kenneth Kelzer, 1999. With a strong emphasis on personal transformation as essential to therapy, Deep Journeys explores how experiential therapy can supplement analytic and interpretative therapies. Kenneth Kelzer shows how therapists using a trance induction process can work with clients' dreams and personal archetypes to help them understand and heal the causes of their emotional symptoms. Assessing Young Children Gayle Mindes, 2007. For courses in Assessment in early childhood education, Assessing Young Children addresses theory and provides illustrations of appropriate practice for prospective teachers as well as discusses current trends for experienced teachers. It approaches assessment as an integral part of the teaching/learning process. Key components of the assessment system advocated include cultural sensitivity, parent collaboration, and a vision of inclusionary practice in all early childhood environments: child care and school. This book reflects the knowledge base of early childhood and early childhood special education. The Arc of Healing Virginia Oakley, 2020-07-24. In her simple, unpretentious style, Virginia tells her story of a lifetime marked by sexual abuse and trauma and the resulting drug and alcohol abuse and self-hatred. It's not an easy read, but it's not meant to be. It goes deep into the dark recesses of a troubled mind, revealing the daily struggle of trying to be a successful wife and mother while being sucked into a whirlpool of depression, guilt, shame, and self-destruction. But it also shows us that hope is a tiny seed that can survive in the deepest darkness and, if gently tended with faith and love, can grow into a fierce power. It's an important story to tell because it reflects the lives of millions of women who experienced the same traumas. They still hold the unspoken truth deep in their hearts and dare not hope for a better life. With the publishing of this book, Virginia hopes to inspire these women to look deep inside and find that hope, tend that seed, and find their healing. Gas and Candles David Henry Wilson, 1985.
