Responses to Sea Migration and the Rule of Law Katia Bianchini, 2024-08-22 In the current debates on sea migration there is a dearth of works drawing on the rule of law This important book addresses this failing Considering the question from that conceptual framework it is able to broaden the sometimes fragmented and incomplete perspective of existing scholarship The book takes as its central case study the experience of Italy exploring the legal issues at play there and its institutional practices and policies From here its focus broadens out to the wider EU experience looking in particular at those problems common to southern EU states such as failures and delays in assisting migrants in distress at sea and contested legal grounds and practices concerning interceptions at sea It combines both legal and empirical data charting both the black letter law and how it operates in practice In a field as complex as this this clarity is key it allows lawyers political scientists and policymakers to truly engage with the challenges sea migration poses today book also considers women's rights, postsocialism and the relevance of the current pandemic as the issue of migration is addressed in the context of the European crisis-ridden present. This wide-ranging interrogation of how contemporary European migration is conceived and understood will appeal to students, academics, activists, policy makers and others with interests in contemporary migration, new nationalisms, populism, feminism, colonial, postcolonial and decolonial issues as well as socialism and postsocialism.

Protection of Human Life at Sea in International Law Aphrodite

Papachristodoulou, 2025-05-30 The law of the sea imposes a long established duty to rescue persons in distress which connotes one of the most important tools in safeguarding safety of life at sea. Other rules of international law, namely international human rights and refugee law, also come into play in drawing the legal parameters for the conduct of rescue operations. Amid the thousands of people undertaking perilous sea journeys in search of safety, European legal responses have primarily focused on the securitization of migration. This book exposes the human rights violations that may be perpetrated against migrants attempting to cross the Mediterranean and strongly advocates for the development of a framework for operationalizing the protection of human rights and life at sea. It combines theory and practice in which philosophical theories of rights are applied to create a framework for legal analysis and the development of practical legal standards. The study presents an innovative evaluation of selected judgments of the European Court of Human Rights and other international human rights bodies pertaining to complex questions of extraterritorial jurisdiction and a State's human rights obligations towards persons in distress at sea. The book will be of interest to all those engaging with migration and security studies, international human rights scholarship, international law of the sea, refugee and migration law and legal philosophy, whether generalist or specialist.

The Handbook of Displacement Peter Adey, Janet C. Bowstead, Katherine

Brickell, Vandana Desai, Mike Dolton, Alasdair Pinkerton, Ayesha Siddiqi, 2020-12-11 This Handbook provides the knowledge and tools needed to understand how displacement is lived, governed and mediated as an unfolding and grounded process bound up in spatial inequities of power and injustice. The handbook ensures first that internal displacements and their everyday re-occurrences are not overlooked; second, it questions who counts by including displaced people who are less obviously identifiable and a clearly circumscribed or categorised group; third, it stresses that while displacement suggests mobility, there are also periods and spaces of enforced stillness that are not adequately reflected in the displacement literature; and fourth, it re-evokes and explores the place in displacement by critically interrogating people's right to place and the significance of placemaking, unmaking and remaking in the contemporary world. The 50 plus chapters are organised across seven themes designed to further develop interdisciplinary study of the technologies, journeys, traces, governance, more than human representation and resisting of displacement. Each of these thematic sections begins with an intervention which spotlights actions to creatively and strategically intervene in displacement. The interventions explore myriad meanings and manifestations of displacement and its contestation from the perspective of displaced people, artists, writers, activists.

Towards a Refugee Oriented Right of Asylum Laura Westra, Satvinder Juss, 2016-03-09 This volume explores the factors that give rise to the number of people seeking asylum and examines the barriers they currently and will continue to face Divided into three parts the authors first explore the causality that generates displacement examining climate change illegal conflicts and the deprivation of natural resources They argue that all of these problems either originate from human agency directly or are strongly influenced by human activities particularly those of wealthy countries in the North West The study goes on to discuss how migrants are received and the problems they face on arrival and concludes with confronting the fate and the status of asylum seekers after arrival and the walls both virtual and material that they encounter The authors propose ways of approaching the situation beyond the present language and the limited interpretations of the Convention on the Status of Refugees Written by leading experts in environmental ethics asylum law and international law the book will be essential reading for those working in these and related areas
