Policy Research In Educational Settings Contested Terrain:

Policy Research in Educational Settings Jennifer Ozga, 2000 As outspoken in his day as Richard Dawkins or Christopher Hitchens are today American freethinker and author ROBERT GREEN INGERSOLL 1833 1899 was a notorious radical whose uncompromising views on religion and slavery they were bad in his opinion women s suffrage a good idea he believed and other contentious matters of his era made him a wildly popular orator and critic of 19th century American culture and public life As a speaker dedicated to expanding intellectual horizons and celebrating the value of skepticism Ingersoll spoke frequently on such topics as atheism freedom from the pressures of conformity and the lives of philosophers who espoused such concepts This collection of his most famous speeches includes the lectures The Gods 1872 Humboldt 1869 Thomas Paine 1870 Individuality 1873 Heretics and Heresies 1874

Policy Research in Educational Settings Jenny Ozga, 1999-11-16 This book argues for independent critical research on education policy in the context of attacks on the quality and usefulness of educational research in general It takes issue with the argument promoted by government departments and agencies that education policy research should be limited to work that assists policy makers Against this position the book advocates independent critical research that scrutinizes policy in relation to its consequences for equality and social justice It argues that practitioners and academic researchers should form a research community that develops its own knowledge base from which so called evidence based policymaking in education may be assessed and challenged The book offers guidance on the theoretical and methodological resources available to practitioners and others with an interest in doing research on policy and discusses some of the main issues and problems in doing policy research on education It offers examples of research on policy at different system levels pursuing themes such as globalization changing governance of education selection choice and exclusion managerialism and the feminisation of educational management It argues for attention to the history of policy in education as a resource for understanding the present and concludes with recommendations for future research in areas where contestation of official agendas is needed

Handbook of Education Policy Research Janelle Scott, 2025-07-17 The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research the largest volume published in AERA s history addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood K 12 and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects methods theories and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive and the authors represent a diversity of racial ethnic and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations Most chapters come from multiple authors reflecting the multi sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past present and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students researchers policy makers and practitioners Decolonizing Global Citizenship Education Ali A Abdi,Lynette Shultz,Thashika Pillay,2015-12-01 The ideas for this reader came out of a conference organized through the Centre for Global Citizenship Education and Research CGCER at the University of Alberta in 2013 With the high expansion of global citizenship education scholarship in the past 15 or so years and with most of this scholarship produced in the west and mostly focused on the citizenship lives of people in the so called developing world or selectively attempting to explain the contexts of marginalized populations in the west the need for multidirectional and decolonizing knowledge and research perspectives should be clear Indeed the discursive as well as the practical constructions of current global citizenship education research cannot fulfill the general promise of learning and teaching programs as social development platforms unless the voices of all concerned are heard and validated With these realities this reader is topically comprehensive and timely and should constitute an important intervention in our efforts to create and sustain more inclusive and liberating platforms of knowledge and learning This collection of cutting edge theoretical contributions examines citizenship and neo liberal globalization and their impacts on the nexus of the local and global learning production of knowledge and movements of people and their rights Case studies in the collection also provide in depth analysis of lived experiences that challenge the constructed borders which derive from colonial and imperial re structuring of the contemporary world and nation states The contributors articulate agency in terms of both resistance and proactive engagement toward the construction of an alternative world which acknowledges equality justice and common humanity of all in symbiosis with the social and natural environment It is a valuable reader for students scholars practitioners and activists interested in the empowering possibilities of decolonized global citizenship education N Dr World Yearbook of Education 2005 David Coulby,Evie Zambeta,2005-01-14 This volume deals with two major and apparently opposing forces within education and society globalization and nationalism Globalization is often considered in economic terms of continued growth of international trade and a concentration of wealth in corporate hands yet it also encompasses technological political and cultural change The World Yearbook of Education 2005 explores the role of the education sector in our globalized knowledge economy and considers the political implications of this in terms of monopolarity and the cultural consequences of homogenization and Americanization The other strand of this study nationalism remains a persistent force within education and society in all parts of the world and this volume examines the extent to which it can fuel conflict at all levels through prejudice and intolerance Concentrating on the epistemological consequences of nationalism leading international thinkers examine the extent to which it is reflected in the curricula of schools and universities around the world Finally the complex relationship between globalization and nationalism is explored and contributors explore the part that educational institutions and practices play in forming both agendas A wide range of perspectives are employed including post colonial discourse classical economics and sociological theory Nationalism and globalization are both ongoing processes and this volume makes a case for the central role of education in both through its potential to influence change and to act as benevolent force in shaping a global community Inclusive Education Is a Right, Right?, 2020-10-26

Overarching principles of human rights which shore up a nearly 30 year history of international efforts to develop educational systems that are responsive to the needs of all Arguably the most widely recognised international inclusive education policy the Salamanca Statement released in 1994 from the United Nations Education Science and Cultural Organisation UNESCO recognised that every child has a basic right to education In so doing however it drew a line around special needs as a particular emphasis in globalising efforts towards equal opportunity through decrees for first principles of universally attainable privileges Considered a watershed moment in global responses to educational exclusion the Salamanca Statement was core to increasing awareness among nations of the need for fostering more inclusive education policy and practice Nonetheless the liberal ideologies that frame human rights in inclusive education are seldom called into question despite perpetual marginalisation and disadvantage post Salamanca Inclusive Education Is a Right Right brings the many together to consider educational democracy at a moment in global history where the political order fractures populations and the displacement of socio economic participation is displayed in every news bulletin true fake or otherwise Under these conditions the significance of academic activism wherein diverse perspectives methodologies and theoretical approaches are put to work to increase equity in education has perhaps never been so stark Across the collection the combined chapters engage with researchers students education professionals and leaders advocacy organisations and people experiencing exclusion and consider human rights in relation to inclusive education Contributors are Kate Anderson Alison Baker Tim Corcoran Edwin Creely Jenny Duke Peng Sim Eng Leechin Heng Anna Kilderry Sarah Lambert Bec Marland Julianne Moss Philippa Moylan Mia Nosrat Joanne O Mara Jo Raphael Bethany Rice Andrew Riordan Amathullah Shakeeb Roger Slee Kitty te Riele Matthew K E Thomas Peter Walker Scott Welsh Ben Whitburn Julie White and Michalinos Zembylas Peace Education in a Conflict-Affected Society Michalinos Zembylas, Constadina Charalambous, Panayiota Charalambous, 2016-04-21

A multilayered analysis of how the dynamics of local politics emotions discourses and classroom practices can shape peace education initiatives Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools, Families, and Communities Sue Winton, Gillian Parekh, 2020-03-01 Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools Families and Communities offers scholars students and practitioners important new knowledge about how current policies impact families schools and community partnerships The book s authors share a critical orientation towards policy and policy research and invite readers to think differently about what policy is who policymakers are and what policy can achieve Their chapters discuss findings from research grounded in diverse theories including institutional ethnography critical disability theory and critical race theory The authors encourage scholars of family school and community partnerships to ask who benefits from policies and who loses and how proposed reforms maintain or disrupt existing relations of power The chapters present original research on a broad range of policies at the local state provincial and national levels in Canada and the USA Some authors look closely at the enactment of specific district policies including a school district s language translation policy and a policy to create local advisory bodies as part of decentralization efforts Other chapters reveal the often unacknowledged yet necessary work parents do to meet their children s needs and enable schools to operate A few chapters focus on challenges and paradoxes of including families and community members in policymaking processes including a case where parents demonstrated a preference for a policy that research demonstrates can be detrimental to their children s future education opportunities Another set of chapters emphasizes the centrality of policy texts and how language influences the educational experiences and engagement of students and their families Each chapter concludes with a discussion of implications of the research for educators families and other community partners

Education Policies and the Restructuring of the Educational Profession Romuald Normand,Min Liu,Luís Miguel Carvalho,Dalila Andrade Oliveira,Louis LeVasseur,2018-07-04 The book analyzes worldwide changes in school organization and the teaching profession and how the profession has been impacted by education policies that promote assessments and accountability It also identifies some shifts in professional positions statuses and profiles and characterizes the impact and contextualization of professional standards that shape teaching practices and the management of schools Further the book provides relevant comparative and empirical data on the restructuring of the teaching profession in an era of globalization through a critical perspective on and an overview of the main research and comparative findings across countries As such the book is not only directed to educational researchers but will also interest professionals and policymakers addressing a broader education and policy community concerned by the new aspects shaping the teaching profession in the 21st century

Educational Authorities and the Schools Helene Ärlestig,Olof Johansson,2020-05-28 This book describes and analyses the organisation functions and development of national educational authorities and agencies and the influence they have on local schools in 20 countries around the world It examines the governing chain in the respective countries from both a theoretical and descriptive perspective It does so against the background of the stability and rigour of the governing chains having been challenged with some researchers considering the chain to be broken However the view that comes to the fore in this book is that the chain is still present and contains both vertical implementation structures and intervening spaces for policy interpretation How schools become successful is important for the individual students as well as the local community and the national state A vast quantity of research has looked at what happens in schools and classrooms At the same time national governance and politics as well as local prerequisites are known to exert influence on schools and their results to a high degree Societal priorities problems and traditions provide variety in how governance is executed This book provides an international overview of the similarities and differences between educational agencies and how their work influences schools

Researching Education from the Inside Pat Sikes,Anthony Potts,2008-02 This ground breaking book focuses on the practicalities of research projects that are undertaken by people who already have an attachment to the institutions or social groups on which their investigations are based

Everything You Need to Know about FE Policy Yvonne Hillier, 2006-12-15 Provides an overview of three key policy initiatives in FE Success for All Skills for Life and the qualifications framework This book discusses the implications for implementing policy within particular institutions and how change and working with staff can be managed to best achieve the intended aims of each policy

Advancing Theory and Research in Widening Participation Ellen Boeren, Nalita James, 2019-10-23 Issues of access social exclusion and widening participation dominate educational policy agendas and are a shared global challenge Participation in higher education and adult lifelong learning activities can be a life changing experience that opens up new opportunities However access remains unequal People from lower socio economic backgrounds those living in the most deprived areas and people from minority ethnic groups are underrepresented In this book we focus on how we can move the field of widening participation forward paying specific attention to the theories and methods we can use to better understand and tackle the problem of underrepresented groups in post compulsory education and how individuals and institutions can be supported We argue that in order to make sense of these issues it is important to engage in both the findings of widening participation research and the theoretical foundations which underpin them This way alternative perspectives on the widening participation agenda and emerging research and policy can be explored from alternative perspectives This book was originally published as a special issue of Studies in Continuing Education

Foucault and Education Stephen J. Ball, 2019-05-16 Specially selected by Stephen Ball this is a collection of the best and most interesting recently published papers that use Foucault to analyse destabilise and re claim educational problems Arguably the best known social theorist in the western world Foucault's work is now widely used by researchers and writers in many fields of social science These papers not only demonstrate the practical applicability of Foucault to things cracked and things intolerable in making them not as necessary as all that they are also transposable in that they offer forms and methods of analysis which can be taken up and applied and used in other settings sectors and policy fields

A Student-centred Sociology of Australian Education Tiffany Jones, 2020-01-03 This book is based on a comparative study from 2018 of four different approaches to education according to 2 500 Australians experiences of them on a range of topics It shows that whilst the critical approach has strong research based support across the board sometimes a liberal conservative or post modern approach may have some merit for certain outcomes This is a book about challenging our biases and calling on ourselves to aim higher for education than what our own pre conceived ideas might allow What and who is valued in education and the social roles and identity messages learned differ wildly from school to school Education is most impacted by the orientation of education dominant in that context whether conservative liberal critical or post modern These terms are often used with little practical data on the real life schooling they entail Who learns what in which approach Who learns best with which approach on which topic and why This book provides this previously missing information It offers holistic detailed descriptions of conservative liberal critical and post modern approaches to education broadly It provides statistics and stories from real students on how the four approaches work practically in schools in relation to age gender sexuality social class race news media popular culture and technology Chapters offer background information to the four perspectives data from student participants tutorial questions and activities and suggestions for further reading

Engaging Families, Educators, and Communities as Educational Advocates Sue Winton,Lauri Johnson,2018-10-16 This edited collection broadens understanding of family school community partnerships by focusing on how community groups educators and university professors engage with public education to achieve their own goals rather than goals defined by schools school systems and governments Authors critically examine various school community partnerships that collectively aim to improve decision making democratize policy processes resist policies that support the marketization of public education and advocate for racial equality The book s chapters focus on advocacy efforts within and across three national contexts England Canada and the United States Together they expand current scholarship by demonstrating how different constituencies develop alliances experience tensions and navigate the politics inherent in change efforts By examining the intersections of parent and community organizing teacher unions and school community partnerships across national contexts the chapters uncover fruitful new terrain for understanding the theory and practice of educational activism This volume was originally published as a special issue of Leadership and Policy in Schools     Reconstructing Policy in Higher Education Elizabeth J. Allan,Susan Iverson,Rebecca Ropers-Huilman,2009-10-16 Written for Higher Education Masters and PhD programs this landmark textbook joins the theory of feminist post structuralism with research methods for the purpose of policy analysis in Higher Education It showcases the different methods that can be applied to a range of topics in Higher Education policy and policy development Reconstructing Policy in Higher Education highlights the work of accomplished and award winning scholars and provides an in depth examination of theoretical frameworks and concrete examples of how feminist post structuralism effectively informs research methods and can serve as a vital tool for policy makers and analysts

Governing through Standards: the Faceless Masters of Higher Education Katja Brøgger,2018-11-09 This book offers an empirical and theoretical account of the mode of governance that characterizes the Bologna Process In addition it shows how the reform materializes and is translated in everyday working life among professors and managers in higher education It examines the so called Open Method of Coordination as a powerful actor that uses soft governance to advance transnational standards in higher education The book shows how these standards no longer serve as tools for what were once human organizational national or international regulators Instead the standards have become regulators themselves the faceless masters of higher education By exploring this the book reveals the close connections between the Bologna Process and the EU regarding regulative and monitoring techniques such as standardizations and comparisons which are carried out through the Open Method of Coordination It suggests that the Bologna Process works as a subtle means to circumvent the EU s subsidiarity principle making it possible to accomplish a European governance of higher education despite the fact that education falls outside EU's legislative reach. The book's research interest in translation processes, agency and power relations among policy actors positions it in studies on policy transfer, policy borrowing and globalization. However, different from conventional approaches, this study draws on additional interpretive frameworks such as new materialism. Handbook of Historical Studies in Education Tanya Fitzgerald, 2020-04-03. This book offers an in-depth historiographical and comparative analysis of prominent theoretical and methodological debates in the field. Across each of the sections, contributors will draw on specific case studies to illustrate the origins, debates and tensions in the field and overview new trends, directions and developments. Each section includes an introduction that provides an overview of the theme and the overall emphasis within the section. In addition, each section has a concluding chapter that offers a critical and comparative analysis of the national case studies presented. As a Handbook, the emphasis is on deeper consideration of key issues rather than a more superficial and broader sweep. The book offers researchers, postgraduate and higher degree students as well as those teaching in this field a definitive text that identifies and debates key historiographical and methodological issues. The intent is to encourage comparative historiographical perspectives of the nominated issues that overview the main theoretical and methodological debates and to propose new directions for the field. Cultures and Change in Higher Education Paul Trowler, 2008-08-20. Describes approaches to understanding cultures in higher education, paying particular attention to cultures and cultural construction at departmental level. Implications of cultural characteristics for issues around change initiatives, including the enhancement of teaching, learning and assessment, are a key focus of this book.
