Planning The Past Historical Landscape Resources And Recreation:

Planning the Past Robert M. Newcomb,1979 Historic Preservation Resources ,1991 Geography and History Alan R. H. Baker,2003-11-06 Table of contents Publications of the American Folklife Center ,1977 A Guide to Information Sources in the Geographical Sciences Stephen Goddard,1983-01-01 Geography is a wide ranging discipline and the number of information sources available is truly enormous These include printed books and journal articles maps satellite photographs archives statistical information and much else One particular problem facing geographers is that when one studies a foreign country information may be available only in the foreign country and difficult to obtain This book discusses the information sources available to geographers Nature's Ideological Landscape Kenneth Olwig,2021-09-23 Originally published in 1984 Nature s Ideological Language examines the common ideological roots of environmental reclamation and nature preservation In the general context of European British and American historical experience the Jutland heaths of Denmark are taken as a concrete example for a general critique of European and American policy concerning the use of landscape Two sets of contradictions are highlighted ideological and practical between development and preservation and those between scientific historical aesthetic and recreational motivation for preservation The book is based on a study of the Jutland heath from 1750 to the present focusing on the Danish perception of the area as expressed in literary art and in economic journals topographies and government reports Against this background the development of the modern conception of nature is traced and its ideological implications and planning consequences discussed As a study of humanistic geography this book will be of interest to geographers conservationists and planners Consumer Behavior in Tourism and Hospitality Research Arch G. Woodside,Alain Decrop,2017-08-09 The chapters in this volume provide tools and evidence useful for deep understanding of tourists buying consumption and being through examinations of consumers self descriptions of personal markers of their trip configurations Ancient Monuments in the Countryside Timothy Darvill,2014-02-15 Much of England s rich archaeological heritage lies in the countryside Many monuments such as barrows hillforts and Roman villas are familiar features fo the landscape while other sites lie buried or only partly visible These remains are the result of the impact on the landscape of the countless generations of people who have lived worked and died within it The cumulative effect is the landscape we know today in which the historical dimension is an integral component of the valued whole and an important part of what most people in England are increasingly concerned to see protected and conserved The archaeological heritage however is a finite and fragile resource and much of it has been lost in the last two decades as a result of increasing pressures on farming industry and commerce to maximise the return on investment in the land The conservation of what remains therefore needs to be given urgent consideration This report has three main goals First it aims to present the background to the recognition investigation and management of the archaeological resource Second it attempts to review what is known of the resource the threats currently posed to it and the ways in which it can be exploited and conserved Finally it looks towards the development and promotion of a secure future for ancient monuments in the countryside Rural Recreation and Tourism Abstracts ,1981 Routledge Revivals: Regional Development in Western Europe (1975) Hugh Clout,2017-11-22 First published in 1975 this book provides a straightforward examination of regional differences and regional development in the countries of Western Europe Professor Clout divides this into two parts The first examines a series of themes with reference to the whole of Western Europe and the second part discusses regional development in individual countries or groups of countries Contributions by experts from the UK and from mainland Europe present an essentially geographic approach combining thematic and country by country discussions Cultural Conservation ,1983 Golden Gate National Recreation Area, Muir Woods National Monument ,2011 Approaches to the Archaeological Heritage Henry Cleere,1984-08-16 This book undertakes a comparative study of the history and development of legislative and administrative systems in operation today for the protection of archaeological monuments With the exception of Scandinavia and the United Kingdom no country adopted a positive policy towards the protection and conservation of its archaeological and historical heritage until the twentieth century Moreover it was not until the middle of that century under the threat of wholesale devastation from extensive schemes for social and economic development that the accelerating disappearance of the sites and monuments of Antiquity became the object of intensive study and legislation Since then systems of cultural resource management have developed throughout the world A range of countries from Europe America Asia and Africa representing a diversity of political and ideological systems capitalist socialist and ex colonial have been selected as being broadly representative of the variety of these systems The case studies have been written by distinguished archaeologists and provide critical evaluations of the objectives and shortcomings of these systems A Planner's Encounter with Complexity Elisabete A. Silva,2016-03-16 Spatial planning is about dealing with our everyday environment In A Planner's Encounter with Complexity we present various understandings of complexity and how the environment is considered accordingly One of these considerations is the environment as subject to processes of continuous change being either progressive or destructive evolving non linearly and alternating between stable and dynamic periods If the environment that is subject to change is adaptive self organizing robust and flexible in relation to this change a process of evolution and co evolution can be expected This understanding of an evolving environment is not mainstream to every planner However in A Planner's Encounter with Complexity we argue that environments confronted with discontinuous non linear evolving processes might be more real than the idea that an environment is simply a planner's creation Above all we argue that recognizing the complexity of our environment offers an entirely new perspective on our world and our environment on planning theory and practice and on the raison d'être of the planners that we are A Planner's Encounter with Complexity is organized into 17 chapters It begins with the interplay of planning and complexity from the perspective of contemporary planning theory It continues by critically assessing planning theory and practice in the light of the interdisciplinary debate regarding complexity thinking As the book progresses it positions itself ever closer to the perspective of complexity thinking looking at the planning discipline from the outside in clarifying the facets of complexity and its importance in planning Finally conceptual and theoretical developments towards more applied examples are identified in order to see the interplay of planning and complexity in practice This book emphasizes the importance of complexity in planning clarifies many of the concepts and theories presents examples on planning and complexity and proposes new ideas and methods for planning Living Ruins, Value Conflicts Argyro Loukaki, 2008 Using monuments and ruins by way of illustration this fascinating book examines the symbolic ideological geographical and aesthetic importance of Greek classical iconography for the Western world It shows the ways in which archaeology and monumentality affect modern life our notions of nationhood of place of self and the limits and possibilities imposed by the need to ensure ruins are kept alive Golden Gate National Recreation Area (N.R.A.), Muir Woods National Monument, General Management Plan , 2011 Ross Lake National Recreation Area (N.R.A.), General Management Plan , 2011 Missouri/Niobrara/Verdigre Creek National Recreational Rivers General Management Plan (GMP) , 1997 Ala Kahakai National Historic Trail, Comprehensive Management Plan , 2008 Cuyahoga Valley National Park (N.P.), Rural Landscape Management Program , 2003
