Police Chronicles:

The Tragedy of Bleiburg and Viktring, 1945 Florian Rulitz, 2016-03-07 The atrocities and mass murders committed by Josip Broz Tito's Partisan units of the Yugoslav Army immediately after the Second World War had no place in the conscience of Socialist Yugoslavia. More than once the annual Croatian commemoration of the Bleiburg victims was subject to attacks carried out by the socialist Yugoslav state. Abroad in the West, on Austrian soil, the Yugoslav secret service UDBA did not shy away from murdering the protagonist of the Croatian memory culture, Nicola Martinovic, as late as 1975. The official history was aligned with a firm interpretational paradigm that called for a glorification of the anti-fascist people's liberation resistance. With the breakup of Yugoslavia and its socialist regime in 1991, the identity-establishing accounts of contemporary witnesses which had mainly been cherished in exile circles abroad increasingly reached public awareness in Croatia and Slovenia. In the 1990s, Croatia witnessed the emergence of a memory that had been suppressed by the socialist Yugoslav regime, namely the Bleiburg tragedy. The situation in Slovenia was similar in terms of identity and remembrance culture. Among the Slovenes, the communist crimes committed during the turmoil are known as the drama of Viktring or the Viktring tragedy, named after the largest refugee camp of the Slovenes. Reports on the communist postwar crimes and on the countless discoveries of mass gravesites have also begun circulating in the media of the German-speaking world in the last few years. Florian Rulitz's meticulously researched book, now available for the first time in English, provides a corrective to the historical memory that had been previously accepted as truth. Rulitz focuses on two essential questions: First, did the so-called final encirclement battles indeed occur in Carinthia in the Ferlach, Hollenburg, Viktring, and Dravograd/Poljana Bleiburg areas, resulting in military victories for the Yugoslav Army? Second, were the battles after the capitulation fought by the refugees with the aim of reaching the British-controlled areas in Carinthia? To answer these questions, Rulitz presents a detailed reconstruction of those days in May 1945. He furthermore considers the question of the murders on Austrian territory which were hushed up in Partisan literature and presented as casualties of the final military operations. This groundbreaking study will interest scholars and students of modern European history.

K9 Chronicles Book One, 2006-11 Serpico shoots straight from the heart. He brings new meaning to the term "To Serve and To Protect." Serpico tells his CHRONICLE of commitment, hope, and loss in such believing detail that you may never look at your own pet in the same way again. Smart, witty, and wildly entertaining, Serpico's aim is exceptional. Duwayne Dunham, Director, HOMEWARD BOUND, THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY. It is the ultimate satisfaction for me to be a part of the rehabilitation process and the outcome of balanced dogs like Serpico. Cesar Millan, The Dog Whisperer.

Chronicles of a Radical Criminologist Gregg Barak, 2020-05-15 Over the past five decades, prominent criminologist Gregg Barak has worked as an author, editor, and book review editor. His large body of work has been grounded in traditional academic prose. His new book, Chronicles of a Radical Criminologist, while remaining scholarly in its intent, departs from the typical academic format. The book is a first person account that examines the linkages between one scholar's experiences as a criminologist from the late 1960s to the present and the emergence and evolution of radical criminology as a challenge to developments in mainstream criminology Barak draws upon his own experiences over this half century as a window into the various debates and issues among radical critical and technocratic criminologies In doing so he revisits his own seminal works showing how they reflect those periods of criminological development What holds this book together is the story of how resisting the crimes of the powerful while struggling locally for social justice is the essence of critical criminology His seven chapters are divided into three parts academic freedom academic activism and academic praxis and these connected stories link the author's own academic career in Berkeley California Las Vegas Nevada Chicago Alabama Ann Arbor Michigan and across the United States Barak's eventful scholarly life involved efforts to overcome laws against abortion and homosexuality to formalize protective practices for women from domestic violence and sexual assault to oppose racism and classism in the criminal justice system to challenge the wars on gangs drugs and immigrants and to confront the policies of mass incarceration and the treatment of juvenile offenders

Policing Cities Randy Lippert, Kevin Walby, 2013-07-18 Policing Cities brings together international scholars from numerous disciplines to examine urban policing securitization and regulation in nine countries and the conceptual issues these practices raise Chapters cover many of the world's major cities including New York Beijing Paris London Berlin Mexico City Johannesburg Rio de Janeiro Boston Melbourne and Toronto as well as other urban areas in Britain United States South Africa Germany Australia and Georgia The collection examines the activities and reforms of the traditional public police but also those of emerging public and private policing agents and spaces that fall outside the public police's purview and which previously have received little attention It explores dramatic changes in public policing arrangements and strategies exclusion of urban homeless people new forms of urban surveillance and legal regulation and securitization and militarization of urban spaces The core argument in the volume is that cities are more than mere background for policing securitization and regulation Policing and the city are intimately intertwined This collection also reveals commonalities in the empirical interests methodological preferences and theoretical concerns of scholars working in these various disciplines and breaks down barriers among them This is the first collection on urban policing regulation and securitization with such a multi disciplinary and international character This collection will have a wide readership among upper level undergraduate and graduate level students in several disciplines and countries and can be used in geography urban studies legal and socio legal studies sociology anthropology political science and criminology courses

The Street Is My Home Patricia C. Márquez, 2002-12-01 The presence of youngsters on the streets of Caracas embodies social contradictions at the national level and this book discusses how these contradictions are played out in an oil producing nation afflicted with hyperinflation generalized corruption the deterioration of public services increasing poverty and violence Vivid life stories told by street children themselves portray their relations with family and friends as well as with people they encounter police officers journalists social workers and passersby at their local hangouts The book also describes and analyzes the justice system and institutions for minors illustrating the constant failures to respond to contain or lessen youth violence

Connected Histories Eva Pfanzelter, Dirk Rupnow, Éva Kovács, Marianne Windsperger, 2024-09-23 The World Wide Web WWW and digitisation have become important sites and tools for the history of the Holocaust and its commemoration Today some memory institutions use the Internet at a high professional level as a venue for self presentation and as a forum for the discussion of Holocaust related topics for potentially international transcultural and interdisciplinary user groups At the same time it is not always the established institutions that utilise the technical possibilities and potential of the Internet to the maximum Creative and sometimes controversial new forms of storytelling of the Holocaust or more traditional ways of remembering the genocide presented in a new way with digital media often come from people or groups who are not in the realm of influence of the large memorial sites museums and archives Such private stagings have experienced a particular upswing since the boom of social media This democratisation of Holocaust memory and history is crucial though it is as yet undecided how much it will ultimately reinforce old structures and cultural regional or other inequalities or reinvent them The Digital space as an arbitrary and limitless archive for the mediation of the Holocaust spanning from Russia to Brazil is at the centre of the essays collected in this volume This space is also considered as a forum for negotiation a meeting place and a battleground for generations and stories and as such offers the opportunity to reconsider the transgenerational transmission of trauma family histories and communication Here it becomes evident there are new societal intentions and decision making structures that exceed the capabilities of traditional mass media and thrive on the participation of a broad public

While the City Sleeps Lila Caimari, 2017 While the City Sleeps is an extraordinary work of scholarship from one of Argentina's leading historians of modern Buenos Aires society and culture In the late nineteenth century the city saw a massive population boom and large scale urban development With these changes came rampant crime a chaotic environment in the streets and intense class conflict In response the state expanded institutions that were intended to bring about social order and control Lila Caimari mines both police records and true crime reporting to bring to life the underworld pistoleros the policemen who fought them and the crime journalists who brought the conflicts to light In the process she crafts a new portrait of the rise of one of the world's greatest cities

Voices of Crime Luz E. Huertas, Bonnie Lucero, Gregory

J. Swedberg, 2016-11-29 Crime exists in every society revealing not only the way in which societies function but also exposing the standards that society holds about what is harmful and punishable Criminalizing individuals and actions is not the exclusive domain of the state it emerges from the collective consciousness the judgments of individuals and groups who represent societal thinking and values Studying how these individuals and groups construct represent perpetrate and contest crime reveals how their message reinforces and also challenges historical and culturally specific notions of race class and gender Voices of Crime examines these official and unofficial perceptions of deviancy justice and social control in modern Latin America As a collection of essays exploring histories of crime and justice the book focuses on both cultural and social history and the interactions among state institutions the press and a variety of elite and non elite social groups Arguing that crime in Latin America is best understood as a product of ongoing negotiation between top down and bottom up ideas not just as the exercise of power from the state the authors seek to document and illustrate the everyday experiences of crime in particular settings emphasizing underresearched historical actors such as criminals victims and police officers The book examines how these social groups constructed contested navigated and negotiated notions of crime criminality and justice This reorientation in contrast to much of the existing historical literature that focuses on elite and state actors prompts the authors to critically examine the very definition of crime and its perpetrators suggesting that not only the actions of the poor and racial others but also the state can be termed as criminal
