The Political Economy of Environmental Protection Horst Siebert, Ariane Berthoin Antal, 1979 Building a Black Criminology, Volume 24 James D. Unnever, Shaun L. Gabbidon, Cecilia Chouhy, 2018-10-26 In light of the Black Lives Matter movement and protests in many cities race plays an ever more salient role in crime and justice Within theoretical criminology however race has oddly remained on the periphery It is often introduced as a control variable in tests of theories and is rarely incorporated as a central construct in mainstream paradigms e g control social learning and strain theories When race is discussed the standard approach is to embrace the racial invariance thesis which argues that any racial differences in crime are due to African Americans being exposed to the same criminogenic risk factors as are Whites just more of them An alternative perspective has emerged that seeks to identify the unique racially specific conditions that only Blacks experience Within the United States these conditions are rooted in the historical racial oppression experienced by African Americans whose contemporary legacy includes concentrated disadvantage in segregated communities racial socialization by parents experiences with and perceptions of racial discrimination and disproportionate involvement in and unjust treatment by the criminal justice system Importantly racial invariance and race specificity are not mutually exclusive perspectives Evidence exists that Blacks and Whites commit crimes for both the same reasons invariance and for different reasons race specific A full understanding of race and crime thus must involve demarcating both the general and specific causes of crime the latter embedded in what it means to be Black in the United States This volume seeks to explore these theoretical issues in a depth and breadth that is not common under one cover Again given the salience of race and crime this volume should be of interest to a wide range of criminologists and have the potential to be used in graduate seminars and upper level undergraduate courses

1650-1850 Kevin L. Cope, 2019-04-01 With issue twenty four of 1650 1850 this annual enters its second quarter century with a new publisher a new look a new editorial board and a new commitment to intellectual and artistic exploration As the diversely inventive essays in this first issue from the Bucknell University Press demonstrate the energy and open mindedness that made 1650 1850 a success continue to intensify This first Bucknell issue includes a special feature that explores the use of sacred space in what was once incautiously called the age of reason A suite of book reviews renews the 1650 1850 legacy of full length and unbridled evaluation of the best in contemporary Enlightenment scholarship These lively and informative reviews celebrate the many years that book review editor Baerbel Czennia has served 1650 1850 and also make for an able handoff to Samara Anne Cahill of Nanyang Technological University who will edit the book review section beginning with our next volume Most important of all this issue serves as an invitation to scholars to offer their most creative and thoughtful work for consideration for publication in 1650 1850 About the annual journal 1650 1850 1650 1850 publishes essays and reviews from and about a wide range of academic disciplines literature both in English and other languages philosophy art history history religion and science Interdisciplinary in scope and approach 1650 1850 emphasizes aesthetic manifestations and applications of ideas and encourages studies that move between the arts and the sciences between the hard and the humane disciplines The editors encourage proposals for special features that bring together five to seven essays on focused themes within its historical range from the Interregnum to the end of the first generation of Romantic writers While also being open to more specialized or particular studies that match up with the general themes and goals of the journal 1650 1850 is in the first instance a journal about the artful presentation of ideas that welcomes good writing from its contributors First published in 1994 1650 1850 is currently in its 24th volume ISSN 1065 3112 Published by Bucknell University Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press     The Economics of Exploration for Energy Resources James Bernard Ramsey,1981     Chinese (Taiwan) Yearbook of International Law and Affairs, Volume 24 (2006) ,2020-02-03 The Chinese Taiwan Yearbook of International Law and Affairs commenced publication in 1981 under the auspices of the Chinese Taiwan Society of International Law The Yearbook publishes on multi disciplinary topics with a focus on international and comparative law issues regarding Taiwan Mainland China and the Asia Pacific region The Yearbook is one of the foremost publications in the world concentrating on issues of greater China     Saudi Arabia's Economy Hossein Askari,Babak Dastmaltschi,1990     Environmental Justice Paul Thompson,2017-09-29 Environmental justice is one of the most controversial and important issues in contemporary social science Volume 8 of the Energy and Environmental Policy series challenges our understanding of environmental justice in a global context It includes theoretical investigations and case studies by leading authors in the field Global forces of technology and the development of global markets are transforming social life and the natural order These changes require a critical examination of nature society relations Increasingly modernization assigns the risks of modernity to those with the least power and greatest vulnerability to environmental harm Conventional environmentalism which focuses on critique of the effects of humanity against nature is inadequate to the challenges of globalization In particular it fails to explain sources of persistent patterns of social injustice that accompany escalating environmental exploitation As the capacity for environmental destruction expands broader concerns about environmental injustice have come to the fore including awareness of threats to whole cultures ways of life and entire ecologies The volume s authors consider the links between expanded patterns of environmental injustice and the structures and forces underlying and shaping the international political economy Environmental injustice is examined across a variety of cultures in the developed and developing world Through case studies of climate colonialism revolutionary ecology and environmental commodification the global and local dimensions of the problem are presented The latest volume in this important series demonstrates that environmental justice cannot be reduced to simple parables of indifference prejudice or appropriation It forges understanding of environmental injustice as a development of international political economy itself Likewise initiatives on behalf of environmental justice are seen as elements of broader movements to secure self determination in a globalizing world This book will be of interest to policymakers energy and environmental experts and all those interested in the environment and environmental law It provides new perspectives on the place of environmental justice in international political and economic conflict      Dimensions of Energy Economics Noel D. Uri,1981 This theoretical and econometric analysis of some aspects of energy economics examines the price and allocation of electricity the regulation of the industry demand and peak demand for fuel Also models price quantity causality in the U S crude oil industry and appraises the impact of price and technological change      The Political Economy of Environmental Protection Roger D. Congleton,1996 Examines the political and economic factors that generate environmental policy

Environmental Justice Paul Thompson,2017-09-29 Environmental justice is one of the most controversial and important issues in contemporary social science Volume 8 of the Energy and Environmental Policy series challenges our understanding of environmental justice in a global context It includes theoretical investigations and case studies by leading authors in the field Global forces of technology and the development of global markets are transforming social life and the natural order These changes require a critical examination of nature society relations Increasingly modernization assigns the risks of modernity to those with the least power and greatest vulnerability to environmental harm Conventional environmentalism which focuses on critique of the effects of humanity against nature is inadequate to the challenges of globalization In particular it fails to explain sources of persistent patterns of social injustice that accompany escalating environmental exploitation As the capacity for environmental destruction expands broader concerns about environmental injustice have come to the fore including awareness of threats to whole cultures ways of life and entire ecologies The volume s authors consider the links between expanded patterns of environmental injustice and the structures and forces underlying and shaping the international political economy Environmental injustice is examined across a variety of cultures in the developed and developing world Through case studies of climate colonialism revolutionary ecology and environmental commodification the global and local dimensions of the problem are presented The latest volume in this important series demonstrates that environmental justice cannot be reduced to simple parables of indifference prejudice or appropriation It forges understanding of environmental injustice as a development of international political economy itself Likewise initiatives on behalf of environmental justice are seen as elements of broader movements to secure self determination in a globalizing world This book will be of interest to policymakers energy and environmental experts and all those interested in the environment and environmental law It provides new perspectives on the place of environmental justice in international political and economic conflict      Entrepreneurship, Equity, and Economic Development E. Wayne Nafziger,1986

Marxism and Ecological Economics Paul Burkett,2006-03-01 This book undertakes the first general assessment of ecological economics from a Marxist point of view and shows how Marxist political economy can make a substantial contribution to ecological economics The analysis is developed in terms of four basic issues 1 nature and economic value 2 the treatment of nature as capital 3 the significance of the entropy law for economic systems 4 the concept of sustainable development In each case it is shown that Marxism can help ecological economics fulfill its commitments to multi disciplinarity methodological pluralism and historical openness In this way a foundation is constructed for a substantive dialogue between Marxists and ecological economists
