Sisterhoods Amos Megged, 2020-01-17 Rituals and Sisterhoods reveals the previously under studied world of plebeian single women and single female headed households in colonial Mexican urban centers Focusing on the lower echelons of society Amos Megged considers why some commoner women remained single and established their own female headed households examining their unique discourses and self representations from various angles Megged analyzes these women s life stories recorded during the Spanish Inquisition as well as wills and bequests petitions parish records and private letters that describe in their own words how they exercised agency in male dominated and religious spaces Translations of select documents and accompanying analysis illustrate the conditions in which women dissolved their marriages remained in long lasting extramarital cohabitations and formed female led households and sisterhoods of their own Megged provides evidence that single women in colonial Mexico played a far more active and central role in economic systems social organizations cults and political activism than has been previously thought creating spaces for themselves in which they could initiate and maintain autonomy and values distinct from those of elite society The institutionalization of female headed households in mid colonial Mexico had wide ranging repercussions and effects on general societal values Rituals and Sisterhoods details the particular relevance of these changes to the history of emotions sexuality gender concepts perceptions of marriage life choices and views of honor and shame in colonial society This book will be of significant interest to students and scholars of colonial Latin American history the history of Early Modern Spain and Europe and gender and women s studies U.S.

Structures Pierluigi D'Acunto, Patrick Ole Ohlbrock, Roland Pawlitschko, 2024-04-22 Most of the embodied energy can be saved in the load bearing structure Conceptual Design of Structures is working at the interface between structural engineering architecture and art The book seeks to answer the complex question of what needs to be considered when conceiving a building structure What influences the process of conceptual thinking How do space and structure interact In what ways do architects and engineers work together The book thus sheds light on the topic of multidisciplinary interrelationships in design showing numerous different perspectives Renowned practitioners and researchers from architecture and engineering share their insights as do artists and historians who cross the disciplinary boundaries Furthermore this book also provides an outlook on possible future developments and aspects of sustainable design and construction Bridging practice academic and research Holistic perspectives through contributors from different disciplines Numerous essays interviews and project reviews provide direct insights Selected works from engineering architecture and

Barbaric Civilization Christopher Powell,2011-06-15 From its beginnings in the early twelfth century the Western civilizing process has involved two interconnected transformations the monopolization of military force by sovereign states and the cultivation in individuals of habits and dispositions of the kind that we call civilized The combined forward movement of these processes channels violent struggles for social dominance into symbolic performances But even as the civilizing process frees many subjects from the threat of direct physical force violence accumulates behind the scenes and at the margins of the social order kept there by a deeply habituated performance of dominance and subordination called deferentiation When deferentiation fails difference becomes dangerous and genocide becomes possible Connecting historical developments with everyday life occurrences and discussing examples ranging from thirteenth century Languedoc to 1994 Rwanda Powell offers an original framework for analyzing comparing and discussing genocides as variable outcomes of a common underlying social system raising unsettling questions about the contradictions of Western civilization and the possibility of a world without genocide
