Novel Desires:

The Rise of the Novel Nicholas Seager, 2017-09-16 Why have scholars located the emergence of the novel in eighteenth century England What historical forces and stylistic developments helped to turn a disreputable type of writing into an eminent literary form This Reader's Guide explores the key critical debates and theories about the rising novel from eighteenth century assessments through to present day concerns Nicholas Seager Surveys major criticism on authors such as Aphra Behn Daniel Defoe Samuel Richardson Henry Fielding and Jane Austen Covers a range of critical approaches and topics including feminism historicism postcolonialism and print culture Demonstrates how critical work is interrelated allowing readers to discern trends in the critical conversation Approachable and stimulating this is an invaluable introduction for anyone studying the origins of the novel and the surrounding body of scholarship Life on the Vine Philip D.

Kenneson, 1999-10-01 Philip Kenneson digs into the fruit of the Spirit listed in Galatians 5:22-23 combining rich theologically grounded reflection on Christian life and practice with analysis of contemporary culture He explores what each fruit means in its biblical context then investigates how key traits of late modern Western culture inhibit the development and ripening of each fruit

Novel Craft Talia Schaffer, 2011-09-23 Domestic handicraft was an extraordinarily popular leisure activity in Victorian Britain especially amongst middle class women Craftswomen pasted shells onto boxes stitched fish scales onto silk scorched patterns into wood cast flower petals out of wax and made needlework portraits of the royal spaniels Yet despite its ubiquity little has been written about this curious hobby Providing a much needed history of this under studied phenomenon Talia Schaffer demonstrates the importance of domestic handicraft in Victorian literature and culture Novel Craft presents what Schaffer terms the craft paradigm a set of beliefs about representation production consumption value and beauty that were crucial to mid Victorian thought She uncovers how handicrafts expressed anxieties about modernity and offered an alternative to the conventional financial political and aesthetic ideas of the era Novel Craft reveals how this mindset evolves in four major Victorian novels Gaskell's Cranford Yonge's The Daisy Chain Dickens's Our Mutual Friend and Oliphant's Phoebe Junior Each chapter centers on a scene of craft production that expresses the novel's ideals and also interrogates the novel itself as a form of craft and each chapter highlights an influential craft genre paper crafts pressed flowers knitting and hair jewelry The book closes with a coda on the current resurgent crafts movement of Etsy.com as a fresh version of a Victorian sensibility Featuring illustrations from two centuries of domestic handicraft Schaffer deftly combines cultural history and literary analyses to create a revealing portrait of a neglected part of nineteenth century life and highlights its continuing relevance in today's world of Martha Stewart women's magazine crafts and a rapidly expanding alt craft culture

The ^ANature of Desire Federico Lauria, Julien A. Deonna, 2017-06-01 Desires are central to our lives yet we rarely understand them What are they And are they motivational or evaluative states Should philosophy adopt an alternative picture entirely Answering these questions is vital to a number of issues in philosophy of mind and ethics This volume comprehensively explores this neglected albeit crucial dimension of the mind Premises Werner Hamacher,1999 Poetry does not impose it exposes itself wrote Paul Celan Werner Hamacher's investigations into crucial texts of philosophical and literary modernity show that Celan's apothegm is also valid for the structure of understanding and for language in general In Premises Hamacher demonstrates that the promise of a subject position is not only unavoidable and thus operates as a structural imperative but is also unattainable and therefore by necessity open to possibilities other than that defined as position to redefinitions and unexpected transformations of the merely thetical act Proceeding along the lines of both philosophical argument and critical reading Hamacher presents the fullest account of the vast disruption in the theories and ethics of positional and propositional acts a disruption first exposed by Kant's analysis of the minimal requirements for linguistic and practical action Focusing on the double trait of every premise that it is promised but never attained Hamacher analyzes nine decisive themes topics and texts of modernity the hermeneutic circle in Schleiermacher and Heidegger the structure of ethical commands in Kant Nietzsche's genealogy of moral terms and his exploration of the aporias of singularity the irony of reading in de Man the parabasis of positing acts in Fichte and Schlegel Kleist's disruption of narrative representation the gesture of naming in Benjamin and Kafka and the incisive caesura that Paul Celan inserts into temporal and linguistic reversals There is no book that so fully brings the issues of both critical philosophy and critical literature into reach Reviews Werner Hamacher's Premises is the heir and successor to the most important theoretical and critical work done in American departments of comparative literature from the 1960s through the 1980s Yet Premises is no more a work of literary scholarship than one of philosophical submission to philosophy With the gesture that is genuinely called post structural which is the suspicion and suspension of every code the book's act of freedom is freedom to read and write language tout court Timothy Bahti University of Michigan Hamacher's project can be described as the retracing of the epistemological ground upon which the modern conception of the literary was erected It is quite clear to me that there is nothing presently available to rival this book Wlad Godzich University of Geneva Athens Stavros Kousoulas,2025-09-05 Focusing on the city of Athens this book examines architecture as something that produces culture and ideology rather than the opposite Therefore this book aims to complement architectural and urban theories that are based only on historical overviews or typological assumptions to do so it boldly opens architectural discourse to philosophy affect theory and social and cognitive sciences By examining Athens after its denomination as Greek capital in 1834 the moments actors and transformations that assist the individuation of the Athenian urban ecologies are problematised Opting for theoretical speculations the readers will witness architecture as a collective equipment that produces modes of life that can either enhance or diminish our collective potentials As such the ambition of this book is to provide the theoretical and methodological groundings for thorough extrapolations on how new collectivities can be produced Readers of this book will be exposed to a transdisciplinary approach that identifies and addresses shared problems and concerns regarding the production of contemporary urban environments This book will also explore theoretical innovations that can inform and trigger new ways of speculative thinking and offers a non reductionist account of the development of Athens from the perspective of multiple architectural technicities This book will be of interest to researchers and students of architecture architectural theory architectural history and philosophy

Vagaries of Desire: A Collection of Philosophical Essays Timo Airaksinen, 2019-08-26 In Vagaries of Desire Timo Airaksinen develops a new philosophical account of desire understood as mental state that focuses on a desirable possible world Literary and philosophical themes including sexuality are discussed in terms of their metaphoric and metonymic features

A Mark of the Mental Karen Neander, 2017-06-16 Drawing on insights from causal theories of reference teleosemantics and state space semantics a theory of naturalized mental representation In A Mark of the Mental Karen Neander considers the representational power of mental states described by the cognitive scientist Zenon Pylyshyn as the second hardest puzzle of philosophy of mind the first being consciousness The puzzle at the heart of the book is sometimes called the problem of mental content Brentano's problem or the problem of intentionality Its motivating mystery is how neurobiological states can have semantic properties such as meaning or reference Neander proposes a naturalistic account for sensory perceptual nonconceptual representations Neander draws on insights from state space semantics which appeals to relations of second order similarity between representing and represented domains causal theories of reference which claim the reference relation is a causal one and teleosemantic theories which claim that semantic norms at their simplest depend on functional norms She proposes and defends an intuitive theoretically well motivated but highly controversial thesis sensory perceptual systems have the function to produce inner state changes that are the analogs of as well as caused by their referents Neander shows that the three main elements functions causal information relations and relations of second order similarity complement rather than conflict with each other After developing an argument for teleosemantics by examining the nature of explanation in the mind and brain sciences she develops a theory of mental content and defends it against six main content determinacy challenges to a naturalized semantics

The Assembly, 1972 Terence Tobin edits and annotates this biting satirical play written in 1692 and attributed to Dr Archibald Pitcairne Significant as the only known full length drama written in Scotland between the Reformation and the eighteenth century it is a vigorous attack on religious hypocrisy

Romantic Sustainability Ben P. Robertson, 2015-12-24 Romantic Sustainability is a collection of sixteen essays that examine the British Romantic era in ecocritical terms Written by scholars from five continents this international collection addresses the works of traditional Romantic writers such as John Keats Percy Shelley William Wordsworth Lord Byron and Samuel Coleridge but also delves into ecocritical topics related to authors added to the canon more recently such as Elizabeth Inchbald and John Clare The essays examine geological formations clouds and landscapes as well as the posthuman and the monstrous The essays are grouped into rough categories that start with inspiration and the imagination before moving to the varied types of consumption associated with human interaction with the natural world Subsequent essays in the volume focus on environmental destruction monstrous creations and apocalypse The common theme is sustainability as each contributor examines Romantic ideas that intersect with ecocriticism and relates literary works to questions about race gender religion and identity

Nazi Germany and the Holocaust in Historical Crime Fiction Anthony Lake, 2023-07-24 This is the first book length academic study of the portrayal in contemporary historical crime fiction of Nazi Germany and the Holocaust and their legacies It discusses novels written by five authors David Downing Philip Kerr Luke McCallin Joseph Kanon and David Thomas Their work belongs to a subgenre of the historical crime novel that has emerged since the late 1980s to become a significant body of writing located at the intersection of crime fiction and Holocaust literature The readings of these novels explore questions of form and genre to ask how popular fiction might approach the Holocaust Themes of resistance and complicity and the relationship between them and problems of guilt and responsibility are also discussed This book also explores questions of justice to show how these novels explore social and moral justice and vengeance and revenge as alternatives to ordinary legal justice after the Holocaust Truth, 1899 The Midwestern, 1908 Wising Up the Marks Timothy S. Murphy, 1998-01-05 William S Burroughs is one of the twentieth century's most visible controversial and baffling literary figures In the first comprehensive study of the writer Timothy S Murphy places Burroughs in the company of the most significant intellectual minds of our time In doing so he gives us an immensely readable and convincing account of a man whose achievements continue to have a major influence on American art and culture Murphy draws on the work of such philosophers as Gilles Deleuze Félix Guattari Theodor Adorno and Jean Paul Sartre and also investigates the historical contexts from which Burroughs's writings arose From the paranoid isolationism of the Cold War through the countercultural activism of the sixties to the resurgence of corporate and state control in the eighties Burroughs's novels films and music hold a mirror to the American psyche Murphy coins the term amodernism as a way to describe Burroughs's contested relationship to the canon while acknowledging the writer's explicit desire for a destruction of such systems of classification Despite the popular mythology that surrounds Burroughs his work has been largely excluded from the academy of American letters Finally here is a book that presents a solid portrait of a major artistic innovator a writer who combines aesthetics and politics and who can perform as anthropologist social gad or media icon all with consummate skill Virginia Woolf and the Problem of the Subject Makiko Minow-Pinkney, 2010-09-22 This classic study now made available again to readers shows that Woolf's most experimental writing is far from being a flight from social commitment into arcane modernism The Glass Table Deborah Laurent, 2013-10-08 Enticing novel of the inspirational love story of one woman who following a horrible tragedy delves into a self-imposed comatose state and how all who know and love her work to bring her back to them and to life Taking place on the beautiful Hampton coast this touching story deals with the most raw of human emotions through humor and compassion this novel will bring the reader to laughter and tears and back as the realization of how fragile life is and how the return of love encompasses and encircles Peopling the World Charlotte Sussman, 2020-04-24 A compelling study of views about population and demographic mobility in the British long eighteenth century In John Milton's Paradise Lost of 1667 Adam and Eve are promised they will produce a race to fill the world a thought that consoles them even after the trauma of the fall By 1798 the idea that the world would one day be entirely filled by people had become in Thomas Malthus's hands a nightmarish vision In Peopling the World Charlotte Sussman asks how and why this shift took place How did Britain's understanding of the value of reproduction the vacancy of the planet and the necessity of moving people around to fill its empty spaces change

Sussman addresses these questions through readings of texts by Malthus Milton Swift Defoe Goldsmith Sir Walter Scott Mary Shelley and others and by placing these authors in the context of debates about scientific innovation emigration cultural memory and colonial settlement Sussman argues that a shift in thinking about population and mobility occurred in the third quarter of the eighteenth century Before that point both political and literary texts were preoccupied with useless populations that could be made useful by being dispersed over Britain s domestic and colonial territories after 1760 a concern with the depopulation caused by emigration began to take hold She explains this change in terms of the interrelated developments of a labor theory of value a new idea of national identity after the collapse of Britain s American empire and a move from thinking of reproduction as a national resource to thinking of it as an individual choice She places Malthus at the end of this history because he so decisively moved thinking about population away from a worldview in which there was always more space to be filled and toward the temporal inevitability of the whole world filling up with people

Effortless Action Edward Slingerland, 2007-05-24 This book presents a systematic account of the role of the personal spiritual ideal of wu wei literally no doing but better rendered as effortless action in early Chinese thought Edward Slingerland s analysis shows that wu wei represents the most general of a set of conceptual metaphors having to do with a state of effortless ease and unself consciousness This concept of effortlessness he contends serves as a common ideal for both Daoist and Confucian thinkers He also argues that this concept contains within itself a conceptual tension that motivates the development of early Chinese thought the so called paradox of wu wei or the question of how one can consciously try not to try Methodologically this book represents a preliminary attempt to apply the contemporary theory of conceptual metaphor to the study of early Chinese thought Although the focus is upon early China both the subject matter and methodology have wider implications The subject of wu wei is relevant to anyone interested in later East Asian religious thought or in the so called virtue ethics tradition in the West Moreover the technique of conceptual metaphor analysis along with the principle of embodied realism upon which it is based provides an exciting new theoretical framework and methodological tool for the study of comparative thought comparative religion intellectual history and even the humanities in general Part of the purpose of this work is thus to help introduce scholars in the humanities and social sciences to this methodology and provide an example of how it may be applied to a particular sub field
