

Political Memoir, Celebrity, and the Reclamation of Feminism: Gendered Self-representation in Julia Gillard's My Story and Hillary Clinton's What Happened

ANTHEA TAYLOR

Abstract

Offering a close textual analysis of My Story (2014), the memoir of Australia's first woman Prime Minister, Julia Gillard, and What Happened (2017), by the 2016 US Democratic Presidential nominee, Hillary Clinton, this article explores their attempts—as is becoming common for celebrities—to use the memoir form to attempt to regain some control over their public personas and their feminisms. Focusing on the kind of feminist selves they seek to bring into being through these memoirs, this article examines the rhetorical strategies they each deploy to disrupt the dominant gendered narratives that came to circulate during their time in power and beyond.

Introduction

As a form of self-representation for women in the public spotlight, celebrity feminist life writing has increased significantly over the past five to ten years. Celebrity, as I have argued previously, has long been a significant political resource for feminism (Celebrity 3), but given the increased number of celebrities publicly self-identifying as feminist (Hamad and Taylor 124), memoirs indebted to feminist politics and discursive frameworks are being routinely produced by actors, comedians, journalists, and musicians. Political Memoir:

Political Memoir George W. Egerton, 1994 The genre of political memoir has a long history from its origins in classical times through its popularity in the age of courts and cabinets to its ubiquity in modern mass cultures where retired politicians increasingly attract large and eager readerships for their revelations Yet there is virtually no scholarly criticism which treats this complex form of literature as a distinct genre fusing autobiographical historical and political elements The essays in this book draw together the collaborative findings of a team of British European American and Canadian scholars to present a pioneering historical and critical study of the genre of political memoir analysing the development of its distinct functions and assessing leading memoirists in European American Canadian Indian and Japanese societies The editor George Egerton introduces the volume and surveys the principal features of the genre over its long history Otto Pflanze analyses the memoirs of Bismarck Robert Young Milton Israel Joshua Mostow and Robert Bothwell study the memoir literature of France India Japan and Canada respectively Barry Gough and Tim Travers look at naval and military memoirists while Zara Steiner B J C McKercher and Valerie Cromwell assess the memoirs of diplomats and their families Leonidas Hill examines the memoirs of leading Nazis John Munro Francis Heller and Robert Ferrell convey inside information on the making of memoirs notably by the Canadian Prime Ministers Diefenbaker and Pearson and the American President Truman Stephen Ambrose assays Nixon as memoirist while Janos Bak portrays the status of memoirists under totalitarian regimes Wesley Wark and John Naylor analyse the proliferation of intelligence memoirs and government efforts to protect official secrets from the revelations of the candid memoirist The principal findings reached by the contributors in their study of this problematic but influential genre are set out by the editor in the concluding chapter
