Handbook of New Institutional Economics Claude Menard,Mary M. Shirley,2005-07-01 New Institutional Economics NIE has skyrocketed in scope and influence over the last three decades This first Handbook of NIE provides a unique and timely overview of recent developments and broad orientations Contributions analyse the domain and perspectives of NIE sections on legal institutions political institutions transaction cost economics governance contracting institutional change and more capture NIE s interdisciplinary nature This Handbook will be of interest to economists political scientists legal scholars management specialists sociologists and others wishing to learn more about this important subject and gain insight into progress made by institutionalists from other disciplines This compendium of analyses by some of the foremost NIE specialists including Ronald Coase Douglass North Elinor Ostrom and Oliver Williamson gives students and new researchers an introduction to the topic and offers established scholars a reference book for their research Energy, Wealth and Governance in the Caucasus and Central Asia Richard Auty, Indra de Soysa, 2006-08-21 Drawing upon recent progress in development economics and political science the book provides fresh analysis of the Caucasus and Central Asia CCA countries transition to a market economy by tracing the impact of natural resource endowment The book examines the synergies between energy rich and energy poor states and highlights the practical consequences of both well managed and poorly managed deployment of energy Featuring contributions from prominent specialists on resource driven economies the book argues that unless CCA elites change the way in which they deploy natural resource revenues regional development will fall short of its potential with possible disastrous consequences The contributors apply the experience of the developing market economies to demonstrate that the region still holds considerable potential to become an important stable supplier of raw materials and a source of industrial demand to the global economy However the CCA is equally likely to become a threat to the global economy as a consequence of the misuse of energy revenues to promote the interests of predatory political elites Diversity in Economic Growth Gary McMahon, Hadi Salehi Esfahani, Lyn Squire, 2014-05-14 Drawing on the knowledge and understanding of the local circumstances of researchers from the case study countries this text outlines the value of diversity in economic growth Europe's Growth Champion Marcin Piatkowski, 2018-02-09 What makes countries rich What makes countries poor Europe's Growth Champion Insights from the Economic Rise of Poland seeks to answer these questions and many more through a study of one of the biggest and least heard about economic success stories Over the last twenty five years Poland has transitioned from a perennially backward poor and peripheral country to unexpectedly join the ranks of the world's high income countries Europe's Growth Champion is about the lessons learned from Poland's remarkable experience the conditions that keep countries poor and the challenges that countries need to face in order to grow It defines a new growth model that Poland and its Eastern European peers need to adopt to grow and catch up with their Western counterparts Poland's economic rise emphasizes the importance of the fundamental sources of growth institutions culture ideas and leaders in economic development It demonstrates that a shift from an extractive society where the few rule for the benefit of the few to an inclusive society where many rule for the benefit of many can be the key to economic success IEurope's Growth Champion asserts that a newly emerged inclusive society will support further convergence of Poland and the rest of Central and Eastern Europe with the West and help to sustain the region's Golden Age It also acknowledges the future challenges that Poland faces and that moving to the core of the European economy will require further reforms and changes in Poland's developmental character Taking Stock of Shock Kristen Ghodsee, Mitchell Orenstein, 2021-06-25 Kristen Ghodsee and Mitchell A Orenstein blend empirical data with lived experiences to produce a robust picture of who won and who lost in post communist transition contextualizing the rise of populism in Eastern Europe After the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 more than 400 million people suddenly found themselves in a new reality a dramatic transition from state socialist and centrally planned workers states to liberal democracy in most cases and free markets Thirty years later postsocialist citizens remain sharply divided on the legacies of transition Was it a success that produced great progress after a short recession or a socio economic catastrophe foisted on the East by Western capitalists Taking Stock of Shock aims to uncover the truth using a unique interdisciplinary investigation into the social consequences of transition including the rise of authoritarian populism and xenophobia Showing that economic demographic sociological political scientific and ethnographic research produce contradictory results based on different disciplinary methods and data Kristen Ghodsee and Mitchell Orenstein triangulate the results They find that both the J curve model which anticipates sustained growth after a sharp downturn and the disaster capitalism perspective which posits that neoliberalism led to devastating outcomes have significant basis in fact While substantial percentages of the populations across a variety of postsocialist countries enjoyed remarkable success prosperity and progress many others suffered an unprecedented socio economic catastrophe Ghodsee and Orenstein conclude that the promise of transition still remains elusive for many and offer policy ideas for overcoming negative social and political consequences

Fighting Corruption in Eastern Europe Diana Schmidt-Pfister,Holger Moroff,2013-09-13 Anti corruption programmes projects and campaigns have come to constitute an essential aspect of good governance promotion over the last two decades The post communist countries in Eastern Europe have presented one of the first key targets of transnational anti corruption efforts and indeed most of these countries have shown an impressive record of respective measures Yet path breaking institutional and policy developments have not set in before the mid 2000s both at the international level and in most Eastern European countries Are these the beginnings of a mutually synergetic success story In order to answer this question we need to better understand the complex interplay between the international and domestic domains in this policy field and geographic region This book provides in depth and comparative insights about this interplay with a particular focus on the involvement of domestic social movements governmental political machines and international legal mechanisms We find that on all three levels of analysis political and material interests of relevant actors are complemented and at times contradicted by normative claims Moreover at the interfaces of the three levels coincidental and spontaneous developments have largely outweighed systematic implementation and coordination of appropriate anti corruption strategies This book is based on a special issue of Global Crime
