Marcus Garvey Robert A. Hill, The Life and Times of Elijah Muhammad Claude Andrew Clegg, 2014 Life and Times of Elijah Muhammad The Search for Neofascism A. James Gregor, 2006-03-27 Publisher description Getting What We Need Ourselves Jennifer Jensen Wallach, 2019-06-01 Beginning with an examination of West African food traditions during the era of the transatlantic slave trade and ending with a discussion of black vegan activism in the twenty first century Getting What We Need Ourselves How Food Has Shaped African American Life tells a multi faceted food story that goes beyond the well known narrative of southern derived soul food as the predominant form of black food expression While this book considers the provenance and ongoing cultural resonance of emblematic foods such as greens and cornbread it also examines the experiences of African Americans who never embraced such foods or who rejected them in search of new tastes and new symbols that were less directly tied to the past of plantation slavery This book tells the story of generations of cooks and eaters who worked to create food habits that they variously considered sophisticated economical distinctly black all American ethical and healthful in the name of benefiting the black community Significantly it also chronicles the enduring struggle of impoverished eaters who worried far more about having enough to eat than about what particular food filled their plates Finally it considers the experiences of culinary laborers whether enslaved poorly paid domestic servants tireless entrepreneurs or food activists and intellectuals who used their knowledge and skills to feed and educate others making a lasting imprint on American food culture in the process Throughout African American history food has both been used as a tool of empowerment and wielded as a weapon Beginning during the era of slavery African American food habits have often served as a powerful means of cementing the bonds of community through the creation of celebratory and affirming shared rituals However the system of white supremacy has frequently used food or often the lack of it as a means to attempt to control or subdue the black community This study demonstrates that African American eaters who have worked to creative positive representations of black food practices have simultaneously had to confront an elaborate racist mythology about black culinary inferiority and difference Keeping these tensions in mind empty plates are as much a part of the history this book sets out to narrate as full ones and positive characterizations of black foodways are consistently put into dialogue with distorted representations

created by outsiders Together these stories reveal a rich and complicated food history that defies simple stereotypes and generalizations

The Business Strategy of Booker T. Washington Michael B. Boston, 2010-08-29 Michael Boston offers a radical departure from other interpretations of Booker T Washington by focusing on the latter's business ideas and practices More specifically Boston examines Washington as an entrepreneur spelling out his business philosophy at great length and discussing the influence it had on black America He analyzes the national and regional economies in which Washington worked and focuses on his advocacy of black business development as the key to economic uplift for African Americans The result is a revisionist book that responds to the skewed literature on Washington even as it offers a new framework for understanding him Based upon a deep reading of the Tuskegee archives it acknowledges Washington not only as a champion of black business development but one who conceived and implemented successful strategies to promote it as well The Business Strategy of Booker T Washington makes abundantly clear that Washington was not an accommodationist it will be required reading for any future discussion of this titan of history

Made in America Jeffrey Louis Decker, 1997 Success stories on self made people

Blacks at Harvard Werner Sollors, Caldwell Titcomb, Thomas A. Underwood, Randall Kennedy, 1993-03-01 The history of blacks at Harvard mirrors for better or for worse the history of blacks in the United States Harvard too has been indelibly scarred by slavery exclusion segregation and other forms of racist oppression At the same time the nation's oldest university has also at various times stimulated supported or allowed itself to be influenced by the various reform movements that have dramatically changed the nature of race relations across the nation The story of blacks at Harvard is thus inspiring but painful instructive but ambiguous a paradoxical episode in the most vexing controversy of American life the race question The first and only book on its subject Blacks at Harvard is distinguished by the rich variety of its sources Included in this documentary history are scholarly overviews poems short stories speeches well known memoirs by the famous previously unpublished memoirs by the lesser known newspaper accounts letters official papers of the university and transcripts of debates Among Harvard's black alumni and alumnae are such illustrious figures as W E B Du Bois Monroe Trotter and Alain Locke Countee Cullen and Sterling Brown both received graduate degrees The editors have collected here writings as diverse as those of Booker T Washington William Hastie Malcolm X and Muriel Snowden to convey the complex ways in which Harvard has affected the thinking of African Americans and the ways in turn in which African Americans have influenced the traditions of Harvard and Radcliffe Notable among the contributors are significant figures in African American letters Phyllis Wheatley William Melvin Kelley Marita Bonner James Alan McPherson and Andrea Lee Equally prominent in the book are some of the nation's leading historians Carter Woodson Rayford Logan John Hope Franklin and Nathan I Huggins A vital sourcebook Blacks at Harvard is certain to nourish scholarly inquiry into the social and intellectual history of African Americans at elite national institutions and serves as a telling metaphor of this nation's past
