Disability in Medieval Christian Philosophy and Theology Scott M. Williams, 2020-02-13 This book uses the tools of analytic philosophy and close readings of medieval Christian philosophical and theological texts in order to survey what these thinkers said about what today we call disability The chapters also compare what these medieval authors say with modern and contemporary philosophers and theologians of disability This dual approach enriches our understanding of the history of disability in medieval Christian philosophy and theology and opens up new avenues of research for contemporary scholars working on disability The volume is divided into three parts Part One addresses theoretical frameworks regarding disability particularly on questions about the definitions of disability and how disability relates to well being The chapters are then divided into two further parts in order to reflect ways that medieval philosophers and theologians theorized about disability Part Two is on disability in this life and Part Three is on disability in the afterlife Taken as a whole these chapters support two general observations First these philosophical theologians sometimes resist Greco Roman ableist views by means of theological and philosophical anti ableist arguments and counterexamples Here we find some surprising disability positive perspectives that are built into different accounts of a happy human life We also find equal dignity of all human beings no matter ability or disability Second some of the seeds for modern and contemporary ableist views were developed in medieval Christian philosophy and theology especially with regard to personhood and rationality an intellectualist interpretation of the imago Dei and the identification of human dignity with the use of reason This volume surveys disability across a wide range of medieval Christian writers from the time of Augustine up to Francisco Suarez It will be of interest to scholars and graduate students working in medieval philosophy and theology or disability studies The Women in God's Kitchen

McCray, 2024-10-08 Is It a Sermon is an informative and daring call to blur the boundaries of the sermon genre exploring the shoreline of homiletics or the place where preaching laps up against other modes of discourse In this book Donyelle McCray explores how preaching merges with prayer song performance and activism the gospel dancing in and out of the forms we create for it Consider the sermon performance of Isaiah walking naked and barefoot for three years the deaconess whose morning prayer rhythmically flows into sermon or the gospel soloist who pauses in her song to tell a story or break into a sermonette McCray is interested in the possibilities that emerge when we play at the shoreline and she questions what modes of preaching get overlooked due to genre classifications She seeks to discover what we might learn from these shoreline preachers about bearing witness enacting Scripture and listening to life While these questions could be explored generally McCray focuses on African American preachers who play at the boundaries of the sermon genre with attention to how genre fluidity provides a means of drawing on ancestral wisdom Key figures like Mahalia Jackson Harriet Powers Rosie Lee Tomkins Thea Bowman Howard Thurman and Toni Morrison are examined as artists activists and proclaimers She shines a new light on their work and points out how they reform preacherly identities and refuse traditional patterns of holding authority Ultimately in blurring the boundaries of sermon genre this book offers readers strategies for embracing their voices more fully within and beyond the pulpit
