- How has your gender influenced who you are? How you think about yourself? How others see you?
- Give a specific example of how you understand your marker of identity, gender. (For example, have you ever been told to "act like a lady" or to "man up?" By whom? Why?)
- How does your gender intersect with one other aspect of your identity? (race, class, sexuality, size, ability etc.)
- What have these examples led you to conclude about gender as a system of privilege and oppression?
- Make a statement or conclusion about how you came to understand your gender.

Unattainable Bride Russia Ellen Rutten, 2010-03-08 Throughout the twentieth century and continuing today personifications of Russia as a bride occur in a wide range of Russian texts and visual representations from literature and political and philosophical treatises to cartoons and tattoos Invariably this metaphor functions in the context of a political gender allegory which represents the relationships between Russia the intelligentsia and the Russian state as a competition of two male suitors for the former's love In Unattainable Bride Russia Ellen Rutten focuses on the metaphorical role the intelligentsia plays as Russia's rejected or ineffectual suitor Rutten finds that this metaphor which she covers from its prehistory in folklore to present day pop culture references to Vladimir Putin is still powerful but has generated scarce scholarly consideration Unattainable Bride Russia locates the cultural thread and places the political metaphor in a broad contemporary and social context thus paying it the attention to which it is entitled as one of Russia's modern cultural myths
