Introduction to Development Engineering Temina Madon, Ashok J. Gadgil, Richard Anderson, Lorenzo Casaburi, Kenneth Lee, Arman Rezaee, 2022-09-08 This open access textbook introduces the emerging field of Development Engineering and its constituent theories, methods, and applications. It is both a teaching text for students and a resource for researchers and practitioners engaged in the design and scaling of technologies for low resource communities. The scope is broad, ranging from the development of mobile applications for low literacy users to hardware and software solutions for providing electricity and water in remote settings. It is also highly interdisciplinary, drawing on methods and theory from the social sciences as well as engineering and the natural sciences. The opening section reviews the history of technology for development research and presents a framework that formalizes this body of work and begins its transformation into an academic discipline. It identifies common challenges in development and explains the book's iterative approach of innovation, implementation, evaluation, and adaptation. Each of the next six thematic sections focuses on a different sector: energy and environment, market performance, education and labor, water, sanitation and health, digital governance, and connectivity. These thematic sections contain case studies from landmark research that directly integrates engineering innovation with technically rigorous methods from the social sciences. Each case study describes the design, evaluation, and/or scaling of a technology in the field and follows a single form with common elements and discussion questions to create continuity and pedagogical consistency. Together, they highlight successful solutions to development challenges while also analyzing the rarely discussed failures. The book concludes by reiterating the core principles of development engineering illustrated in the case studies highlighting common challenges that engineers and scientists will face in designing technology interventions that sustainably accelerate economic development Development Engineering provides for the first time a coherent intellectual framework for attacking the challenges of poverty and global climate change through the design of better technologies It offers the rigorous discipline needed to channel the energy of a new generation of scientists and engineers toward advancing social justice and improved living conditions in low resource communities around the world Global Development Finance 2007 World Bank,2007-01-01 Global Development Finance GDF is the World Bank s annual review of recent trends in and prospects for financial flows to developing countries It is an indispensable resource for governments economists investors financial consultants academics bankers and the entire development community Vol I Analysis and Outlook reviews recent trends in financial flows to developing countries Vol II Summary and Country Tables includes comprehensive data for 138 countries as well as summary data for regions and income groups Also available on CD ROM with more than 200 historical time series from 1970 to 2005 and country group estimates for 2006 Vol II Summary and Country Tables Capitalist World Development Stuart Corbridge,1986 Corbridge provides a fascinating review of the conflict of interest between metropolitan capitalism and the development of the periphery of the modern world system

Global Development Fifty Years after Bretton Woods Albert Berry,Roy Culpeper,Frances Stewart,2016-07-27 The international economic order created at Bretton Woods in 1944 was not crafted with the developing countries principally in mind Moreover the nature of the world community has changed profoundly in the last half century The problems and opportunities of developing countries have moved to centre stage in today s global economy The 16 contributors to this volume examine ways in which the international economic system could be reformed in order better to meet the needs and aspirations of the developing world in the coming decades World Development Report 2009 World Bank,2008-11-04 Rising densities of human settlements migration and transport to reduce distances to market and specialization and trade facilitated by fewer international divisions are central to economic development The transformations along these three dimensions density distance and division are most noticeable in North America Western Europe and Japan but countries in Asia and Eastern Europe are changing in ways similar in scope and speed World Development Report 2009 Reshaping Economic Geography concludes that these spatial transformations are essential and should be encouraged The conclusion is not without controversy Slum dwellers now number a billion but the rush to cities continues Globalization is believed to benefit many but not the billion people living in lagging areas of developing nations High poverty and mortality persist among the world s bottom billion while others grow wealthier and live longer lives Concern for these three billion often comes with the prescription that growth must be made spatially balanced The WDR has a different message economic growth is seldom balanced and efforts to spread it out prematurely will jeopardize progress The Report documents how production becomes more concentrated spatially as economies grow proposes economic integration as the principle for promoting successful spatial transformations revisits the debates on urbanization territorial development and regional integration and shows how today's developers can reshape economic geography Global Development Ethics Eddy M.

Souffrant, 2019-05-09 Cases of famine governmental overreach political abuse and neglect persist even in today's globalised world Corporate malfeasance disregard of the environment and blatant ignorance of the instigators of disasters large and small also continue to register high human costs In trying to address this theorists have attempted to elucidate a global ethics that would prescribe courses of actions even when individual and direct causal agency cannot be identified Following in this tradition Eddy M Souffrant explores the concept of a global development ethics taking in topics including famine immigration capitalism race and technology He demonstrates that defining the constituents of a global development ethics depends on a successful analysis of the theoretical and practical structures that cause such global and seemingly intractable conditions He challenges existing conceptions of global justice and argues for a theory of global ethics that relies on our commonality such that enables us to welcome the other thereby fuelling our recognition of the inequalities that motivate prospective development projects Ideal for advanced level students in global ethics global justice and development studies this text articulates a vital new ethics of human development World Development Report 2018 World Bank

Group, 2017-10-16 Every year the World Bank's World Development Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education's Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education's promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform
