Police And People A Comparison Of Five Countries:

Police and People Paul G. Shane, 1980 Human Rights and the Police in Transitional Countries Lone Lindholt, Paulo de Mesquita Neto, Danny Titus, Etannibi E. Alemika, 2021-08-04 The volume intended to function as an academic debate book began as a workshop on Human Rights and the Police in Transitional Countries held in March 2001 in Hillerød, Denmark. The workshop, which was funded by the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs, brought together practitioners and academics from Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America to discuss common experience from the context of transition, which characterises all of them. These discussions take place along four themes: i.e. the transitional context, governance and rule of law, police and civil society, education and training, and the police organisation and reform, international intervention and aid. In addition to a number of key papers on general and theoretical aspects, each section contains a number of illustrative examples of how these issues express themselves in a large number of countries. Finally, the book sums up a catalogue of findings and recommendations in relation to the promotion of human rights in transitional countries and the role of the police in this work.

SNI National Criminal Justice Reference Service (U.S.), 1981 Governance and Border Security in Africa Celestine Oyom Bassey, Oshita O. Oshita, 2010 The need therefore for effective governance through border security regimes arises from the intractable challenges of conflict management as a core objective of multilateral institutions and non-governmental agencies in global governance. Thus, governance along the Frontier has come to be marked by density and complexity. This density and complexity in frontier relations underscore the disciplinary concern for border governance. Crime and Criminal Justice in Israel Robert R. Friedmann, 2012-02-01 Assessing the Israeli criminal justice knowledge base with implications for Israel and international scholarship, this book explores crime legislation, law enforcement, courts, corrections, and the victim. The book discusses the development of criminal justice and criminology in a new society, adding to the understanding of crime and societal reaction. The authors examine the historical development of Israeli criminal justice, describe the state of current knowledge, and point to possible future directions. Patterns of Policing David H.

Bayley, 1990 This study represents the culmination of almost twenty years of personal research on national police institutions. The most concentrated effort was devoted to India, Japan, and the United States, the results of which are available in other publications. Preface

Women Police in a Changing Society Mangai Natarajan, 2016-02-11 Offering a fascinating account of the development of women police over the past twenty years, this book refers to the author's extended research in India to examine how the Indian experience demonstrates a valuable alternative to the Anglo-American model, not only for traditional societies but for women police in the West as well. With reference to the establishment in 1992 of all women units in Tamil Nadu, this unique experiment proved highly successful in enhancing the confidence and professionalism of women officers and ensuring the effectiveness and efficiency of the police. At a time when policing is being rethought all over the world, not only in traditional societies, the Tamil Nadu practice illustrates important lessons for western countries that are finding it increasingly difficult to recruit and retain women officers Natarajan's remarkable book is an important and original contribution to the literature on gendered policing which to date has concentrated almost exclusively on the US and British experience

The Police, Public Order and the State John D Brewer, 2016-07-27 Are police forces agents of the state or of society How do different police forces maintain order How does the nature of a country's political system affect the state's reaction to disorder This study identifies trends in public order policing across a broad sample of seven countries Britain Northern Ireland the Irish Republic the United States of America Israel South Africa and China It explains why the handling of disorder has become a controversial and topical issue in different parts of the world Each chapter provides a range of data on the size make up and cost of the police and follows a common format in analysing the place of the police at the junction of state society relations

Comparative Delinquency Clayton A. Hartjen, Sesha Kethineni, 1996 Twenty nine collected essays represent a critical history of Shakespeare's play as text and as theater beginning with Samuel Johnson in 1765 and ending with a review of the Royal Shakespeare Company production in 1991 The criticism centers on three aspects of the play the love friendship debate

Gender, Peace and Security in Africa Cheryl Hendricks, Romi Sigsworth, 2018-02-06 There is often a moment in time that acts as a rallying point around a particular issue 2015 was one of those moments for women peace and security as numerous landmark anniversaries were celebrated in the field Africa has in many ways been the global laboratory for the gender peace and security agenda not only because of the number of conflicts occurring on the continent but also because African regional organisations governments and civil society organisations have been at the forefront of striving for gender equality and implementing United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 This book explores gender peace and security in Africa from multiple angles including the conceptual and implementation challenges and shifts around women peace and security in Africa over the last 15 years women's role as combatants in national liberation forces in South Africa the dynamics of gender in the military through the lens of Kenyan women combatants food security through a feminist lens and a series of case studies on the nexus between gender and security in Zimbabwe Nigeria Madagascar the Democratic Republic of Congo Kenya and Somalia This book was previously published as a special issue of the African Security Review

Encyclopedia of Crime and Punishment David Levinson, 2002 Authoritative and comprehensive this multivolume set includes hundreds of articles in the field of criminal justice Impressive arrays of authors have contributed to this resource addressing such diverse topics as racial profiling money laundering torture prisoner literature the KGB and Sing Sing Written in an accessible manner and attractively presented the background discussions definitions and explanations of important issues and future trends are absorbing Interesting sidebars and facts reference lists relevant court cases tables and black and white photographs supplement the entries Appendixes cover careers in criminal justice Web resources and professional organizations A lengthy bibliography lists relevant works The Best of the Best Reference Sources American Libraries May 2003

Community Policing NA NA, 2016-04-30 This book compares community policing initiatives in Canada Great Britain Israel and the United States and discusses similar efforts in other countries that have experimented with this policing strategy The author defines community policing as a policy and a strategy aimed at achieving more effective and efficient crime control reduced fear of crime improved quality of life improved police services and police legitimacy through a proactive reliance on community resources that seeks to change crime causing conditions It assumes a need for greater accountability of police greater public share in decision making and greater concern for civil rights and liberties The book begins with an examination of the major influences on community policing the social political and other forces that shaped its emergence The author then discusses its theoretical underpinnings promises practices and limits This is followed by a discussion of some of the key pertinent variables such as fear of crime attitudes of officers attitudes of citizens victimization and police administration and its relation to other social service agencies as well as the media Four chapters examine community policing in the four countries with attention to community policing conceptualization implementation experience with and knowledge of community policing Also considered are studies that have evaluated community policing projects and other relevant issues such as sources for innovation outside the police citizen participation and multi agency cooperation Following the presentations of the four countries the discussion highlights similarities and differences among the countries and contrasts the promises or challenges with the drawbacks or limitations of community policing The final chapter discusses the implications of current activities for future trends in community policing and policing innovations in general

Policing Post-communist Societies Niels A. Uildriks, P. van Reenen, 2003 Eastern European countries have been involved in a complex transition towards more democratic forms of government Since the demise of communism the building up of an independent judiciary and a general reorientation of the police role within society have been key issues On the basis of three country studies in Russia Lithuania and Mongolia this book analyses the present state of policing in a variety of post communist societies in terms of police public violence democratic policing the rule of law and human rights It is also complemented by recent comparable and previously unpublished police data for Romania Bulgaria and Poland Those studies have been carried out amongst the rank and file of the uniform branch in Lithuania and Russia which were commissioned by the Soros Open Society Foundation They were specifically concerning views and experiences concerning police public violence and current policing problems in general A third study was carried in Mongolia amongst criminal investigators and sought to explore violent investigative practices This book seeks to combine a thorough theoretical analysis with unique empirical data It analyses the different problems of transition of post communist societies towards more democratic forms of government with unique data from both outside and inside the police

Styles of Urban Policing Jeffrey Slovak, 1988-09 Using data from 42 sizable American cities on their environments and police organizational structures the book documents the importance of organizational structure on police action by predicting arrest rates for 2 types of serious criminal offenses

It applies this research perspective to neighborhoods in analyses of policing styles in three cities Elyria Ohio Columbia S C and Newark N J The study examines the kinds of data on police action available from a police dispatch log as well as particular information recording processes used in the three sites Two key indicators of police style are the rate of police aggressiveness and the degree to which local police work is legalistic watchmanlike or service oriented These measures are used to analyze variations in policing styles across both neighborhoods and cities providing support to the theory that organization rather than environment determines local policing styles This view receives additional support from indepth analyses of social demographic and economic characteristics of the three sites Tables references and index

Elusive Reform Mark Ungar,2002 Democracy cannot exist proclaims Ungar political science City U of New York Brooklyn College without the rule of law which he defines as comprising an independent effective judiciary state accountability to the law and citizen accessibility to conflict resolution mechanisms He looks to Latin American countries to illustrate how stable democracies are undermined by executive power and judicial disarray that prevent the rule of law from taking hold
