Policy Analysis Of Child Labor A Comparative Study:

The Policy Analysis of Child Labor Christiaan Grootaert, Harry Anthony Patrinos, 1999 This work examines the conditions which lead to child labour in four countries using the findings to recommend a policy approach toward its eradication Although Bolivia Colombia Ivory Coast and the Philippines possess different economic and social settings data on the determinants of child labour are strikingly consistent The researchers found that many children's days involve both work and schooling and they conclude that many of the current policy approaches such as bans on child labour are not optimal because they view child work and schooling as mutually exclusive alternatives Instead a gradual policy approach in two phases would be more effective This policy would begin by increasing legal and social protection for working children and adding school time to child work routines In the second phase when parents' income constraints have been lessened the policy would shift the work school combination toward schooling only Their policy also calls for joint provision of support to home enterprises and enrollment incentives especially for girls

Children throughout the world are engaged in a variety of activities classifiable as work These range from relatively harmless even laudable activities like helping parents in the home to morally or physically dangerous ones Many forms of child labour have valuable learning by doing elements but they all conflict with formal education If the family is credit constrained child labour relaxes the liquidity constraint and may be necessary to avoid starvation Statistically and theoretically child labour is associated with high fertility high infant mortality and low productivity By contrast education is associated with low fertility low infant mortality and high productivity Suitable as an advanced development economics or development microeconomics textbook the book lays out the theory as it now stands and examines the available evidence within an integrated framework This second edition emphasizes the interplay between child labour education fertility and mortality The empirical aspects have been expanded to include new evidence available since the previous edition and an assessment of the impact of policy and programs There are new chapters on the emergence and implications of family rules and social norms and on policy optimization and an expanded chapter on international trade examines the effects of foreign direct investment Does Social Labeling Displace Child Labor and Increase Child Schooling? Sayan Chakrabarty,2007 Focuses on child labour in the carpet industry Argues that labeling alone is at best a partial solution to the problem of child labour and increases child schooling Child Labour Georges Kristoffel Lieten,2005 Explores the issues surrounding child labor worldwide and offers solutions and a plea for more research to be done How Child Labor and Child Schooling Interact with Adult Labor Ranjan Ray,1999 The link between household poverty and child labor is much stronger in Pakistan than in Peru Providing good schools in South Asia could help reduce child labor The link between child labor and adult labor markets varies with gender

Childhood Chris Jenks,2004-11 Childhood is an extremely complex and highly contested concept It refers to a life phase as well as to the age group defined as children but is also a cultural construction part of the social and economic structure of communities The key scholarship collected introduced and reprinted in these volumes reflects this complexity and introduces the reader to the wide variety of interpretations that have been and continue to be placed on it It might be suggested that the push or initiative in theorizing childhood has derived from advances within sociology and anthropology However the future provides potential for interdisciplinary study which this collection also reflects The contemporary study of childhood must comprise a conjoining of disciplines sociology anthropology psychology social geography history philosophy and socio legal theory all have something to add to the field and are represented within the collection The Role of Social Capital in Development Christiaan Grootaert,Thierry van Bastelaer,2002-08-15 Publisher Description Rights and Wrongs of Children's Work M. F. C. Bourdillon,2010 Explores the place of labor in children's lives and child development By incorporating recent theoretical advances in childhood studies and in child development the authors argue for the need to re-think assumptions that underlie current policies on child labor Proposes a new approach to promote the well-being development and human rights of working children From publisher description Indigenous Peoples, Poverty, and Development Gillette H. Hall, Harry Anthony Patrinos, 2012-04-30 This book documents poverty systematically for the world's indigenous peoples in developing regions in Asia Africa and Latin America The volume compiles results for roughly 85 percent of the world's indigenous peoples It draws on nationally representative data to compare trends in countries poverty rates and other social indicators with those for indigenous sub populations and provides comparable data for a wide range of countries all over the world It estimates global poverty numbers and analyzes other important development indicators such as schooling health and social protection Provocatively the results show a marked difference in results across regions with rapid poverty reduction among indigenous and non indigenous populations in Asia contrasting with relative stagnation and in some cases falling back in Latin America and Africa Indigenous Peoples, Poverty and Human Development in Latin America Gillette Hall, 2005-12-13 Indigenous people constitute a large portion of Latin America's population and suffer from widespread poverty This book provides the first rigorous assessment of changes in socio economic conditions among the region's indigenous people tracking progress in these indicators during the first international decade of indigenous peoples 1994 2004 Set within the context of existing literature and political changes over the course of the decade this volume provides a rigorous statistical analysis of indigenous populations in Bolivia Ecuador Guatemala Mexico and Peru examining their poverty rates education levels income determinants labour force participation and other social indicators The results show that while improvements have been achieved in some social indicators little progress has been made with respect to poverty
