Political And Economic Transition In East Asia From Government To Governance:

The Political and Economic Transition in East Asia Xiaoming Huang, 2013-09-05 The book examines the political and economic developments in East Asia since the end of the Cold War in an attempt to identify a broad pattern of transition particularly in terms of the reshaping of the state's relations with forces and institutions in economy politics and domestic international interactions The chapters are organised into three parts I The state in the new economy II The state in the new politics III The state in the new global environment The contributors find a general pattern of the state's withdrawal from these three areas But it is not simply that the market takes over as some envisaged Instead the transition is moving towards a set of governance producing arrangements in which the role of both the market and the state are appreciated The book concludes that a more sophisticated approach is needed to the problems of development vs governance the state vs the market and global dynamics vs national interests for a better understanding of the dynamic transition and the consequent new political economy in East Asia

Economic Development in China, India and East Asia Kartik Chandra Roy, Hans-Christer Blomqvist, Cal Clark, 2012-01-01 This is an unusually rich and comprehensive comparative analysis of industrialisation and development in Asia Drawing on the diverse experiences of Malaysia Singapore China India and more Roy Blomqvist and Clark skilfully tease out the common institutional threads and the subtle differences in their developmental trajectories An essential reading for all those interested in the lessons from Asian development Jude Howell London School of Economics UK This is a thorough and comprehensive study both in terms of country coverage and in depth analysis covering the economic development of all the major economies in the Asian continent namely China India Japan South Korea Taiwan Malaysia and Singapore Before embarking on analyses of different aspects of economic growth and development of these countries the authors present a thought provoking analysis of how institutional factors such as geography history of religion culture and political governance have been deeply interwoven with development dynamics to shape the growth and development trajectory that each country has subsequently followed Each country's development path

consequently appeared almost be pre determined Japan s role as the lead country in technology transfer under the flying geese pattern of development is discussed however the emphasis has shifted of late to China India Korea Malaysia and Singapore the authors also propose that instead of discussing the failure of India to catch up with China in growth and development outcomes economists should be commenting on whether China bestowed with India s highly decentralized democratic governance structure and institutional rigidities would have been able to achieve the same results as that of India Only then will a true understanding and appreciation of India s achievements in economic growth and development emerge Economic Development in China India and East Asia will be warmly welcomed and appreciated by academics and researchers of international and development economics as well as Asian development and economics Policy makers and those involved in NGOs in the development and aid arenas will also find this of great interest

Reform and Recovery in East Asia Peter Drysdale,2003-09-02 This exciting sequel to East Asia in Crisis offers a completely up to date assessment of the progress of East Asian recovery and provides a detailed review of the experience of the region s economies

Sustaining Development and Growth in East Asia Timo Henckel,2012-11-12 For several decades fast growing East Asia has been the envy of the developing world Not only has East Asia outperformed all other regions of the world but it also recovered surprisingly swiftly from the 1997 98 Asian financial crisis and the 2008 09 global financial crisis Nevertheless investment in the region remains subdued relative to pre Asian crisis levels Are current investment rates too low and given greater investment could the region grow even more rapidly This book brings together a rich array of papers analyzing the determinants of and impediments to investment and growth It discusses a range of issues bearing on investment and development The chapters cover domestic and international economic institutional and political factors including the role of foreign direct investment and the importance of public infrastructure fiscal policy and export oriented growth strategies Trade and trade policy in particular are emphasized with contributions ranging from an analysis of global production networks in electronics manufacturing to the effects and implications of economic integration in the Mekong states The chapters provide a healthy blend of theoretical and empirical analysis and offer a range of useful policy proposals This book will be of interest to policy makers students and scholars of Asian economics and development economics alike

Industrial Policy in Eastern Europe J.M. Van Brabant,2012-12-06 This volume in essence continues my recent contributions towards building up a better understanding of the wide range of obstacles besetting the transitions away from administrative planning in the former communist regimes in the eastern part of Europe It is self contained however As such it specifically addresses issues revolving around how best to govern economies and indeed societies more generally that are undergoing fundamental structural transformation and whether industrial policy can facilitate progressing with the vexing transformations that will have to be enacted over a protracted period of time Because of the bewildering variety of hindrances that the managers of the transition have been confronted with many of which were not even contemplated when the programs were first designed regaining a measure of good governance including notably good economic governance is critical in formulating a positive political economy of transition. Arguably most critical is steering the processes of destruction and creation not creative destruction in the Schumpeterian sense. In some cases this requires reallocating decommissioned resources both capital and labor to new activities. Changing rules on the utilization of existing assets is evidently at the core of what the transition towards market based economic systems should be all about. Very often however this requires establishing new economic activities from domestic and foreign savings. Democratic Transition in Asia Muthiah

Alagappa, 1994 Institutional Change in Southeast Asia Fredrik Sjöholm, Jose L. Tongzon, 2005 Institutional Change in Southeast Asia examines the institutional changes taking place in and challenges facing the region since 1997. The book focuses on determinants to the adjustments and on implementations of the reforms. It also describes various differences in the reform process between countries in the region. Southeast Asia's economic development over the last decades has been impressive. Most of the region achieved consistently high growth rates accompanied by significant structural transformation and industrialization, poverty alleviation and improvements in their overall standard of living as indicated by such social indicators as greater longevity, more widespread delivery of basic education and lower infant mortality rates. However the crisis that struck Southeast Asia in 1997 had severe economic, social and political consequences in the region. It also threw into doubt the future economic prosperity of the countries in Southeast Asia and raised intriguing questions about the quality of their institutions and their approach to economic development. Sjöholm and Tongzon argue that the economies of Southeast Asia need to reform their institutions if the previous rapid development is to continue. The institutional weaknesses have been addressed to different degrees and with different success in the affected countries. Against the backdrop of Southeast Asia's importance in the world economy it is hardly possible to overestimate the need to understand this process of change. The Industrial Policy Revolution II J. Esteban, J. Stiglitz, Justin Lin Yifu, 2013-12-13 This volume is the result of the 2012

International Economic Association's series of roundtables on the theme of Industrial Policy. The first New Thinking on Industrial Policy was hosted by the World Bank in Washington D C and the second New Thinking on Industrial Policy Implications for Africa was held in Pretoria South Africa. Development Centre Studies Policy Coherence Towards East Asia Development Challenges for OECD Countries OECD Development Centre, 2005-11-17 This book looks at the impact of OECD country policies on East Asia in trade, investment, agriculture, finance, aid, macroeconomic policies and regional co-operation. Further it examines the interaction of OECD country policies and their coherence with each other.

Eastern and Western Ideas for African Growth Kenichi Ohno, Izumi Ohno, 2013-05-29 The West and the East approach economic development differently. The Europeans and Americans stress free and fair business climate promoting private activities generally without picking winners and improving governance. East Asia is interested in achieving concrete results and projects rather than formal correctness, prioritizing a few sectors for industrialization and eventual graduation from aid.

The West mostly shapes shifting strategies of the international donor community while the East has in reality made remarkable progress in industrial catch up The two approaches cannot be merged easily but they can be used in proper combination to realize growth and economic transformation This book proposes more dialogue and complementarity between the two in the development effort of Africa and other regions In this collected volume contributed by experts and practitioners from both East and West the need to introduce Eastern ideas to the global development strategy is emphasized Analysis of British and other Western donor policies is given while Japanese Korean and other Asian approaches are also explained with concrete examples The concept of governance for growth is presented and the impact of rising China on development studies is contemplated The practices of industrial policy dialogues and actions assisted by East Asian experts are reported from Tunisia Zambia Ethiopia Rwanda and others The book should be applicable to all donors institutions NGOs and business enterprises engaged in development cooperation

From Windfall to Curse? Jonathan Di John, 2015-12-21 Since the discovery of abundant oil resources in the 1920s Venezuela has had an economically privileged position among the nations of Latin America which has led to its being treated by economic and political analysts as an exceptional case In her well known study of Venezuela s political economy The Paradox of Plenty 1997 Stanford political scientist Terry Karl argued that this oil wealth induced extraordinary corruption rent seeking and centralized intervention that resulted in restricting productivity and growth What this and other studies of Venezuela s economy fail to explain however is how such conditions have accompanied both growth and stagnation at different periods of Venezuela s history and why countries experiencing similar levels of corruption and rent seeking produce divergent developmental outcomes By investigating the record of economic development in Venezuela from 1920 to the present Jonathan Di John shows that the key to explaining why the economy performed much better between 1920 and 1980 than in the post 1980 period is to understand how political strategies interacted with economic strategies specifically how politics determined state capacity at any given time and how the stage of development and development strategies affected the nature of political conflicts In emphasizing the importance of an approach that looks at the political economy not just at the economy alone Di John advances the field methodologically while he contributes to a long needed history of Venezuela s economic performance in the twentieth century

Globalizing Regional Development in East Asia Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2013-09-13 Significant historical and geographical differences account for the many processes and trajectories of regional development in East Asia These historical and geographical specificities in East Asia have prompted serious re examination of existing theories in regional development and in particular the new regionalism approach associated with such ideas as the learning region institutional thickness relational assets and regional innovation system This book brings together a group of leading researchers specializing in local and regional development in East Asian economies Through in depth empirical studies of specific regions and localities these authors offer fresh and innovative perspectives on how regions evolve and develop over time in the world s most dynamic macro regional economy In particular their work points to the critical importance of local and trans local processes in shaping regional development trajectories The book is timely given that the debate on the nature and dynamics of regional development in both academic and policy circles has now moved on From the earlier focus on endogenous regional assets such as localized networks of association and trust scholars and policymakers are now analyzing the complex relationship between economic globalization and regional change This high calibre collection makes a significant contribution to the literature on local and regional development in Asia and provides an important resource for researchers students and policy makers interested in East Asia This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Public Administration in Southeast Asia Evan M. Berman, 2017-09-25 While public administration practice and education in general has become considerably professionalized in the last decade existing knowledge on public administration in Southeast Asia is fragmented at best and often devoid of a useful reference While journal articles and government reports provide decentralized information Public Administration in Southeast Asia Thailand Philippines Malaysia Hong Kong and Macao takes a comprehensive and comparative look at the major components of administration systems The selection of countries and regions included reflects the diversity of Southeast Asia Organized by Country The handbook fills a critical need by bringing together leading scholars who provide an insider perspective and viewpoint on essential and advanced issues Divided into five sections each dedicated to a particular country the text outlines topics relevant to modern public administration including History and Political Context of Public Administration Decentralization and Local Governance Public Ethics and Corruption Performance Management Reforms Civil Service System Focusing on recent developments in public administration in these countries which are among the fastest growing economies in the world the book explores their practices and innovative approaches in public administration For many years people have been fascinated by the cultures peoples and governments of Southeast Asia and now they have a book that discusses the apparatus of government in Southeast Asia their agencies contexts processes and values

Towards a Learning State Ferid Belhaj, Roberta Gatti, Daniel Lederman, Hoda Assen, Ernest John Sergenti, Rana Lotfi, Mennatallah Mousa, 2022-10-06 The MENA region is facing important vulnerabilities which the current crises first the pandemic then the war in Ukraine have exacerbated Prices of food and energy are higher hurting the most vulnerable and rising interest rates from the global tightening of monetary policy are making debt service more burdensome Part I explores some of the resulting vulnerabilities for MENA MENA countries are facing diverging paths for future growth Oil Exporters have seen windfall increases in state revenues from the rise in hydrocarbon prices while oil importers face heightened stress and risk from higher import bills especially for food and energy and the depreciation of local currencies in some countries Part II of this report argues that poor governance and in particular the lack of government transparency and accountability is at the root of the region's development failings including low growth exclusion of the most disadvantaged and women and overuse of such precious natural resources as land and water
