Policy Making And Diversity In Europe Escape From Deadlock:

Policy-Making and Diversity in Europe Adrienne Windhoff-Héritier, 1999-11-28 Shows how policy making in Europe works despite diverse interests EU Asylum Policies Natascha Zaun, 2017-02-22 This book fills a significant lacuna in our understanding of the refugee crisis by analyzing the dynamics that lie behind fifteen years of asylum policies in the European Union It sheds light on why cooperation has led to reinforced refugee protection on paper but has failed to provide it in practice Offering innovative empirical theoretical and methodological research on this crucial topic it argues that the different asylum systems and priorities of the various Member States explain the EU's lack of initiative in responding to this humanitarian emergency The author demonstrates that the strong regulators of North Western Europe have used their powerful bargaining positions to shape EU asylum policies decisively which has allowed them to impose their will on Member States in South Eastern Europe These latter countries having barely made a mark on EU policies are now facing significant difficulties in implementing them The EU will only identify potential solutions to the crisis the author concludes when it takes these disparities into account and establishes a functioning common refugee policy This novel work will appeal to students and scholars of politics immigration and asylum in the EU Russia's Engagement with the West: Alexander J. Motyl, Blair A. Ruble, Lilia Shevtsova, 2016-07-22 The Putin and Bush presidencies the 9 11 attack and the war in Iraq have changed the dynamics of Russian European US relations and strained the Western alliance Featuring contributions by leading experts in the field this work is the first systematic effort to reassess the status of Russia's modernization efforts in this context Part I examines political economic legal and cultural developments in Russia for evidence of convergence with Western norms In Part II the contributors systematically analyze Russia's relations with the European Union Eastern Europe Central Asia and the United States in light of new security concerns and changing economic and power relationships Beyond Market Access for Economic Development Gerrit Faber, Jan Orbie, 2009-06-17 The Economic Partnership Agreements between the European Union and the Africa Caribbean and Pacific ACP countries have drastically restructured Europe's trade architecture towards the third world This volume examines the consequences of EPAs for development in sub Saharan Africa SSA Starting from the observation that the establishment of free trade as such will substantially impact upon economic development the different contributions focus on the potential contribution of non traditional aspects of EPAs More specifically the authors analyze the role of Aid for Trade schemes regulatory integration issues and broader foreign policy considerations How can these non market access aspects stimulate development in Africa and how have they been addressed in the EPAs In short this brings us to the question whether the light version EPAs as they currently stand are a missed chance or a blessing in disguise Innovative Approaches to EU Multilevel Implementation Eva Thomann, Fritz Sager, 2019-10-23 Multi level governance systems like the European Union EU calibrate integration with member state discretion in order to implement common yet context sensitive solutions to shared policy problems Research on implementation in the EU typically focuses on legal compliance with EU policy. However, this focus gives us an incomplete picture of EU implementation, its diversity, and practice. The contributions of this collection represent a shift toward a more performance-oriented perspective on EU implementation as problem solving. They approach implementation fundamentally as a process of interpretation of superordinate law by actors who are embedded within multiple contexts arising from the coexistence of dynamics of Europeanization on the one hand and what has been termed domestication on the other. Moving beyond legal compliance, the contributions provide new evidence on the diversity of domestic responses to EU policy, the roles and motivations of actors implementing EU policy, and the black box of EU law in action and its enforcement. By reassessing the relative importance of EU policy and domestic factors and actors for the outcomes of EU implementation, the results give insight into the nuanced interplay between Europeanization and domestication forces useful for both EU researchers and practitioners. The chapters originally published as a special issue in the Journal of European Public Policy. Global Power Europe - Vol. 2 Astrid Boenig, Jan-Frederik Kremer, Aukje van Loon, 2013-03-27. This two-volume project provides a multi-sectoral perspective over the EU's external projections from traditional as well as critical theoretical and institutional perspectives and is supported by numerous case studies covering the whole extent of the EU's external relations. The aim is to strive to present new approaches as well as detailed background studies in analyzing the EU as a global actor. Volume 1: The first volume, Theoretical and Institutional Approaches to the EU's External Relations, addresses the EU's overall external post-Lisbon Treaty presence both globally and regionally, e.g. in its neighborhood, with a special emphasis on the EU's institutional framework. It also offers fresh and innovative theoretical approaches to understanding the EU's international position. With a preface by Alvaro de Vasoncelos, former Director, European Union Institute for Security Studies. Volume 2: The second volume, Policies, Actions, and Influence of the EU's External Relations, examines in both quantitative and qualitative contributions the EU's international efficacy from a political, economic, and social perspective based on a plethora of its engagements.

Dynamics of Change in the European Union Daniel Naurin, Anne Rasmussen, 2013-09-13. Agreements concerning inter-institutional rules in the treaties of the European Union often give rise to reactions and processes of adaptation within the EU institutions. Recent literature on EU legislative politics has increasingly examined decision making within the EU institutions but has largely overlooked how these internal processes react and adapt to changes in relations between the EU bodies. To fill this gap, the authors present a series of empirical studies that examine how shifts in inter-institutional rules and procedures affect intra-institutional politics. They show that the resulting intrainstitutional adaptations may in turn both have distributive consequences and affect the efficiency of the initial inter-institutional reforms. In addition, they provide some stepping stones for theory building on how treaty reforms affect organizational structure and decision making within the EU institutions by outlining a series of mediating variables that link these two types of change processes. This book was originally published as a special issue of West European Politics. Opting Out of the European Union

Routledge Handbook of European Politics José M. Magone,2014-12-17 Since the Treaty of the European Union was ratified in 1993 the European Union has become an important factor in an ever increasing number of regimes of pooled sovereignty This Handbook seeks to present a valuable guide to this new and unique system in the twenty first century allowing readers to obtain a better understanding of the emerging multilevel European governance system that links national polities to Europe and the global community Adopting a pan European approach this Handbook brings together the work of leading international academics to cover a wide range of topics such as the historical and theoretical background the political systems and institutions of both the EU and its individual member nations political parties and party systems political elites civil society and social movements in European politics the political economy of Europe public administration and policy making external policies of the EU This is an invaluable and comprehensive resource for students scholars researchers and practitioners of the European Union European politics and comparative politics

The Theory of Multi-level Governance Simona Piattoni,2010-02-25 This book explores the theoretical issues empirical evidence and normative debates elicited by the concept of multi level governance MLG The concept is a useful descriptor of decision making processes that involve the simultaneous mobilization of public authorities at different jurisdictional levels as well as that of non governmental organizations and social movements It has become increasingly relevant with the weakening of territorial state power and effectiveness and the increase in international interdependencies which serve to undermine conventional governmental processes This book moves towards the construction of a theory of multi level governance by defining the analytical contours of this concept identifying the processes that can uniquely be denoted by it and discussing the normative issues that are raised by its diffusion particularly in the European Union It is divided into three parts each meeting a specific challenge theoretical empirical normative It focuses on three analytical dimensions multi level governance as political mobilization politics as authoritative decision making policy and as state restructuring polity Three policy areas are investigated in vindicating the usefulness of MLG as a theoretical and empirical concept cohesion environment higher education with particular reference to two member states the UK and Germany Finally both the input and output legitimacy of multi level governance decisions and arrangements and its contribution to EU democracy are discussed As a loosely coupled policy making arrangement MLG is sufficiently structured to secure coordination among public and private actors at different jurisdictional levels yet sufficiently flexible to avoid joint decision traps This balance is obtained at the cost of increasingly blurred boundaries between public and private actors and a change in the established hierarchies between territorial jurisdictions Rule-Making Rules Stefano Bartolini, 2022-06-30 Stefano Bartolini argues that despite the growth of a large theoretical literature about institutions and institutionalism over the last thirty years the specific nature of political institutions has been relatively neglected Political institutions have been subsumed into the broader problems of the emergence persistence change and functions of all types of institutions The author defines political institutions strictly as norms and rules of conferral to be distinguished from norms rules of conduct and of recognition They are those norms and rules that empower rulers set limits to the capacity to ensure behavioural compliance and define the proper means for achieving such compliance This book draws logical and empirical consequences from this understanding to distinguish different types of norms rules and to specify the peculiarities of those norms rules that are political The book will appeal to researchers of political institutions in comparative politics and in political science and political sociology more broadly The Globalization of Environmental Crisis Jan Oosthoek, Barry K. Gills, 2013-10-31 Previously published as a special issue of Globalizations this collection of essays addresses what is arguably the most pressing and urgent issue of our day the continuing development of global environmental crises and the need for new and urgent responses to them by the world community The contributors include social scientists environmental historians anthropologists and science policy researchers and together they give an overview of the history of the globalization of environmental crisis over the past several decades both in terms of the science of measurement and the types of policy and public responses that have emerged to date The specific issue areas addressed in the book cover a wide range of topics including international environmental governance North South inequalities climate change global warming tropical forests air pollution economic and paradigm shifts sustainability indigenous peoples and eco conservation EU environmental policy the United States and politicized climate science and more The Globalization of Environmental Crisis will be of particular interest to all those concerned with the on going debate over the state of the global environment and what to do about it A Framework for European Competition Law Christopher Townley, 2018-11-29 This book asks whether the current push to increase uniformity in substantive and procedural competition policy and enforcement in Europe as well as in related institutional structures is desirable It focuses on European Union EU competition policy and enforcement related to Articles 101 and 102 TFEU and the merger rules the equivalent rules in the Member States and the relationships between these different legal orders Uniformity has many benefits yet the advantages of diversity are also legion enabling more policy experimentation and innovation and improving the ability to accommodate national preferences Contrary to the overwhelming view of academics practitioners and regulators in this area the book argues that uniformity is insufficient and examines ways of achieving a better mix of uniformity and diversity the EU's motto is United in Diversity To achieve this better mix the book offers a new framework for European competition law Coordinated Diversity Finally this book discusses whether Coordinated Diversity fits with the current legal order in the EU as well as the EU constitutional settlement more generally and suggests some ways that it might be made compatible with this order with relative ease The book's impact could be significant changing the results in individual cases the way cases are argued and what information is relevant More importantly it builds the theoretical foundations for fundamentally altering the way in which the EU and the Member States competition authorities interact allowing space for disagreement and uncertainty The aim is to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of competition policy making and enforcement in Europe It should also increase the legitimacy in this field rebalancing towards the Member States Coordinated Diversity provides a new way of seeing the EU that better blends difference when this is demanded with uniformity and its benefits as necessary A timely and ambitious work this book will be read with interest by all practitioners and academics interested in EU competition law as well as the related fields of political science and economics

Legislative Authority and Interpretation in the European Union Martijn van den Brink, 2024-07-12 Although legislation has in the past decades become the legal cornerstone of European integration the EU legislature remains systematically neglected in EU legal scholarship This book explores the virtues of the legislative process and the nature of legislative acts and asks how moving the legislature from the sidelines to the centre of legal analysis changes our understanding of the EU Court of Justice's role The first part of the book examines how the CJEU should exercise its authority relative to the legislature The author argues that as the legislature lends democratic legitimacy to EU law and is a better lawmaker than the judiciary that judicial deference to the legislature's choices is required in all but exceptional circumstances The second part of the book sets forth a theory of legislative interpretation that enables judicial officials to respect the wishes of the legislature This theory shows first that the legislature can aggregate the intentions of individual legislators into a coherent legislative intent and second how this legislative intent can be identified from the publicly available legislative material

Lobbying: Empirical and Theoretical Studies David Coen, 2013-10-31 EU Lobbying Empirical and Theoretical studies offers an analysis of large empirical studies of interest group politics and Lobbying in Europe Recognising the continued European economic integration globalisation and the changing role of the state it observes significant adaptations in interest mobilisation and strategic behaviour This book assesses the logic of collective and direct action the logic of access and influence the logic of venue shopping and alliance building It addresses specific issues such as the emergence of elite pluralism in EU institutions the pump priming of political action by EU institutions and the growing political sophistication of private and public interests in Brussels Through these issues the book explores how interest groups lobby different European institutions along the policy process and how the nature of policy dictates the style and level of lobbying This book was previously published as a special issue of Journal of European Public Policy
