A Framework for Future Training in Marine and Coastal Protected Area Management, 1998 Marine and Coastal Protected Areas Rodney V. Salm, John R. Clark, Erkki Siirila, 2000 This is a new edition of the classic textbook on marine protected area MPA management in the tropics originally produced as an output of the Bali World Parks Congress in 1982 Approaches to planning and managing MPAs have evolved considerably Major advances include innovative financing mechanisms partnerships with the private sector and NGOs and collaborative management between government and coastal communities These advances have brought new approaches for MPA establishment and management that are more participatory involving communities through interaction and collaboration rather than prescription With new case studies and illustrations the guide comes in a water resistant cover for field use It is intended for those who plan individual and or national MPA systems and gives philosophical context for MPAs along with some basic principles and approaches Marine Protected Areas and Ocean Conservation Tundi S. Agardy, 1997-03-20 This book reviews the need for marine conservation summarizes general measures for ocean and coastal conservation and explains the rationale for establishing marine protected areas The second half of the book is essentially a guideline for designing and implementing protected areas in order to make them viable and long lasting in their effectiveness Marine and Coastal Protected Areas Rodney V. Marine Protected Areas S. Gubbay, 2012-12-06 Marine protected areas MPAs have an important role in marine conservation programmes around the world. Although most have been established relatively recently when compared with protected areas on land, there is considerable expertise on their identification, setting up and management. Some techniques have been adapted from those used on land. Others are novel and unique to marine conservation. The chapters in this book give an insight into this fast developing field where experiment and innovation work alongside techniques which have been tried and tested. The guiding principles behind key stages in the setting up and management of MPAs are described and case studies illustrate how they have worked. While it is most encouraging to read about the successes, the case studies also point to difficulties which have been encountered. Not all of the examples are new or recent but together they illustrate what is happening in this field.

Management of Marine Protected Areas Paul D. Goriup, 2017-01-23 With the health of the world's oceans threatened as never before, it is becoming increasingly apparent that Marine Protected Areas (MPAs) play a vitally important role in protecting marine and coastal habitats. Management of Marine Protected Areas: A Network Perspective draws on the results of a major EU sponsored research project related to the establishment of networks of MPAs in the Mediterranean and Black Seas that transpired from February 2011 to January 2016. Featuring contributions by leading university and national research institute based scientists, chapters utilize the latest research data and developments in marine conservation policy to explore issues related to ways in which networks of MPAs may amplify the effectiveness and conservation benefits of individual areas within them. Topics addressed include the broader socio-economic impacts of MPAs in the Mediterranean and Black Seas; the use of Marine Spatial Planning (MSP) to resolve conflicts between marine resource use and protection; special protection measures under the EU's Marine Strategy Framework Directive (MSFD); ecological value assessments in the Black Sea; the Ecosystem Approach (EA) for managing marine ecosystems; MPAs along Turkey's Black Sea coast; MPAs and offshore wind farms; and managing and monitoring MPA networks within and between the Black and Mediterranean Seas. Timely and important, Management of Marine Protected Areas: A Network Perspective offers invaluable insights into the role of MPAs in preserving the welfare and long-term viability of our world's oceans.

Marine Protected Areas Network in the South China Sea Vu Hai Dang, 2014-01-09 The once pristine and rich marine environment of the South China Sea is degrading at an alarming rate due to the rapid socioeconomic development of the region. Despite this and due mainly to complicated sovereignty and maritime disputes, coastal States have not been able to develop effective regional cooperation to safeguard the shared marine environment. Marine Protected Areas Network in the South China Sea discusses legal and political measures to support the development of a network of marine protected areas in the South China Sea. Such a network, if properly developed, would not only help to protect the marine environment and resources of the region but also contribute to decreasing the tension among its coastal States These measures are suggested in accordance with international law based on the specific geopolitical context of the South China Sea region and take into consideration experiences in developing regional networks of marine protected areas from other marine regions

Marine Protected Areas National Research Council, Commission on Geosciences, Environment, and Resources, Ocean Studies Board, Committee on the Evaluation, Design, and Monitoring of Marine Reserves and Protected Areas in the United States, 2001-06-01 Although the ocean and the resources within seem limitless there is clear evidence that human impacts such as overfishing habitat destruction and pollution disrupt marine ecosystems and threaten the long term productivity of the seas Declining yields in many fisheries and decay of treasured marine habitats such as coral reefs has heightened interest in establishing a comprehensive system of marine protected areas MPAs areas designated for special protection to enhance the management of marine resources Therefore there is an urgent need to evaluate how MPAs can be employed in the United States and internationally as tools to support specific conservation needs of marine and coastal waters Marine Protected Areas compares conventional management of marine resources with proposals to augment these management strategies with a system of protected areas The volume argues that implementation of MPAs should be incremental and adaptive through the design of areas not only to conserve resources but also to help us learn how to manage marine species more effectively

Directory of Marine and Coastal Protected Areas in the Mediterranean Region United Nations Environment Programme, 1989 Legal Aspects of Marine Protected Areas in the Mediterranean Sea Mitja Grbec, Tullio Scovazzi, Ilaria Tani, 2023-09-11 The objective of this book is to provide a comprehensive overview of the legal basis under international law and the relevant regional legal frameworks for the establishment and further development of area based conservation tools in the Mediterranean Sea with a particular emphasis placed on the transboundary area based conservation instruments available for the Adriatic and Ionian Seas Specifically the aim is to identify and analyze the concepts and functioning of both marine protected areas MPAs as traditional area based tools enabling marine habitat and species conservation and other effective area based conservation measures OECMs as a more recent addition to the picture Further with a view to providing responses to the complex set of challenges raised by the variety of tools and levels of intervention conclusions and ways forward are provided that identify practical implementation instruments through which a truly transboundary perspective may guide the development of protected marine spaces in the macro region An essential consideration in defining the ways forward lies in that the current trend towards the establishment of exclusive economic zones could soon become an incentive towards the adoption of a coherent and coordinated Mediterranean and Adriatic and Ionian network of transboundary area based conservation tools The book will be of interest to policy makers practitioners and academics with an interest in public international law the law of the sea and sustainable ocean governance      Marine Specially Protected Area:The General Aspects and the Mediterranean Regional System Tullio Scovazzi,1999-01-01 In the last few years several States have established specially protected marine areas under their domestic legislation At the international level the trend towards providing an increased protection to certain marine spaces has also been reflected in a number of treaties and declarations This volume reviews the recent developments in the field of specially protected marine areas and preservation of the marine environment in general with particular emphasis on a specific region the Mediterranean Sea Special attention is devoted to the latter for three reasons First the regional framework for the protection of the environment in the Mediterranean the so called Barcelona system has recently been updated and strengthened Second the Mediterranean is a typical example of the category of semi enclosed seas where international cooperation between the bordering States should be particularly encouraged in various fields this also explains why the scope of this book has been enlarged to also cover fisheries a field which is closely connected to the sustainable development of marine areas Last and not least the parochial inclination of the editor also influenced his choice To complete the picture the relevant texts have been reproduced and a series of maps showing some specially protected marine areas have been drawn      Marine Protected Areas: An Overview Harold Frank Upton,2007
