Johnnie Moore

Rwanda Work Of God Work Of Evil:

Rwanda Brigitte Kehrer, 2004 After the genocide what should be done Here is an attempt to answer that question in the form of a diary written by a European diplomat and development coordinator in Rwanda the Land of a Thousand Hills The author uses the testimonies of survivors describing their trauma and the difficulty of reconciliation between people whose destiny was broken in 1994 Rumour and superstition against a background of the question of the existence of God play an important role in the accounts of daily survival of the very humble the challenge of the struggle to survive despite everything Reconstruction of the society torn apart and the destroyed economy are described The social and economic rehabilitation of a torn society are likely to take ages The situation is still problematic because of persistent regional problems A whole generation may not be sufficient to enable the wounds to heal This is a breathtaking book dealing with contemporary themes of reconciliation through different life stories Honestly Johnnie Moore, 2011-09-01 Johnnie Moore vice president and campus pastor of Liberty University inspires readers with an enthusiastic challenge to live out fully what they say they believe as Christians In his uniquely confessional tone Johnnie takes readers on a journey of belief from the hilltop home of the Dalai Lama to a mass grave of more than 250 000 people in Rwanda He dares to address the doubts and challenges that have turned many well intentioned Christians into hypocrites Like a good pastor Moore helps heal the wounds he opens and he leaves his reader with one curious question What could happen if the world s Christians actually began to live what they say they believe Why Gather? Martha Tatarnic, 2022-06-14 As the COVID pandemic began to shut down the world even within the church we found our busy hamster wheel lives grind to a halt In the midst of a global crisis the author found herself in a crisis of vocation wondering whether or not there might be something else she could do with her life other than serve the church The church as a whole began asking questions of a similar and urgent nature Why be together in Jesus name Does any of what we do as the church in gathering in proclaiming in serving in being together in not being together does any of it matter Working with Words Stanley Hauerwas, 2011-02-16 The crucial challenge for theology is that when it is read the reader thinks This is true Recognizing claims that are true enables readers to identify an honest expression of life s complexities The trick is to show that theological claims the words that must be used to speak of God are necessary if the theologian is to speak honestly of the complexities of life The worst betrayal of the task of theology comes when the theologian fears that the words he or she must use are not necessary This new collection of essays lectures and sermons by Stanley Hauerwas is focused on the central challenge risk and difficulty of this necessity working with words about God The task of theology is to help us do things with words God is not a word peculiar to theology but if God is a word to be properly used by Christians the word must be disciplined by Christian practice It should therefore not be surprising that like any word we must learn how to say God Thought Work Elizabeth K. Minnich, Michael Quinn Patton, 2019-10-04 Thinking has for many of us become as passive as breathing While it s essential to our very existence we devote little energy or time to cultivating it Thought Work Thinking Action and the Fate of the World challenges us to reinstate the restless complicated activity of thinking as the heart of all education life and work Our underappreciation of careful thought has crippled our ability to sustain a moral conscience driven society and it now falls to each of us to examine the underlying thought processes that guide our every action Distinguished philosopher Elizabeth K Minnich and evaluation studies pioneer Michael Quinn Patton gather a diverse cast of thought leaders to respond to this dilemma From systems and strategic thinking entrepreneurial thinking and critical and evaluative thinking to ethical and philosophical thinking and thinking grounded in and informed by the humanities and community organizing this volume unpacks vital creative processes and develops schema to support increased thought training in and across individual professions Together the contributed thought works of this volume will empower students scholars and professionals in any field to reignite their dedicated thoughtful progress towards long term conscience driven goals
