Melchizedek Maquiso, 1988 Data-based Decision Making in Education Kim Schildkamp, Mei Kuin Lai, Lorna Earl, 2012-09-17 In a context where schools are held more and more accountable for the education they provide data based decision making has become increasingly important This book brings together scholars from several countries to examine data based decision making Data based decision making in this book refers to making decisions based on a broad range of evidence such as scores on students assessments classroom observations etc This book supports policy makers people working with schools researchers and school leaders and teachers in the use of data by bringing together the current research conducted on data use across multiple countries into a single volume Some of these studies are best practice studies where effective data use has led to improvements in student learning Others provide insight into challenges in both policy and practice environments Each of them draws on research and literature in the field The State, Corporatist Politics, and Educational Policy Making in Mexico Daniel A. Morales Gomez, Carlos Alberto Torres, 1990-05-11 An important contribution to the growing body of work on Latin American policy making in education this volume presents a critical analysis of the conflicts and contradictions inherent in educational policy planning in Mexico since the early 1970s In an effort to forge a clearer and more comprehensive understanding of the processes involved the authors examine the complex relationships among the politics of a corporative State built on the remains of a revolutionary tradition the current model of associated dependent development and the process of policy formation in formal and nonformal education Analysis of specific cases enables the authors to present an overview of the factors involved in the designing planing and implementation of educational policies in Mexico as well as assessing the effects of educational change on the poorest sectors of its society

Morales Gomez and Torres begin by analyzing some of the political economy factors that historically have determined the current process of associate dependent development in Mexico and how they have evolved and shaped the role of education in the country. They show how educational policies and practices are affected by the processes of sociopolitical change that underly the formation and evolution of the corporatist State. A critical review of the structure and functioning of the educational system in Mexico precedes three case studies of formal and nonformal education that illustrate the relationships among the predominant ideas shaping current development in the country, the process of policy formation in education and the actual practice of formal and nonformal education. The first case study examines primary education as a manifestation of the contradictions in educational policy; the second focuses on some of the nonformal initiatives carried out by the government over the last two decades; and the third looks at adult workers education.

Policy Development and Nigerian Education Amiel M. Fagbulu, 2017-08-10. The evolution of policy in education has been very important in determining the direction and the rate of its spread in Nigeria. As one moves from one area or era to another, weak policy or lack of policy has created unforeseen problems that have had long lasting consequences that color how much and what type of education was deemed suitable for a milieu. A lack of understanding of the role of policy has been responsible for many failed interventions in education. This book traces the evolution of policy and attempts to show the correlation between clearly articulated policies and the suitability of the output of the system to respond to the needs of the society.
