

lation. The instruments of torture are also manifestations of architecture as a just war and for all replacing the obsolete man and putting poetic destruction in place of technological building.

I take one more step...

AFTER AN UNSURPASSABLE period in the depths I am rescued by a dazzling altar. My earlier perception in the mysterious labyrinth must have occurred without external light! I moved toward the brighter chamber, in the distance I can see a beam of sunlight. The darkness of death is indeed commensurate with the blindness of selfish, the perception inside the egg. What happiness! What pleasure! My heart, close to annihilation and despair is lost, recovers its composure. The hope of finding Polya once more dictates my speech.

The center of the chamber is occupied by a horizontal slab of human proportions that seems to hover in the dim space. Around it, still deeper in shadow, hark two or three vertical manly figures with industrial features. I am reminded by polearms and scorpions and also small round mechanical systems in aspects... The figures resemble statues of men with green, muscle-building springs and other surgical instruments. From one side on the table are four thick pieces of cord and a white silk scarf, surrounding the blood stained legaments of the angel's body. From the other side the tangential point between zero and infinity is occupied by the angles of a fragmented column on the horizon.

Angels and angels? The first of two complementary discourses suggests that the labyrinth may be perceived differently if entered from the exit. Perhaps sometime before a woman had pursued a quest similar to mine but in reverse and had degenerated into a man after she had either offered herself or was forced to lie on the sacrificial table in the central chamber where I presently stand. According to several windows, women are easily degenerate into men because they have so much ladder within the body as men have exposed outside. Young pubescent girls were also observed to reveal what was concealed within, and this was deemed to be nature's way to perfection... The reciprocal degeneration is only possible by a system of contractions. In the distance nature is disclosed as a human construction. As in the true human nature, our only means to grasp the essence of Creation.

The central position of the operating table as a seat of darkness, of the purely spiritual and ascending regions of alchemy, is both corroborated and denied by a second revolution. On the slab's other long side an artist's quivering table of seat of creation is accompanied by a mirror that reflects the mirrored land, whereas the ray of sunlight emanates. This is truly the vision of a new world.

How can what is with certainty and realize that, if necessary, I will create whatever has not exist. How long time I have felt the void but have been unwilling to shut myself out of it. I believed I was refusing the world. I now recognize that I am refusing the void. For I know this world does not exist and I know how it does not exist. There was my suffering has consisted in rejecting the total without understanding that the void is already within me. The sharp angles and straightened perception of the reflected landscape remind me that the Dragon will never be killed, slain and obliterated! At present, though, hope must proceed in an order less intense over the close. The goddess was probably seduced by Python, seeking for as of her union and her mind is now in the shallow serpent's body. I am obviously not lost but feel that I have been separated from existing being. Transcendent love may as large as possible, but there must be something else. Writing always in the past seemed to be the only option...

I leave the altar behind and continue toward the light. It seems to recede into the far distance... Quite unexpectedly, convulsions shake my body. Feeling a superhuman effort with my legs and arms, I emerge upward through a tight orifice.

Polyphilo Or The Dark Forest Revisited An Erotic Epiphany Of Architecture:

Polyphilo, Or, The Dark Forest Revisited Alberto Pa(c)Rez-Ga3mez, Alberto Pérez Gómez, 1994 Departing from the conventional genres of architectural writing this book is a completely original reflection on the erotics of architecture Perez Gomez retells the love story of the famous Renaissance novel treatise Hypnerotomachia Poliphili in late twentieth century terms The original work long a cult book among architects takes place in a forest In the retelling the forest has been replaced by the high tech environment of appliances and airports Both versions exist somewhere in the borderland between fiction theory and pornography

Polyphilo, Or, The Dark Forest Revisited Alberto Pérez Gómez, 1992 Departing from the conventional genres of architectural writing this book is a completely original reflection on the erotics of architecture Perez Gomez retells the love story of the famous Renaissance novel treatise Hypnerotomachia Poliphili in late twentieth century terms The original work long a cult book among architects takes place in a forest In the retelling the forest has been replaced by the high tech environment of appliances and airports Both versions exist somewhere in the borderland between fiction theory and pornography

Polyphilo, Or, The Dark Forest Revisited Alberto Pérez Gómez, 1992 The original hero of Hypnerotomachia Poliphilo is lost in a dark forest searching for his lover Polia for harmony and order in a vast maze of ruined antiquities caverns pyramids theaters and temples that are described with an almost fanatic erudition and unbridled lust This modern version of the tale imaginatively frames our own dark forest in terms of the technology that has become our nature The hero finds himself in the most inhospitable and uncontrollable of spaces the space of contemporary travel in an airport and in flight His voyage does not take him to real buildings but rather to a jungle of deconstructivist forms metal grids plastic domes computer hardware blueprints construction sites and paintings where the erotic roots of architectural meaning are disclosed and the limitations of a world subjugated by doctrine and tradition are revealed The sites visited range from the Carceri of Piranesi and the works of Ledoux Boullee and Lequeu to recent theoretical and architectural projects by Hejduk Rossi Libeskind and Eisenman Googlebooks

Reflections on Architecture, Society and Politics Graham Cairns, 2016-10-04 Reflections on Architecture Society and Politics brings together a series of thirteen interview articles by Graham Cairns in collaboration with some of the most prominent polemic thinkers and critical practitioners from the fields of architecture and the social sciences including Noam Chomsky Peggy Deamer Robert A M Stern Daniel Libeskind and Kenneth Frampton Each chapter explores the relationship between architecture and socio political issues through discussion of architectural theories and projects citing specific issues and themes that have led to and will shape the various aspects of the current and future built environment Ranging from Chomsky's examination of the US Mexico border as the architecture of oppression to Robert A M Stern's defence of projects for the Disney corporation and George W Bush this book places politics at the center of issues within contemporary architecture

Experimental Architecture Rachel Armstrong, 2019-06-11 In this ground breaking book the first to provide an overview of the theory and practice of experimental architecture Rachel Armstrong explores how interdisciplinary design led research practices are beginning to redefine the possibilities of architecture as a profession Drawing on experts from disciplines as varied as information technology mathematics poetry graphic design scenography bacteriology marine applied science and robotics Professor Armstrong delineates original cutting edge architectural experiments through essays quotes poetry equations and stories Written by an acknowledged pioneer of architectural experiment this visionary book is ideal for students and researchers wishing to engage in experimental practice based architectural and artistic research It introduces radical new ideas about architecture and provides ideas and inspiration which students and researchers can apply in their own work and proposals while practitioners can draw on it to transform their creative assumptions and develop thereby a distinctive edge to stand out in a highly competitive profession Shelley's Textual Seductions Samuel Lyndon Gladden, 2016-01-08 First published in 2002 This book surveys how and to what effect Shelley uses erotic narratives to mask political rhetoric within his attempts to describe and bring forth utopia Posing erotic relationships as both an exemplar of the inequities of power and a paradigm for alternative social orders that dismantle oppressive structures it argues Shelley's work imagines a space where the rigidity of tyranny succumbs to the liberation of ecstatic union From the Romantics to the Aesthetes it argues that this model contributed to a counter tradition in British literature which situates the erotic as a trope for political discourse This work will be of interest to students of literature

Architectonics of Poiësis Simina Anamaria Lörincz, 2024-06-10 This volume explores the meaning of the architectural creative act following the dynamics of the relationship between creator creative act creation and the way in which architecture is defined over time as a creative act both material and symbolic Two protagonists Antonio Averlino Filarete and Christopher Alexander are singled out under the guiding concepts of poesis and poeta faber The book initiates a dialogue over time between their works and concepts engaging two cultures the Renaissance and the contemporary symbolically chosen for their importance in redefining the profession through the prism of its relation to the architectural creative act The core idea revolves around rediscovering the humanistic approach to architecture in and for the contemporary context and using it in order to better understand architectural creation This text appeals to students and researchers working in the history and theory of architecture product industrial design and semiotics

The Architect's Dream Sean Pickersgill, 2023-09-29 Sean Pickersgill demonstrates that the goal of creating meaningful architecture can take a variety of critical and philosophical paths The importance of architecture as an expression of broad complex social drivers is complemented by the equally popular idea that architecture as an intellectual pursuit retains its own autonomy as a self-referential culture This book uniquely places the emphasis for innovation in architecture within the domain of critical thinking generally and a specific understanding of the semantics of built form The book draws on a broad range of subject areas from film to philosophy to anthropology to mathematics and economics to show that the path to meaningful creative practice is always based in an understanding of the principal drivers for change and meaning in society It is not a simple recipe book or workshop manual for others to reproduce It requires the engaged reader to employ their own creative abilities to find what potential lies in each of the propositions and it will encourage the scholastic architect to continue to mine the rich veins of intellectual culture to demonstrate the latent purposiveness inherent in all meaningful architecture

The Allegory of Love in the Early Renaissance James Calum O'Neill, 2023-07-31 Described as the most beautiful book ever printed previous research has focused on the printing history of the Hypnerotomachia and its copious literary sources This monograph critically engages with the narrative of the Hypnerotomachia and with Poliphilo as a character within this narrative placing it within its European literary context Using narratological analysis it examines the journey of Poliphilo and the series of symbolic allegorical and metaphorical experiences narrated by him that are indicative of his metamorphosing interiority It analyses the relationship between Poliphilo and his external surroundings in sequences of the narrative pertaining to thresholds the symbolic architectural topographical and garden forms and spaces and Poliphilo's transforming interior passions including his love of antiquarianism language and Polia the latter of which leads to his elegiac description of lovesickness besides examinations of numerosophical symbolism in number form and proportion of the architectural descriptions and how they relate to the narrative

Architecture and Mathematics from Antiquity to the Future Kim Williams, Michael J. Ostwald, 2015-02-11 Every age and every culture has relied on the incorporation of mathematics in their works of architecture to imbue the built environment with meaning and order Mathematics is also central to the production of architecture to its methods of measurement fabrication and analysis This two volume edited collection presents a detailed portrait of the ways in which two seemingly different disciplines are interconnected Over almost 100 chapters it illustrates and examines the relationship between architecture and mathematics Contributors of these chapters come from a wide range of disciplines and backgrounds architects mathematicians historians theoreticians scientists and educators Through this work architecture may be seen and understood in a new light by professionals as well as non professionals Volume II covers architecture from the Late Renaissance era through Baroque Ottoman Enlightenment Modern and contemporary styles and approaches Key figures covered in this volume include Palladio Michelangelo Borromini Sinan Wren Wright Le Corbusier Breuer Niemeyer and Kahn Mathematical themes which are considered include linear algebra tiling and fractals and the geographic span of the volume s content includes works in the United States of America and Australia in addition to those in Europe and Asia

The Structurist, 1999

In-Between: Architectural Drawing and Imaginative Knowledge in Islamic and Western Traditions Hooman Koliji, 2016-03-09 Contemporary technical architectural drawings in establishing a direct relationship between the drawing and its object tend to privilege the visible physical world at the expense of the invisible intangible ideas and concepts including that of the designer s imagination As a result drawing may become a utilitarian tool for documentation devoid of any meaningful value in terms of a kind of knowledge that could potentially link the visible and invisible This book argues that design drawings should be recognized as intermediaries mediating between the world of ideas and the world of things spanning the intangible and tangible The notion of the Imaginal as an intermediary between the invisible and visible is discussed showing how architectural drawings lend themselves to this notion by performing as creative agents contributing not only to the physical world but also penetrating the realm of concepts The book argues that this in between quality to architectural drawing is essential and that it is critical to perceive drawings as subtle bodies that hold physical attributes for example form proportion color highly evocative yet with no matter Focusing on Islamic geometric architectural drawings both historical and contemporary it draws on key philosophical and conceptual notions of imagination from the Islamic tradition as these relate to the creative act In doing so this book not only makes important insights into the design process and act of architectural representation but more broadly it adds to debates on philosophies of the imagination linking both Western and Islamic traditions

Transportable Environments 3 Robert Kronenburg, Filiz Klassen, 2006-03-10 The latest volume in this popular series of books which explores the theoretical basis for temporary and transportable structures where permanence is either not possible or desirable The book provides insight into the wide range of uses of these structures the varied forms they take and the concerns and ideas for future development focusing on portability adaptability sustainability of the built environment and technical innovations A wide range of designed solutions identify and define contemporary directions in design theory and practice With international examples throughout this book will be of interest and value to all those involved in the areas of building design building component manufacture and urban design The Renaissance Perfected D. Medina Lasansky, 2004 Mussolini's bold claims upon the monuments and rhetoric of ancient Rome have been the subject of a number of recent books D Medina Lasansky shows us a much less familiar side of the cultural politics of Italian Fascism tracing its wide ranging efforts to adapt the nation's medieval and Renaissance heritage to satisfy the regime's programs of national regeneration Anyone acquainted with the beauties of Tuscany will be surprised to learn that architects planners and administrators working within Fascist programs fabricated much of what today's tourists admire as authentic Public squares town halls palaces gardens and civic rituals including the famed Palio of Siena were all restored to suit a vision of the past shaped by Fascist notions of virile power social order and national achievement in the arts Ultimately Lasansky forces readers to question long standing assumptions about the Renaissance even as she expands the parameters of what constitutes Fascist culture The arguments in The Renaissance Perfected are based in fresh archival evidence and a rich collection of illustrations many reproduced for the first time ranging from photographs and architectural drawings to tourist posters and film stills Lasansky's groundbreaking book will be essential reading for students of medieval Renaissance and twentieth century Italy as well as all those concerned with visual culture architectural preservation heritage studies and tourism studies

Marcuse John Bokina, Timothy J. Lukes, 1994-04-29 Marcuse brings back to center stage one of the most celebrated and controversial philosophers of the turbulent 1960s the man Time magazine called the guru of the New Left In Reason and Revolution Eros and Civilization One Dimensional Man and other notable works Herbert Marcuse crystallized the essence of counterculture philosophy His neo Marxist critique of Western capitalism was widely embraced by revolutionaries hippies and an entire generation of academics who condemned political economic and sexual repression in American society So complete was Marcuse's identification with the New Left that with its demise he and his works fell out of favor But as this volume persuasively demonstrates Marcuse remains vitally relevant for us today Returning to Marcuse may recall the clash of idealistic exuberance and tragic violence associated with Woodstock Haight Ashbury the Vietnam War 1968 Democratic Convention Kent State and Earth Day as well as the passionate voices of anti war and civil rights protesters environmentalists feminists and free love advocates But this volume does not cater to the simplistic nostalgia of aging baby boomers Fifteen leading Marcuse scholars including Marcuse's son Peter assess the philosopher's ideas in the radically different theoretical and political contexts of the 1990s The range of topics covered is distinctly contemporary Foucault and postmodern theories analytical Marxism and the demise of the Soviet Union women's studies and feminist psychoanalytic theory aesthetic consciousness and postmodern art radical ecology and cybernetic technology and includes Douglas Kellner's revealing first look at the unpublished manuscripts in the Marcuse Archives in Frankfurt Sure to excite liberal as well as irritate conservative culture warriors these provocative essays illuminate the outlines of a Marcuse revival and the Next Left as both emerge to confront the complex challenges of our times

Architecture, Festival and the City Jemma

Browne, Christian Frost, Ray Lucas, 2018-10-26 Historically the urban festival served as an occasion for affirming shared convictions and identities in the life of the city Whether religious or civic in nature these events provided tangible expressions of social cultural political and religious cohesion often reaffirming a particular shared ethos within diverse urban landscapes Architecture has long served as a key aspect of this process exhibiting continuity in the flux of these representations through the parading of elaborate ceremonial floats the construction of temporary buildings the dressing of existing urban space the alternative occupations of the everyday and the construction of new buildings and spaces which then become a part of the background fabric of the city This book examines how festivals can be used as a lens to examine the relationship between city and citizen and questions whether this is fixed through time or has been transformed as a response to changes in the modern urban condition Architecture Festival and the City looks at the multilayered nature of a diverse selection of festivals and the way they incorporate both orderly authoritative and disorderly subversive components The aim is to reveal how the civic nature of urban space is utilised through festival to represent ideas of belonging and identity Recent political and social gatherings also raise questions about the relationship of these events to ritual and whether traditional practices can serve as meaningful references in the twenty first century

Built upon Love Alberto

Perez-Gomez, 2008-02-15 A vision of architecture that transcends concerns of form and function and finds the connections between the architect's wish to design a beautiful world and architecture's imperative to provide a better place for society The forced polarity between form and function in considerations of architecture opposing art to social interests ethics to poetic expression obscures the deep connections between ethical and poetical values in architectural tradition Architecture has been and must continue to be writes Alberto Perez Gomez built upon love Modernity has rightly rejected past architectural excesses but Perez Gomez argues the materialistic and technological alternatives it proposes do not answer satisfactorily the complex desire that defines humanity True architecture is concerned with far more than fashionable form affordable homes and sustainable development it responds to a desire for an eloquent place to dwell one that lovingly provides a sense of order resonant with our dreams In Built upon Love Perez Gomez uncovers the relationship between love and architecture in order to find the points of contact between poetics and ethics between the architect's wish to design a beautiful world and architecture's imperative to provide a better place for society Eros as first imagined by the early lyric poets of classical Greece is the invisible force at the root of our capacity to create and comprehend the poetic image Perez Gomez

mez examines the nature of architectural form in the light of eros seduction and the tradition of the poetic image in Western architecture He charts the ethical dimension of architecture tracing the connections between philia the love of friends that entails mutual responsibility among equals and architectural program He explores the position of architecture at the limits of language and discusses the analogical language of philia in modernist architectural theory Finally he uncovers connections between ethics and poetics describing a contemporary practice of architecture under the sign of love incorporating both eros and philia
