Memory, Amnesia, and the Hippocampal System Neal J. Cohen, Howard Eichenbaum, 1993 In this sweeping synthesis Neal J Cohen and Howard Eichenbaum bring together converging findings from neuropsychology neuroscience and cognitive science that provide the critical clues and constraints for developing a more comprehensive understanding of memory Specifically they offer a cognitive neuroscience theory of memory that accounts for the nature of memory impairment exhibited in human amnesia and animal models of amnesia that specifies the functional role played by the hippocampal system in memory and that provides further understanding of the componential structure of memory The authors central thesis is that the hippocampal system mediates a capacity for declarative memory the kind of memory that in humans supports conscious recollection and the explicit and flexible expression of memories They argue that this capacity emerges from a representation of critical relations among items in memory and that such a relational representation supports the ability to make inferences and generalizations from memory and to manipulate and flexibly express memory in countless ways In articulating such a description of the fundamental nature of declarative representation and of the mnemonic capabilities to which it gives rise the authors theory constitutes a major extension and elaboration of the earlier procedural declarative account of memory Support for this view is taken from a variety of experimental studies of amnesia in humans nonhuman primates and rodents Additional support is drawn from observations concerning the neuroanatomy and neurophysiology of the hippocampal system The data taken from divergent literatures are shown to converge on the central theme of hippocampal involvement in declarative memory across species and across behavioral paradigms

Secular Humanism: The Official Religion of the United States of America Morris Bowers, 2007-07-16 The real Axis of Evil is The Religion of Humanism American Civil Liberties Union ACLU National Education Association NEA It s time to get back to some old fashioned values like commitment and sacrifice and responsibility and purity and love and the straight life Not only will our children benefit from our self discipline and perseverance but we adults will live in a less neurotic world too In the case Torcaso v Watkins in 1961 the U S Supreme Court stated Among religions in this country which do not teach what would generally be considered a belief in the existence of God are Buddhism Taoism Ethical Culture Secular Humanism and others

Religious Schools in the United States K-12 (1993) Thomas C. Hunt, James Carper, 2017-12-15 First published in 1993 this volume is an extension and revision of the 1986 book entitled Religious Schools in America A Selected Bibliography This new version contains additional annotated bibliographies of the various denominational schools as well as discussing governmental relation to each setting in the years from 1985 to 1992 This version also covers Greek Orthodox and Muslim schools that were not part of the previous volume and includes a chapter on the growth of home schooling which is often influenced by religion Finally unlike the previous edition this book only considers religious schools rather than the religious aspect or function of public schooling Each section includes a short chapter followed by an extensive annotated bibliography making it a useful source for anyone looking for information in the area

Home Schooling Frederick M. Lawrence,2007 From left to right on the political spectrum there is at least one note of agreement the nation s school system has not delivered universal quality education Accordingly debate has raged over how to rectify this situation Should the government increase funding encourage privatisation some of both Another option though has emerged and is seemingly gaining popularity home schooling Citing both substandard education and displeasure with school environments and curricula many parents have decided to teach their own children Supporters say it is well within their rights to raise their children as they see fit and that at home learning is superior to the public system Detractors claim that home schooled children are deprived of social interaction and the broad based education provided by the system Neither side wants to cede ground making the issue of home schooling an integral part of a wider national debate on education In this book the specific topic of home schooling is presented from all relevant sides to give a complete picture of the present status of the issue and its potential for future resolution Following this overview is a thorough and carefully selected bibliography of literature about home schooling from all viewpoints Easy access to his important resource is then provided via author title and subject indexes
