Sadie Listens An Inward Journey:

Sadie Listens James M. Steele, 2003-02-01 When Sadie's cat dies the young girl tries to distract herself from her loss. After several attempts to escape her feelings she seeks inward connection. The illustrations begin with only rusty brown tones. Blue and rose are introduced to represent interacting parts of Sadie's being. The story ends in many colors depicting Sadie's connection with herself and the world around her.

It includes additional background information about developmental aspects of teens, the process of grief, aspects of trauma and its effects on teens, the value of a group, determining the group's appropriateness of particular teens, and parental involvement. Black Women's Yoga History Stephanie Y. Evans, 2021-03-01 How have Black women elders managed stress? In Black Women's Yoga History Stephanie Y. Evans uses primary sources to answer that question and to show how meditation and yoga from eras of enslavement, segregation, and migration to the Civil Rights, Black Power, and New Age movements have been in existence all along. Life writings by Harriet Jacobs, Sadie and Bessie Delany, Eartha Kitt, Rosa Parks, Jan Willis, and Tina Turner are only a few examples of personal case studies that are included here, illustrating how these women managed traumatic stress, anxiety, and depression. In more than fifty yoga memoirs, Black women discuss practices of reflection, exercise, movement, stretching, visualization, and chanting for self-care. By unveiling the depth of a struggle for wellness, memoirs offer lessons for those who also struggle to heal from personal, cultural, and structural violence. This intellectual history expands conceptions of yoga and defines inner peace as mental health, healing, and wellness that is both compassionate and political.

Venus in the Afternoon Tehila Lieberman, 2012 Winner of the Katherine Anne Porter Prize in Short Fiction 2012. The short stories in this rich debut collection embody in their complexity Alice Munro's description of the short story as a world seen in a quick glancing light. In chiseled and elegant prose Lieberman conjures wildly disparate worlds. A middle-aged window washer mourning his wife and an estranged daughter begins to grow attached to a young woman he sees through the glass. A writer against his better judgment pursues a new relationship with a femme fatale who years ago broke his heart, and the daughter of a Holocaust survivor struggles with the delicate decision of whether to finally ask her aging mother how it was that she survived. It is all here: the exigencies of love, of lust, the raw, unlit terrain of grief Whether plumbing the darker depths or casting a humorous eye on a doomed relationship these stories never force a choice between tragedy and redemption but rather invite us into the private moments and crucibles of lives as hungry and flawed as our own The Presbyterian ,1904 The Young Ladies' Journal ,1892
