The Politics of the Excluded, c. 1500-1850

Tim Harris, 2017-03-14 This collection of essays seeks to shed light on the politics of those people who are normally thought of as being excluded from the political nation in early modern

England If by political nation we mean those who sat in parliament the governors of counties and towns and the enfranchised classes in the constituencies then the excluded would be those who were neither actively involved in the process of governing nor had any say in choosing those who would rule over them the bulk of the population at this time Yet this volume shows that these people were not in fact excluded from politics Not only did the masses possess political opinions which they were capable of articulating in a public forum but they were also often active participants in the political process themselves and taken seriously in that capacity by the governmental elite The various essays deal with topics as wide ranging as riots rumours libels seditious words public opinion the structures of local government and the gendered dimensions of popular political participation and cover the period from the eve of the Reformation to the Industrial Revolution They challenge many existing assumptions concerning the nature and significance of public opinion and politics out of doors in the early modern period and show us that the people mattered in politics and thus why we as historians cannot afford to ignore them Politics was more participatory in this undemocratic age than one might have thought The contributors to this volume show that there was a lively and engaged public sphere throughout this period from Tudor times to the Georgian era

The Permanence of the Political Joseph M. Schwartz, 1995-11-13 Why have radical political theorists whose thinking inspired mass movements for democracy been so suspicious of political plurality According to Joseph Schwartz their doubts were involved with an effort to transcend politics Mistakenly equating all social difference with the harmful way in which particular interests dominated marketplace societies radical thinkers sought a comprehensive set of true human interests that would completely abolish political strife In extensive analyses of Rousseau Hegel Marx Lenin and Arendt Schwartz seeks to mediate the radical critique of democratic capitalist societies with the concern for pluralism evidenced in both liberal and postmodern thought He thus escapes the authoritarian potential of the radical position while appropriating its more democratic implications In Schwartz's view a reconstructed radical democratic theory of politics must sustain liberalism's defense of individual rights and social pluralism while redressing the liberal failure to question structural inequalities In proposing such a theory he criticizes communitarianism for its premodern longing for a monolithic virtuous society and challenges the politics of difference for its failure to question the undemocratic terrain of power on which difference is constructed In conclusion he maintains that an equitable distribution of power and resources among social groups necessitates not the transcendence of politics but its democratic expansion Key Ideas in Politics Moyra Grant,2003 Designed for AS and A2 students Key Ideas in Politics focuses on both historical and contemporary political themes and ideas providing the reader with the background to analyse important political questions It provides quick and easy to read summaries of key ideas and key thinkers enabling students to attain and assimilate knowledge quickly Features track the history of each idea the idea in action today the debate that that surrounds it and its practical application

Unravelling the Mysteries of Africa's Underdevelopment W. Forje,2020-05-19 Unravelling the mysteries of Africas underdevelopment presents an Afrocentric ideological understanding of the continents fragmentation a scientific and objective Mijadala discourse as well as an approach of how to move progressively and sustainably Africa forward The breadth and depth of the book shows the unwavering impoverishment and urgent need for the continent to stand up and take the bull by the horn It offers an inspiring means of grappling with the continents problems to build the change we want An African Wealth of Nation not the continent of collapsed failed states under the governance construct of centralised authoritarian regimes It is a thought provoking discourse that challenges us all to be inherent participants in the reconstruction of a Brave New Africa far beyond the 21st Century Challenges for the Democratisation Process in Tanzania Jonas Ewald,2013 Tanzania has been independent in 2011 for 50 years While most neighbouring states have gone through violent conflicts Tanzania has managed to implement extensive reforms without armed political conflicts Hence Tanzania is an interesting case for Peace and Development research This dissertation analyses the political development in Tanzania since the introduction of the multiparty system in 1992 with a focus on the challenges for the democratisation process in connection with the 2000 and 2005 elections The question of to what extent Tanzania had moved towards a consolidation of democracy is analysed by looking at nine different institutions of importance for democratisation grouped in four spheres the state the political civil and economic society Focus is on the development of the political society and the role of the opposition in particular The analysis is based on secondary and primary material collected between September 2000 to April 2010 The main conclusion is that even if the institutions of liberal democracy have gradually developed in practice single party rule has continued manifested in the 2005 election when the CCM won 92% of seats Despite impressive economic growth poverty remains deep and has not been substantially reduced On a theoretical level this brings the old debate between liberal and substantive democracy back to the fore Neither the economic nor the political reforms have brought about a transformation of the political and economic system resulting in the poor majority gaining substantially more political influence and improved economic conditions Hence it is argued that the interface between the economic political and administrative reforms has not been sufficiently considered in the liberal democratic tradition Liberal democracy is necessary for a democratic development but not sufficient for democracy to be consolidated For that a substantive democratic development is necessary
