Educating Students with Disabilities in Queensland Independent Christian Schools Dr. David Mercer, 2018-08-27 In recent decades in Australia as elsewhere students with disabilities SWD have been increasingly introduced to mainstream schools This reflects both changes in social attitudes towards young people with a disability and changes in the policy environment for disability and education At the same time independent schools in Australia have been growing both in number and rate but as Prasser 2009a has indicated the numbers of SWD in independent schools are not growing at a proportional rate In Christian independent schools policy issues with regard to SWD collide with central tenets of the Christian faith and the business models in which these schools operate and these may generate tensions and problems with regard to educating these students This study sought to explore the issues surrounding educating SWD in a number of regional independent schools in the state of Queensland Australia It sought to uncover uniquely Christian approaches to educating SWD by exploring a the perspectives of principals of these independent Christian schools b tensions between faith and policy and c issues surrounding the mainstreaming of SWD The research used methods of qualitative data collection and analysis In depth interviews with ten principals of regional independent schools in Queensland RICSQ provided the primary form of data collection complemented by data gained from studies of relevant documents Data analysis involved two stages i thematic analysis and ii discourse analysis Surprisingly the findings from these analyses showed that the enrolment of students with disabilities in the RICSQ privileged a secular business discourse above Christian concerns With regard to the education of SWD these principals were clearly facing a dichotomous tension between the expectations of their faith and those of having to lead sizeable business organisations In particular the critical policy moment for educating SWD in RICSQ came at the point of enrolment The outcomes of the study have highlighted the tensions facing principals in these schools in educating SWD and may provide evidence for principals school boards and others in the development of policy for SWD in independent schools They also highlight a need for more widespread perhaps quantitative research around the education of SWD in such schools and this may also have implications for the education of such students in other schools and systems

International Criminal Court ICC and examines international criminal law ICL vs the black body through an immersive format of art music poetry and architecture and post colonial critical race theory lens Taking a multi disciplinary approach the book interrogates the operationalisation of the Rome Statute to detail a Eurocentric hegemony at the core of ICL It explores how colonialism and slavery have come to shape ICL exposing the perpetuation of the colonial and warns that it has ominous contemporary and future implications for Africa As currently envisaged and acted out at the ICC this law is founded on deceptive and colonial ideas of what is wrong in with the world The book finds that the contemporary ICL regime is founded on white supremacy that corrupts the law s interaction with the African The African is but a unit utilised by the global elite to exploit and extract resources From time to time these alliances disintegrate with ICL becoming a retaliatory tool of choice What is at stake is power not justice This power has been hierarchical with Eurocentrism at the top throughout modern history Colonialism is seen not to have ended but to have regerminated through the foundation of the independent African state The ICC reproduces the colonial by use of European law and ultimately the over representation of the black accused To conclude the book provides a liberated African forum that can address conflicts in the content with a call for the end of the ICC s involvement in Africa The demand is made for an African court that utilises non colonising African norms which are uniquely suited to address local conflicts Multidisciplinary in nature this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of international criminal law criminal justice human rights law African studies global social justice sociology anthropology postcolonial studies and philosophy American Rehabilitation ,2004 Federal Register ,2012-04
