Political Aspects Of The Economy:

Political Control of the Economy Edward R. Tufte, 1978 Speculations about the effects of politics on economic life have a long and vital tradition but few efforts have been made to determine the precise relationship between them Edward Tufte a political scientist who covered the 1976 Presidential election for Newsweek seeks to do just that His sharp analyses and astute observations lead to an eye opening view of the impact of political life on the national economy of America and other capitalist democracies The analysis demonstrates how politicians political parties and voters decide who gets what when and how in the economic arena A nation's politics it is argued shape the most important aspects of economic life inflation unemployment income redistribution the growth of government and the extent of central economic control Both statistical data and case studies based on interviews and Presidential documents are brought to bear on four topics They are 1 the political manipulation of the economy in election years 2 the new international electoral economic cycle 3 the decisive role of political leaders and parties in shaping macroeconomic outcomes and 4 the response of the electorate to changing economic conditions Finally the book clarifies a central question in political economy How can national economic policy be conducted in both a democratic and a competent fashion Mega-Events and Their Impact on the Economy: A Tourism and Economics Analysis Christoph L. Reiter, 2010-10-15 This is the first book of a series about mega event Mega events have multiple effects on the society the environment and the economy of a region This can range from increasing leisure facilities for locals to better infrastructure but also to economic growth There are various approaches one has to take to arrive at the point where it is possible to conclude whether the impact of mega events like the Olympics is truly as great as often argued Having an extensive background in tourism we believe that tourism is the best indicator to see the results of mega events Obviously mega events are not created because of tourism but the relationship between them is undeniable One can look at the number of tourists in the years before and after the event and compare them with the numbers of the event year Further one can look at the expenditure rates All this needs to be looked at in the long and short run Politics in the Dutch Economy Bart Snels, 2018-12-20 First published in 1999 this volume surveys economic theories of political mechanisms as well as political theories of the influence of the institutional context in which decisions about social economic policies are being made In the first half of the seventeenth century the Dutch Republic emerged as one of Europe's leading maritime powers The political and military leadership of this small country was based on large scale borrowing from an increasingly wealthy middle class of merchants manufacturers and regents This volume presents the first comprehensive account of the political economy of the Dutch republic from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth century Building on earlier scholarship and extensive new evidence it tackles two main issues the effect of political revolution on property rights and public finance and the ability of the nation to renegotiate issues of taxation and government borrowing in changing political circumstances Political Economy in Macroeconomics Allan Drazen, 2018-06-05 Originally economics was called political economy and those studying it readily accepted that economic decisions are made in a political world But economics eventually separated itself from politics to pursue rigorous methods of analyzing individual behavior and markets Recently an increasing number of economists have turned their attention to the old question of how politics shape economic outcomes To date however this growing literature has lacked a cogent organization and a unified approach Here in the first full length examination of how political forces affect economic policy decisions Allan Drazen provides a systematic treatment organizing the increasingly influential new political economy as a more established field at the highly productive intersection of economics and political science Although he provides an extraordinarily helpful guide to the recent explosion of papers on political economy in macroeconomics Drazen moves far beyond survey giving definition and structure to the field He proposes that conflict or heterogeneity of interests should be the field s essential organizing principle because political questions arise only when people disagree over which economic policies should be enacted or how economic costs and benefits should be distributed Further he illustrates how heterogeneity of interests is crucial in every part of political economy Drazen s approach allows innovative treatment using rigorous economic models of public goods and finance economic growth the open economy economic transition political business cycles and all of the traditional topics of macroeconomics This major text will have an enormous impact on students and professionals in political science as well as economics redefining how decision makers on several continents think about the full range of macroeconomic issues and informing the approaches of the next generation of economists

The Machinery Question and the Making of Political Economy 1815-1848 Maxine Berg, 1982-02-04 Dr Berg argues that technical change was one of the foremost theoretical concerns of Ricardo and his successors and the foundation for their distinctly optimistic view of the future She shows how the Machinery Question fostered the social conditions in which the status of Political Economy as a discipline was established and concludes that by the 1840s the divisions over machinery were firmly embedded in the great rival creeds of the future liberalism and socialism

SOCIO-ECONOMIC AND ECOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ECONOMY OF UKRAINE IN THE CONDITIONS OF EUROPEAN INTEGRATION

Kovalchuk S., Khaietska O., Feniak L., Tomashuk I., Baldynyuk V., Palamarenko Y., Sakhno A., Dotsiuk S., Tabenska O., 2022-07-20 The agricultural sector was and remains a key component of social development The current state of the agricultural sector of Ukraine shows the imbalance of its development when priority is given to the economic component with secondary environmental and social determinants

Theoretical substantiation and practical development and implementation of determinants of sustainable development of agricultural enterprises of the national economy which combines both internal contradictions and external challenges become particularly relevant. An important direction of the progressive reproduction of the agrarian sector of the national economy is the practical implementation of the concept of sustainable development adopted in Ukraine as a model in the context of state policy and the program of its pragmatic implementation at the level of individual economic entities. The dynamics of agrarian processes within the limits of certain constants financial and economic organizational technical and technological commercial etc as the most optimal at the relevant market stage collectively reflects the principles of sustainable development in the sense of permanence not static. Such measures will be possible under the condition of balancing the interests of society the agricultural environment a separate agricultural enterprise man and the environment. The monograph indicates that the process of improving the sectoral structure of agricultural enterprises involves the implementation of certain measures that precede the determination of the main directions and ways of developing and implementing a mechanism for ensuring the optimization of the production structure when using agricultural land. It is impossible and impractical to determine the priority of one of the branches of agriculture. Since animal husbandry is based on plant products the fodder base for which is hay straw green fodder grain fodder and some other types of agricultural crops. In turn animal husbandry waste namely manure is used in crop production as organic fertilizers which ensure the improvement of soil quality indicators and the yield of agricultural crops. At the same time it should also be noted the undeniably important role of crop production in the social life of a person as a whole. This territory provides the population with food products and raw materials for the processing industry including food pharmaceutical light woodworking etc. In today's realities the problem of ensuring the financial security of the enterprise is urgent. This problem is especially acute in the conditions of the current global economic and financial crisis. Today in the conditions of an unstable political situation economic crisis martial law in the country and a drop in the solvent demand of the population domestic enterprises suffer from significant financial problems. The financial activity of the enterprise is associated with many risks the degree of influence of which on the results of its activity increases significantly with the transition to a market economy. The risks accompanying this activity are allocated to a separate group of financial risks which play a dominant role in the general risk portfolio of the enterprise. The increase in the degree of influence of financial risks on the results of the company's financial activity is associated with rapid changes in the economic situation in the country and on the financial market the expansion of the sphere of financial relations the emergence of new financial technologies and tools. Risks arise in the field of corporate relations with banks and other financial institutions and are associated with the probability of loss of funds or their non receipt. It is emphasized that at the current stage of the development of the world economy the integration of Ukraine into the European space great attention is paid to the effective functioning of the enterprise which in turn depends on the quality of products. Ignoring this factor it is difficult to create optimal conditions for the development of any trade sales and profitability of enterprises Improving the quality system of enterprises goods in modern conditions is a complex and urgent task that requires an immediate solution The long term course of sustainable development of the enterprise should be aimed at achieving not so much quantitative indicators as qualitative ones therefore the heads of enterprises should pay attention to the development of measures to increase competitiveness and reach the international level The construction implementation and certification of an integrated product quality management system will provide them with a number of competitive advantages and confidence in the level of production and service that meets international standards and is able to win in competition on the domestic and foreign markets Scientific research was carried out within the framework of the research initiative topic Organizational and economic aspects of the development of agroecosystems on the basis of ecologization of the economy of the Vinnytsia National Agrarian University state registration number 0121U112882 for 2021 2024 Greening of production is possible under the conditions of development of business relations of business entities and use of rural areas In the conditions of a competitive economy the main factor in the assessment of economic activity is efficiency which allows determining the need for material labor and financial resources Taking into account the instability of the global economy its impact on the economies of the world s leading countries the need to plan and manage the development processes of enterprise activities by preserving and increasing the potential of rural areas is of particular importance Greening is an important influencing factor that determines the characteristics of the distribution of both material labor and financial resources Thus there is a need to create and gradually develop the environment for the functioning of enterprises in rural areas which will allow optimizing their activities based on the principles of achieving efficiency choosing the most important types of activities in agriculture to increase the volume of production cost regulation including labor costs The work uses general methods of modern rational and empirical systemology The obtained results are substantiated by the fundamental principles of dialectics and systematic analysis of phenomena and processes The work is formed on the basis of the methodology of research on the impact of greening on the development of enterprises and rural areas in particular taking into account the organizational and economic mechanism of the disposal of agricultural waste as a component of energy security The basis of the study is the hypothesis of the formation of the environment for the functioning of enterprises engaged in activities in agriculture forestry and fisheries taking into account the characteristics of rural areas in the conditions of environmentalization optimization of cause and effect relationships adaptation and historical development The study of resource management of agricultural enterprises and rural areas in the conditions of greening will be conducted on the basis of functional and process approaches The main methods are methods of quantitative comparison system analysis methods of statistical evaluation methods of economic mathematical modeling methods of decision making theory In the formation of separate theoretical propositions in the process of fulfilling the assigned tasks general scientific methods were
