Pointing Where Language Culture And Cognition Meet:

Pointing Sotaro Kita, 2003-06-20 Pointing has captured the interest of scholars from various fields who study communication. However, ideas and findings have been scattered across diverse publications in different disciplines and opportunities for interdisciplinary exchange have been very limited. The editor's aim is to provide an arena for such exchange by bringing together papers on pointing gestures from disciplines such as developmental psychology, psycholinguistics, sign language, linguistics, linguistic anthropology, conversational analysis, and primatology. Questions raised by the editors include: Do chimpanzees produce and comprehend pointing gestures in the same way as humans? What are cross-cultural variations of pointing gestures? In what sense are pointing gestures human universal? What is the relationship between the development of pointing and language in children? What linguistic roles do pointing gestures play in signed language? Why do speakers sometimes point to seemingly empty space in front of them during conversation? How do pointing gestures contribute to the unfolding of face-to-face interaction that involves objects in the environment? What are the semiotic processes that relate what is pointed at and what is actually meant by the pointing gesture? The relationship between the two are often not as simple as one might think. Do pointing gestures facilitate the production of accompanying speech? The volume can be used as a required text in a course on gestural communication with multidisciplinary perspectives. It can also be used as a supplemental text in an advanced undergraduate or graduate course on interpersonal communication, cross-cultural communication, language development, and psychology of language.

The Academic Presentation: Situated Talk in Action Johanna Rendle-Short, 2016-12-14 How is the task of giving a presentation accomplished In this insightful book Johanna Rendle Short unpacks this seemingly simple task to show the complexity that underlies it Examining the academic presentation as a case in point she details how seminar presenters interact with the audience and objects around them to produce a coherent whole Through detailed examination of talk in interaction the book throws light on one instance of talk as situated practice demonstrating both the ordinariness of the academic presentation and its intricate complexity While audience members recognize that a seminar is underway this book shows how this recognition comes about The Academic Presentation will greatly interest scholars of talk and interaction analysis situated talk ethnomethodology and conversation analysis

Eye-tracking in Interaction Geert Br ne, Bert Oben, 2018-11-13 This volume presents a state of the art of current research on the role of eye gaze in different types of interaction including human human and human computer interaction Approaching the phenomenon from different disciplinary and methodological angles the chapters in the volume are united through a shared technological approach viz

the use of eye tracking technology for measuring speakers and hearers eye gaze patterns while engaged in interaction

Envisioned as an innovating reader the volume addresses key questions of interdisciplinary relevance e g to what extent can the analysis of fine grained eye gaze data obtained with eye tracking technology inform conversation analysis and vice versa positioning e g what is the semiotic status of eye gaze in relation to linguistic signaling and methodology e g can we strike a balance between experimental control and authenticity in setting up dialogue settings with eye tracking technology The exploration of these and other questions contributes to the demarcation of a burgeoning research program ECSCW 2009: Proceedings of the 11th European Conference on Computer Supported Cooperative Work, 7-11 September 2009, Vienna, Austria Ina Wagner,Hilda Tellioglu,Ellen Balka,Carla Simone,Luigina Ciolfi,2009-08-19 This volume presents the proceedings of ECSCW 09 the 11th European Conference on Computer Supported Cooperative Work Each conference offers an occasion to critically review our research field which has been multidisciplinary and committed to high scientific standards both theoretical and methodological from its beginning These proceedings represent discussions and contributions to ongoing challenges One challenge comes from emerging new technologies connected to social computing gaming as well as applications supporting citizen participation in their communities As boundaries between home and work erode with the increased movement of work into home environments and new applications further blur the once separate conceptions of work and leisure our intellectual community faces challenges in the ways we think about and study work Other challenges result from transformations of the world of work itself and the role of IT in these They have been taken up in in depth studies of design practice software development and manufacturing as well as in the growing body of research on health care contexts and applications Finally there is the question of what is the European perspective in our community and whether it is worthwhile to anchor our research more firmly in such a perspective Of high relevance to our field is the strong grounding of technology development in an understanding of human activity The nineteen full papers four short papers and one discussion paper selected for this conference deal with and reflect on some of these challenges thus representing the lively debate currently ongoing in our field of research
