Plasma Physics Hans Wilhelmsson, 2013-11-21 A Nobel Foundation Symposium on the subject Nonlinear Effects in Plasmas was held at Aspenasgarden Lerum in the G6teborg area of Sweden from June 11 17 1976 The Symposium was the 36th in the series of Nobel Foundation Symposia which have been held mainly within the areas of physics chemistry medicine literature and peace prizes Some 30 leading experts from the United States Soviet Union Japan and Western Europe attended the Symposium The purpose of the Symposium was to discuss various topics in the field of modern plasma physics We had to select from this vast area of active research a suitable common theme with a great number of new and interesting contributions We decided to devote our Symposium in particular to nonlinear effects in plasmas and to emphasize some areas where important developments seemed to be taking place In recent years basic theory and experiments in nonlinear plasma physics have been stimulated largely by the need for an energy source based on fusion of light nuclei In many laboratories all over the world attempts are being made to come closer to the final goal by studying magnetically confined plasmas and systems of inertial confinement Heating of plasmas to fusion temperatures remains a key problem There are good reasons to believe that the nonlinear effects in plasmas will play an important role for fusion a long range program which is still largely in its basic research phase Plasma Physics : Nonlinear Theory And experiments Nobel symposium, 36th (Lerum, Sweden, 1976. p), 1977 Plasma Physics Hans Wilhelmsson, 1977 Plasma Physics, Nonlinear Theory and Experiments, 1977 Documentation of Plasma Physics.
