Looking Backward: from 2000 To 1887 Edward Bellamy, 2017-09-14 Looking Backward From 2000 to 1887 book has a beautiful glossy cover and a blank page for the dedication Living as we do in the closing year of the twentieth century enjoying the blessings of a social order at once so simple and logical that it seems but the triumph of common sense it is no doubt difficult for those whose studies have not been largely historical to realize that the present organization of society is in its completeness less than a century old No historical fact is however better established than that till nearly the end of the nineteenth century it was the general belief that the ancient industrial system with all its shocking social consequences was destined to last with possibly a little patching to the end of time How strange and wellnigh incredible does it seem that so prodigious a moral and material transformation as has taken place since then could have been accomplished in so brief an interval The readiness with which men accustom themselves as matters of course to improvements in their condition which when anticipated seemed to leave nothing more to be desired could not be more responded to the end of apartheid to the hopes that attended the birth of the new nation in 1994 and to the inevitable disappointments that have followed The first full length study of affect in South Africa's literature it understands disappointment both as a description of bad feeling and as naming a missed appointment with all that was promised by the anti colonial and anti apartheid Struggle a disappointment Attending to contemporary writers treatment of temporality genre and form it considers a range of negative feelings that are also experiences of temporal disjuncture including stasis impasse boredom disaffection and nostalgia Present Imperfect offers close readings of work by a range of writers some known to international Anglophone readers including J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Ivan Vladislavic and Zo Wicomb some slightly less well known including Afrikaans language novelists Marlene van Niekerk and Ingrid Winterbach and others from a new generation including Songeziwe Mahlangu and Masande Ntshanga It addresses key questions in South African studies about the evolving character of the historical period in which the country now finds itself It is also alert to wider critical and theoretical conversations looking outward to make a case for the place of South African writing in global conversations and mobilizing readings of writing marked in various ways as South African in order to complicate the contours of World Literature as category discipline and pedagogy It is thus also a book about the discontents of neoliberalism the political energies of reading and the fates of literature in our troubled present The Magic Labyrinth Philip Jose
