Political Economy Of Mountain Java:

The Political Economy of Mountain Java Robert W. Hefner, 2023-09-01 A rich and sensitive portrait of a changing peasantry this study is also a general inquiry into the nature of status class and community in the developing world Robert Hefner presents an analysis designed to bridge the gap between village studies and social history He describes the forces that have shaped upland politics and society from pre colonial times to the Green Revolution today A rich and sensitive portrait of a changing peasantry this study is also a general inquiry into the nature of status class and community in the developing world Robert Hefner presents an analysis designed to bridge the gap between village studies and Reformist

Muslims in Yagyakarta Village Hyung-Jun Kim, 2007-03-01 This study examines the religious life of reformist Muslims in a Yogyakarta village The foci of this discussion are on Muslim villagers construction with the help of the reformist paradigm of the image of the good Muslim and Muslim ness on their efforts to incorporate an reformist Islamic framework to question taken for granted practices and ideas on the position of traditional practices and ideas and their relation to reformist Islam and on the interplay of villagers who show a strong commitment to reformist Islam with those who do not Another topic investigated in this study is the interactions between Muslim and Christian villagers and the impacts of Christian presence on the process by which Muslims define themselves their neighbours their religion and their religious community The Politics of Post-Suharto Indonesia Adam Schwarz, Jonathan Paris, 1999 This book responds to the critical need of policymakers practitioners and scholars for current research on Indonesia Resource & Environmental Management

Bruce Mitchell, 2013-12-16 This book does an exceptional job in giving an understanding of change complexity uncertainty and conflict as well as their linkages including awareness of strategies methods and techniques to handle them relative to resource and environmental management The text enhances the reader s capacity to conduct practice and conduct research in resource and environmental management Transforming the Indonesian Uplands Tania Li, 2005-06-27 Drawing upon current theoretical debates in social anthropology development studies and political ecology and presenting original research from across the Archipelago this book addresses the changing histories and identities of upland people as they relate in new ways to the natural resource base to markets and to the state It is an engaged study which fills important analytical gaps and addresses real world concerns exploring the uplands as components of national and global systems of meaning power and production It offers a significant re assessment of concepts processes histories relationships and discourses many of which are not unique to either the uplands or Indonesia making the book essential and compelling reading for both scholars and practitioners Making Capitalism Roger L. Janelli, Dawnhee Yim, 1995-03-01 This pathbreaking work extends the boundaries of contemporary anthropological research by presenting in one cohesive meticulously researched work an original theoretical perspective on the relationships between the cultural political and economic dimensions of a large modern business organization the first anthropological work on South Korean management and its white collar workers in a case study of one of South Korea's big four conglomerates and an innovative delineation of how modern business practices are enmeshed in past and present structure and agency and local and international systems Based largely on the author's nine months of participant observation in the offices of one of South Korea's largest conglomerates with annual sales of about 15 billion and approximately 80 000 employees the book is also enriched by the author's previous fieldwork in rural Korea where many of the conglomerate's white collar personnel spent their formative years These vantage points are used to explore constructions of traditional Korean culture and transformations of cultural knowledge prompted by new political economic conditions and how both inform practices prevailing in the large conglomerates and ultimately shape South Korea's capitalism The work focuses on South Korea's new middle class It explains how office workers' identities and often contradictory interests present them with choices between alternative interpretations and actions affecting both themselves and their conglomerates Much attention is paid to ideological and more coercive means of controlling white collar employees to subordinate strategies of resistance and to ways in which cultural understandings and moral claims inform the assessment and pursuit of material advantage

State and Nation in Multi-ethnic Societies Uri Ra'anana, 1991 Asks whether there are lessons to be drawn for contemporary multi-ethnic societies from the experience of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy in its last decades Also asks if ideas about the state-nation relationship from that period of Austrian Social Democracy can have applicability today

Islam in an Era of Nation-States Robert W. Hefner, Patricia Horvatich, 1997-09-01 The renewal of the Muslim faith which has occurred not only in Asia but in other parts of the world has prompted warnings of an imminent clash of civilizations between Islam and the West Islam in an Era of Nation States examines the history politics and meanings of this resurgence in Indonesia Malaysia and the Philippines and explores its implications for Southeast Asia the larger Muslim world and the West This volume will be of interest to students of Islam Southeast Asian history and the anthropology of religion In examining the politics and meanings of Islamic resurgence it will also speak to political scientists religious scholars and others concerned with culture and politics in the late modern era

A Generation Later James F. Eder,1999-09-01 A Generation Later moves beyond analytical models of rural change that focus on the peasant agricultural aspect of rural communities and makes a convincing case for an approach that integrates farm and nonfarm occupations and does justice to the conditions of occupational multiplicity that characterize to an increasing extent many of the rural communities in Asia In this context it challenges conventional and simplistic peasant to proletarian views of change Rather than finding a dreary and dispirited landscape of sameness and hardship it offers some empirical support for amore optimistic view of the region s future one of growing household prosperity and widespread individual opportunity

The Killing Season Geoffrey B. Robinson,2019-10 The definitive account of one of the twentieth century s most brutal yet least examined episodes of genocide and detention The Killing Season explores one of the largest and swiftest yet least examined instances of mass killing and incarceration in the twentieth century the shocking antileftist purge that gripped Indonesia in 1965 66 leaving some five hundred thousand people dead and more than a million others in detention An expert in modern Indonesian history genocide and human rights Geoffrey Robinson sets out to account for this violence and to end the troubling silence surrounding it In doing so he sheds new light on broad enduring historical questions How do we account for instances of systematic mass killing and detention Why are some of these crimes remembered and punished while others are forgotten Based on a rich body of primary and secondary sources The Killing Season is the definitive account of a pivotal period in Indonesian history

In the Shadow of Migration J. Rodenburg,2021-11-01 This study explores the relationship between outmigration and gender roles in two villages in North Tapanuli on the island of Sumatra in Indonesia In a symbolic sense land and women have always represented security to Toba Batak men as they travelled in search of a livelihood The main purpose of this study is to throw light on the options open to the women staying behind and the adjustments they make as well as their reasons for making them The approach followed is an anthropological one It combines an analysis of actor oriented perceptions and strategies with an insight into the structural forces that formed the context of migration as it developed from the late nineteenth century through the colonial period until today

Rule and Rupture Christian Lund,Michael Eilenberg,2017-05-04 Rule and Rupture State Formation Through the Production of Property and Citizenship examines the ways in which political authority is defined and created by the rights of community membership and access to resources Combines the latest theory on property rights and citizenship with extensive fieldwork to provide a more complex nuanced assessment of political states commonly viewed as weak fragile and failed Contains ten case studies taken from post colonial settings around the world including Cambodia Nepal Indonesia Afghanistan Rwanda Somalia Democratic Republic of Congo Colombia and Bolivia Characterizes the results of societal ruptures into three types of outcomes for political power reconstituted and consolidated challenged and fragmented Brings together exciting insights from a global group of scholars in the fields of political science development studies and geography The Politics of Religion in Indonesia Michel Picard,Rémy Madinier,2011-05-13 Indonesia is a remarkable case study for religious politics While not being a theocratic country it is not secular either with the Indonesian state officially defining what constitutes religion and every citizen needing to be affiliated to one of them This book focuses on Java and Bali and the interesting comparison of two neighbouring societies shaped by two different religions Islam and Hinduism The book examines the appropriation by the peoples of Java and Bali of the idea of religion through a dialogic process of indigenization of universalist religions and universalization of indigenous religions It looks at the tension that exists between proponents of local world views and indigenous belief systems and those who deny those local traditions as qualifying as a religion This tension plays a leading part in the construction of an Indonesian religious identity recognized by the state The book is of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asia religious studies and the anthropology and sociology of religion
