Decentralized Planning and Panchayati Raj Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-02-03 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels The context of REDD+ in the Lao People's Democratic Republic: Drivers, agents and institutions Guillaume Lestrelin, Michael Trockenbrodt, Khamla Phanvilay, Sithong Thongmanivong, Thouthone Vongvisouk, Pham Thu Thuy, Jean-Christophe Castella, 2013-01-01 This report explores the drivers both direct and indirect of deforestation and forest degradation and discusses the political economic and social opportunities and constraints that will influence the design and implementation of REDD in Laos The government of Laos has long sought to curb deforestation and forest degradation and the country is receiving considerable international attention and support to implement REDD However agricultural expansion the development of industrial tree plantations and large hydropower mining and infrastructure projects continue to result in deforestation with shifting cultivation and selective logging legal and illegal largely blamed for forest degradation At the same time indirect drivers of deforestation and forest degradation are rooted in a national agenda of economic growth characterized by incentives for foreign and domestic investment in forest management and timber harvesting As a result Laos is becoming an important resource frontier for transnational capital and large scale land and natural resource investments The consequent intensification of competition for resources poses a challenge not only for forest governance but also for the development of REDD policies and initiatives In an examination of the institutions and policies defining Laos forestry sector and REDD the report reflects on lessons to be learned from past forestry and economic development policies The government of Laos has demonstrated strong political interest in REDD but REDD implementation faces major obstacles particularly unclear carbon rights and weak governance with the latter attributable to poor local capacity weak coordination among stakeholders and minimal involvement by local communities and civil society The report makes several recommendations for achieving effective efficient and equitable outcomes of REDD in Laos capacity building of administrative and technical staff especially at the subnational level clarification and harmonization of land use planning and land allocation processes and stronger monitoring and law enforcement in areas under high threat of deforestation and forest degradation Furthermore an accountable and transparent mechanism for sharing the benefits of REDD across levels and fully accountable consultation processes must be implemented with the participation of not only elite and powerful actors such as domestic and foreign businesses but also local groups and civil society

Globalization Development and Social Justice Ann El Khoury, 2015-03-27 Are there existing alternatives to corporate globalization What are the prospects for and commonalities between communities and movements such as Occupy the World Social Forum and alternative economies Globalization Development and Social Justice advances the proposition that another globalization is not only possible but already exists It demonstrates that there are multiple pathways towards development with social justice and argues that enabling propositional agency rather than oppositional agency such as resistance is a more effective alternative to neoliberal globalization El Khoury develops a theory of infraglobalization that emphasizes creative constitution not just contestation of global and local processes The book features case studies and examples of diverse economic practice and innovative emergent political forms from the Global South and North These case studies are located in the informal social economy and community development as well as everyday practices from prefigurative politics to community cooperatives and participatory planning This book makes an important contribution to debates about the prospects for and practices of a transformative grassroots globalization and to critical debates about globalization and development strategies It will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations globalization social movement studies political and economic geography sociology anthropology and development studies

Local Democracy and Development T. M. Thomas Isaac, Richard W. Franke, 2002 In this definitive history a key figure in the People's Campaign in Kerala provides a unique insider's account of one of the world's most extensive and successful experiments in decentralization Launched in 1996 the campaign mobilized over 3 million of Kerala's 30 million people and resulted in bottom up development planning in all 1 052 of its villages and urban neighborhoods The authors tell a powerful story of mass mobilization and innovation as bureaucratic opposition was overcome corruption and cynicism were rooted out and parliamentary democracy prevailed Considering both the theoretical and applied significance of the campaign in the context both of India's development since independence and of recent international debates about decentralization civil society and empowerment the book provides invaluable lessons for sustainable development worldwide

Participatory Planning in Plan Preparation Shashikant Nishant Sharma, 2014-01-16 Delhi is a large city state with area of 1483 sq km and a population of 16.7 million where more than two third of its area is urban Rest of the area is fast urbanizing For a city like this the planning process is challenging and magnitude of problems is enormous It should be noted that Municipal Corporation of Delhi initiated projects of preparation of Local Area Plan for 36 wards through various planning consultants to address planning issues and problems on identifying the ground realities Development in Delhi is guided by the Master Plan 2021 and various Zonal Development Plans The increase in urban population as a whole and increased migration to Delhi has led to a number of planning and development issues as land is a scarce resource in Delhi bounded by other states having their own development controls and guidelines In order to counter the ill effects of urban problem diagnosis and rational planning model the planners and policy makers of Delhi started to engage public in various states of planning and plan implementation in various forms and degrees The engagement of public in planning has stated long back in 1962 when the first Master Plan for Delhi was prepared Even after 50 years of planning for people the planners and policy makers thought for evolving planning with people approach in planning and this culminated in Delhi in the form of concept of Local Area Plan In 2005 pilot project for the preparation of Local Area Plan got initiated and got completed and the result was not satisfactory and again in 2010 pilot project for the preparation of Local Area Plan started and by 2012 it got completed It should be noted that Delhi is one of the Indian city to have a Master Plan for controlling urban growth and development The need of the people and demand for the development goes hand in hand and this lead to the participation of the public in the plan making process so as to entertain their grievances and make them partner in the development
