Political Cultures In Democratic South Africa Discubion Paper Nordic Africa Institute:

Political Cultures in Democratic South Africa M. Neocosmos, Raymond Suttner, Ian Taylor, 2002 The contributions to this Discussion Paper reflect upon different but related aspects of South African democracy after Apartheid as represented in a variety of social forces institutions and individuals They illustrate that societies in transition have to make sustained efforts to overcome the legacies of the past and that the present reproduces some of the past structural constraints and patterns of power and control in the new framework The contri butions were originally presented to a workshop organized in Cape Town in December 2001

Media, Public Discourse and Political Contestation in Zimbabwe Henning Melber, 2004 The current situation in Zimbabwe under the ZANU PF government shows increasing signs of abuse of power by those in political control They also direct their desire to suppress criticism towards the media Press organizations in private ownership have been closed down and journalists have been physically harassed arrested and expelled Laws are abused to regulate and manipulate public opinion by a policy of banning Worldwide condemnation of the growing restrictions upon the freedom of expression goes hand in hand with the protests inside the country against the growing tendencies of totalitarian rule Current events are critically reflected upon and the background to these developments is summarized in this publication It is based on some of the contributions to a recent conference on Zimbabwe organized by the Nordic Africa Institute and offers insights into the contested space of public opinion in Zimbabwe The critical analyses of current developments are there by complemented with particular reference to the media sector in the ongoing battle for hegemonic control over the public sphere

Re-examining Liberation in Namibia Henning Melber, 2003 From 1960 SWAPO of Nami bia led the organised and later armed struggle for indepen dence In late 1989 the libera tion movement was finally elected to power under United Nations supervision as the legitimate government When the Republic of Namibia was proclaimed on 21 March 1990 the long and bitter struggle for sovereignty came to an end This volume takes stock of emerging trends in the country s political culture since independence The contributions mainly by authors from Namibia and Southern Africa who supported the anti colonial movements critically explore the achieve ments and shortcomings that have been part of liberation in Namibia Henning Melber was Director of the Namibian Economic Policy Research Unit NEPRU in Windhoek between 1992 and 2000 and has been Research Director at The Nordic Africa Institute since then He coordinates the research project on Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa of which this volume is part

Limits to Liberation in Southern Africa Henning Melber, 2003 The analyses in this collection provide a basis for a debate that is becoming increasingly necessary has the politics of liberation in southern Africa run its course With chapters on Zimbabwe Namibia Lesotho Botswana and South Africa the contributors pose a number of critical questions Why is it that post liberation politics rather than leading to participatory democracy seem to be leading to political oppression and decay Are liberation politics inherently undemocratic or are current tendencies towards authoritarianism an outcome of other forces Is the model of liberal democracy adopted by post liberation societies inherently elitist lending itself to the effective suppression or containment of popular opinions and aspirations

Democratic Reform in Africa Emmanuel Gyimah-Boadi, 2004 After more than a decade of reform efforts in Africa much of the optimism over the continent's prospects has been replaced by widespread Afropessimism But to what extent is either view well founded Democratic Reform in Africa plumbs the key issues in the contemporary African experience including intrastate conflict corruption and the development of civil society highlighting the challenges and evaluating the progress of political and economic change Case studies of Botswana Mozambique Nigeria and South Africa complement the thematic chapters exploring the interactions between democracy and development

Taking Ethno-Cultural Diversity Seriously in Constitutional Design Solomon A. Dersso, 2012-11-08 Despite decades of nation building exercise ethnic based claims for substantive equality justice and equitable political inclusion and socio economic order continue to result in communal rivalries These are claims that define and represent the issue of minorities in Africa of which these conflicts are manifestations Although ethnic conflicts in Africa have been a subject of a large number of studies the potential and role of norms on minority rights to address claims that ethno cultural groups raise has not received the attention it deserves Based on materials from normative political theory and international human rights law and using an empirical and prescriptive analysis this book defends a robust system of minority rights built around culture equality and self determination This is employed to elaborate an adequate constitutional design providing policy frameworks multilingual language policy recognition and affirmation of cultural diversity structures that ensure just representation and participation of members of all groups and norms that guarantee substantive equality and the rights to language religion and culture The study then proffers two cases studies South Africa and Ethiopia to ascertain how such constitutional design might be translated into actual policy frameworks institutions and norms

African Parliaments M. Salih, 2005-12-10 This book offers in depth analysis of parliamentary development set in a historical context informed by Africa's post 1990s democratic resurgence In particular it illustrates how African parliaments are caught between the twin processes of being part of the machinery of government while exercising the function of holding government accountable

Towards Democratic Development States in Southern Africa Kanyenze, Godfrey, Jauch, Herbert, 2016-12-14 The dawn of the twenty first century heralded an apparent change of fortunes for most sub Saharan African economies with annual growth averaging over 5% for fifteen years However this was not accompanied by structural transformation poverty food insecurity unemployment and inequality persist Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neoliberal economic policies it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state What steps if any do they need to take in order to become one The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa Botswana Namibia Zimbabwe Angola and Malawi Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development      Global Security Watch—Sudan Richard A. Lobban Jr.,2010-09-02 This book provides an overview of contemporary issues in Sudan Africa s largest nation examining the country s history and current scene to help readers develop a deeper understanding of how much Sudan matters in today s world With deep connections to the Sahel and savanna to the west the African world to the south the Horn of Africa to the east and the Middle East to the north Sudan is important strategically legally geopolitically and militarily but too often overlooked or underestimated Sudan the country of residence of Osama bin Laden for six years has played and will continue to play a significant role in worldwide security matters An analysis of the causes resolutions and implications of the ongoing Sudanese conflicts including the genocide in Darfur this book is essential reading for policymakers researchers and students alike This book considers Sudan s historical foundations examining how the agendas of countries to the south east and north have influenced Sudan s people and government The author also explains the origins and context of the Darfur conflict laying out possible steps toward a resolution Questions concerning Sudanese oil where is it how much is there to whom does it belong help focus any discussion of Sudan s emerging importance in the contemporary world Other issues such as the influence of Islamism or the Sudanese activities of the Arab League China or the African Union underline the uncertainties that confront the people of Sudan today

Democratization and Competitive Authoritarianism in Africa Matthijs Bogaards,Sebastian Elischer,2016-02-26 The special issue revisits Levitsky and Way s seminal study on Competitive Authoritarianism 2010 The contributions by North American European and African scholars deepen our understanding of the emergence trajectories and outcomes of hybrid regimes across the African continent      Measuring Democracy and Human Rights in Southern Africa Yul Derek Davids,2002 Attitudes Among the Youth      Popular Politics and Resistance Movements in South Africa William Beinart,Marcelle C. Dawson,2010-12-01 An examination of post apartheid politics This volume explores some of the key features of popular politics and resistance before and after 1994 It looks at continuities and changes in the forms of struggle and ideologies involved as well as the significance of post apartheid grassroots politics Is this a new form of politics or does it stand as a direct descendent of the insurrectionary impulses of the late apartheid era Posing questions about continuity and change before and after 1994 raises key issues concerning the nature of power and poverty in the country Contributors suggest that expressions of popular politics are deeply set within South African political culture and still have the capacity to influence political outcomes The introduction by William Beinart links the papers together places them in context of recent literature on popular politics and history from below and summarises their main findings supporting the argument that popular politics outside of the party system remain significant in South Africa and help influence national politics The roots of this collection lie in post graduate student research conducted at the University of Oxford in the early twenty first century

The Rise of Africa's Middle Class Henning Melber,2016-12-15 Across Africa a burgeoning middle class has become the poster child for the Africa rising narrative Ambitious aspirational and increasingly affluent this group is said to embody the values and hopes of the new Africa with international bodies ranging from the United Nations Development Programme to the World Bank regarding them as important agents of both economic development and democratic change This narrative however obscures the complex and often ambiguous role that this group actually plays in African societies Bringing together economists political scientists anthropologists and development experts and spanning a variety of case studies from across the continent this collection provides a much needed corrective to the received wisdom within development circles and provides a fresh perspective on social transformations in contemporary Africa

The Roots of Ethnic Conflict in Africa
Wanjala S. Nasong'o, 2016-01-26 This book focuses on the problem of ethnic conflict in Africa and seeks to explain its root causes The main thesis of the book is that ethnic political mobilization is essentially a function of deeply felt grievances on the part of the groups so mobilized

Anti-Refugee Violence and African Politics Ato Kwamena Onoma, 2013-10-07
Using comparative cases from Guinea Uganda and the Democratic Republic of Congo this study explains why some refugee hosting communities launch large scale attacks on civilian refugees whereas others refrain from such attacks even when encouraged to do so by state officials Ato Kwamena Onoma argues that such outbreaks only happen when states instigate them because of links between a few refugees and opposition groups Locals embrace these attacks when refugees are settled in areas that privilege residence over indigeneity in the distribution of rights ensuring that they live autonomously of local elites The resulting opacity of their lives leads locals to buy into their demonization by the state Locals do not buy into state denunciation of refugees in areas that privilege indigeneity over residence in the distribution of rights because refugees in such areas are subjugated to locals who come to know them very well Onoma reorients the study of refugees back to a focus on the disempowered civilian refugees that constitute the majority of refugees even in cases of severe refugee militarization

Fault-lines in South African Democracy Fred Hendricks, 2003 The transition from apartheid to democracy in South Africa has raised questions on the one hand about the tension between the imperatives of justice and equality and on the other reconciliation Transforming the decades old apartheid system under conditions of a political compromise has turned out to be a formidable challenge This paper is about the complexity of the transformation process going on in South Africa Although too early for a real assessment of the experiment the tensions dilemmas contradictions paradoxes and some of the changes have already begun to manifest themselves The paper shows how political deals affect the administration of justice and how they impinge upon the nature of democracy often by frustrating efforts to realise social goals in the post authoritarian phase It also raises the fundamental question of the broader necessities for the long term survival of democracy in South Africa

Zimbabwe Suzanne Dansereau, Mario Zamponi, 2005 The two articles are revised versions of papers presented at the end of May 2004 to a Zimbabwe Conference at the Nordic Africa Institute which was co organized by the project Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa LiDeSA They highlight current socio economic aspects of Zimbabwean society By doing so they raise relevant issues yet ones that have tended to be neglected given the almost exclusive concentration on political events While this is understandable the articles fill the gap in our knowledge and add insights into important sectors of society These include information on the Zimbabwean economy and the present constraints of the decline which together help us to understand the structural legacy that any future government will have to deal with What is more the elections in Zimbabwe in 2005 provide an ideal moment to discuss such matters This Discussion Paper will thereby make a substantive contribution to the analysis of the overall picture in Zimbabwe Regulating Mining in Africa Bonnie K. Campbell, 2004 Liberalisation of the mining sector in Africa in the 1980s a developmental perspective II Afriche e orienti, 2006 Development from Below Reinhart Kössler, Henning Melber, Per Strand, 2003 Covers aspects of rebuilding post apartheid society with particular reference to marginalized groups the Nama Outlines the event of the annual Festival at Gibeon commemorating a political manifestation started by Kaptein Hendrik Witbooi in 1930 Following the main paper Reflections on Heroes Day by R Kössler gives the rejoinders The local and the global a comment by P Strand and Nama or Namibian by H Melber
